REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVISED ADVERTISEMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat of source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets; &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G. Vol. IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of "O." The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in seven volumes during the current year; but an eighth volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set (exclusive of the Index for which a separate charge will be made).

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 45 in India and 3 guineas in England. The period of registration of subscribers' names will expire on the 1st October.

Rock westward of Arends island replaced on charts.

Though this position may be much in error, the weight of evidence seems in favour of a rock somewhere westward of the island.

AUSTRALIA, EAST COAST—INNER ROUTE.

Shoal north of Lizard island.

THE British Admiralty has given notice, (No. 302 of 1891), of the existence of a shoal, with about 10 feet over it at low-water spring tides, lying with the north-west extreme of Lizard island bearing south, distant about 5½ miles.

Approximate position: lat. 14° 33′ S., long. 145° 29½′ E.

NOTE.—The position of this shoal cannot be considered accurate, but it is stated that the western extremes of North and South Direction islands in line lead eastward of it.

Vessels using the One-and-a-half mile opening should therefore haul to the eastward to this line when in the vicinity of the shoal, as the line given in the charts pointing out the opening, viz., South Direction Island half open west of North Direction Island, passes very near it. The reef forming the east side of One and-a-half mile opening is to be named Hicks reef.

Red and white light on Observatory island—Wei Hai Wei harbour.

THE British Admiralty has given notice, (No. 312 of 1891), that a light is exhibited from a structure erected on the north-west side of Observatory island, westward of Leu kung tau, Wei hai wei harbour:—

Observatory island light is a fixed light, showing red between the north extreme of Leu kung tau and the bearing S. 46° W.; white between S. 46° W. and S. 29° W.; and red between S. 29° W., through south, and N. 23° W. It is elevated 61 feet above the sea, and in clear weather the white light should be visible from a distance of 6 miles, and the red light 4 miles.

The illuminating apparatus is dioptric, or by lenses, of the sixth order.

Approximate position, lat. 37° 30′ 25″ N., long. 122° 10′ 25″ E.

NOTE.—Vessels entering Wei Hai Wei harbour by west entrance should keep in the above sector of white light, bearing about S. 37° W., until Round island bears N.W., then steer to the westward into the sector of red light, and round the north-west part of Observatory island at a distance of not less than 2 cables.

Non-existence of rocks between Shala and Kau island.

The British Admiralty has given notice, (No. 824 of 1891), that from an examination recently made of the locality under favourable circumstances, it is considered that the rocks (E. D.) heretofore charted as lying between Shala and Kau islands, or in about lat. 12° 19′ N., long. 109° 23′ E., do not exist. The least water found in and around the reported positions for a distance of 1½ miles was 21 fathoms over shells; the local fishermen also stated that no such rocks were known.

RESOLUTION ON THE PROGRESS REPORT OF THE FOREST ADMINISTRATION IN BENGAL FOR 1890-91.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—FOREST.

Calcutta, the 25th August 1891.

RESOLUTION No. 504For.

READ—

The Progress Report of the Forest Administration in Bengal for 1890-91.

The report was submitted to Government twelve days after it was due. It is written by Mr. E. P. Dansey, who assumed charge of the circle on the 9th October 1890, on which date Mr. Home availed himself of the furlough for 2 years granted to him. The most important administrative reform introduced by Mr. Dansey, with the sanction of Government, was the abolition of the system under which Divisional Forest Officers supervised the working of groups of subdivisions in addition, in some cases, to holding direct charge of one or more subdivisions, and the substitution of independent divisions, all directly under the Conservator. By this means the services of the Divisional Officers were made available for duties in regard to which the paucity of officers was being keenly felt. The new and the old arrangement of charges are compared below:—

Old.				New.
No.	Name of Division.	No.	Name of Subdivision.	No.	Name of Division.
1	Darjeeling ...	1	Darjeeling ...	1	Darjeeling.
		2	Tista ...	2	Tista.

The Working Plans Division had hitherto a nominal existence, and even after the redistribution of charges the number of officers available is not sufficient for keeping up a separate Working Plans Division. It has therefore been decided to abolish this division and to depute selected officers, when necessary, for the preparation of working plans.

The reconstitution of forest charges above described was only begun during the year under report, and it was not until the current financial year that the arrangements could be completed. The annual forms attached to the report under review have, however, been drawn up in accordance with the new arrangement of charges.

Area.

2. As compared with the preceding year, there was a decrease of 6 square miles in the area of Reserved forests, and 30 square miles in that of Protected forests on account of the disforesting of certain lands in the Sundarban forests for the extension of cultivation. The total area of Reserved forests stood at 5,189 square miles, and of Protected forests at 2,209 square miles, while there was no change in the area of Unclassed State forests and waste lands under the partial management of the Forest Department. There seems to be room for extension of the forest area in Chittagong; but it is mainly in the Darjeeling and Jalpaigori districts and in Chota Nagpur that efforts should be made to increase the forest area and meet the great demand for timber and fuel by the tea estates and the public. The forests in the Government estates of the Sonthal Pergunnahs are under the management of the civil officers: there is perhaps room for expansion here also, but for political reasons the Sonthal Pergunnahs require careful handling. The Conservator has been instructed to visit this district during the cold weather and to report upon the whole question of the forests there.

Boundaries.

3. The state of the boundaries between the Angul Reserves and the neighbouring Tributary States, and between the Singbhum Reserves and the Tributary estate of Keonjhar in Orissa, should be reported to Government separately.

Establishment.

4. Of 8 natives of Bengal who were sent to the Imperial Forest School at Dehra Dun during the past seven years, 5 have resigned their appointments. One has been on sick leave almost continuously since 1888, when he obtained a Ranger's certificate with honours, and one only of the number is reported to have borne a good reputation. This officer has done well and is now a Ranger on Rs. 50. Regarding the remaining individual not much is known, good or bad. On a review of the whole subject of an efficient executive Forest staff for Bengal, the Officiating Conservator thinks it deserving of consideration whether that staff should not be recruited, as far as possible, from among the hardier races of Northern and Central India. This is a serious assertion of the inferiority of the Bengali personnel in the Forest service, which the Lieutenant-Governor has perused with regret. If the natives of Bengal cannot show themselves fit for the work required, it will be incumbent on Government to seek for better material elsewhere, but it is hoped that a greater encouragement of athletic exercises as a part of school education may help to train a generation which will not be liable to this reproach. In any case, Sir Charles Elliott has no wish to make a sudden change and will watch the working of the present system.

Legal Proceedings.

5. A probationary Forest Ranger, in charge of the Darjeeling Forest Depôt, was prosecuted for misappropriation of Government money to the extent of Rs. 970, convicted, and sentenced to three months' rigorous imprisonment with fine. The ringleader in the Chittagong murder and robbery case, referred to in paragraph 3 of the Resolution on the Forest Administration Report for the previous year, is still at large. The total number of prosecutions for breaches of the Forest law was 203, and of cases compounded 1,961, against 120 and 2,524 respectively in the previous year. There was an improvement in the percentage of convictions, being 87 against 80 in the year 1889 90. The Sundarbans Division is said to be responsible for the increase in the number of prosecutions, as well as the decrease in the number of cases compounded.

Fires.

6. It is noticeable that the most destructive fires occurred in the specially protected areas of the Jalpigori and Angul Divisions, where the supervision of the Divisional Officers was least efficient. It is reported that Mr. Green, who was in charge of the Jalpigori Division, could not go into camp during the warm months on account of ill-health. The Lieutenant-Governor thinks that Mr. Green ought in the circumstances to have taken leave. In the case of Angul, the Lieutenant-Governor regrets to find that the Divisional Officer, Mr. Richardson, was not aware of the occurrence of fires until he happened to go to the spot with the Conservator, and that he had delegated the duty of protection to a Forester wholly incompetent for the purpose.

Altogther there was an increase of 247 square miles in the specially protected area, 94 per cent. of the total area of reserves escaped fires, while there was a failure to protect 75 square miles, and no attempt made to protect 257 square miles.

Grazing.

7. The Conservator expresses an opinion that grazing is not less injurious than fires to a deteriorated Indian timber forest. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees in this view; but the Conservator appears to be also of opinion that grazing is, as a rule, only permitted for the purpose of increasing the Government revenues. The Lieutenant-Governor believes that the object will usually be found to have been not the increase of revenue, but a desire not to be hard upon the people, who grievously resent any restriction of their grazing rights. He has lately insisted, in the case of the Angul forests, on adequate grazing grounds being reserved for the cattle of the villagers, so that there may be no necessity for a modified admission of grazing rights within the forest area and no risk of injury to the growth of forest produce.

Plantations.

8. There was an increase in the area of plantations during the year from 3,012 acres to 3,143 acres in Darjeeling, Kurseong, and Chittagong, and in cultural operations from 999 acres to 1,138 acres in Darjeeling, Jalpaigori and Orissa. The total cost under this head is Rs. 6,977, against Rs. 6,604 during the previous year.

Outturn.

9. The total outturn of timber during the year was 8,332,421 cubic feet, of which 33,536 were removed departmentally, 8,224,361 were removed by purchasers, and 74,524 were free grants. The corresponding figures for the previous year are 44,173, 10,172,896, and 21,739 cubic feet respectively. The Sundarban Division is chiefly responsible for the large decrease in the quantity of timber removed by purchasers. Various causes are assigned for this. The Divisional Officer attributes the unfavourable result to the glut of sundri timber in the market owing to excessive exports in the previous two or three years. But Mr Dansey seems to favour the idea that indiscriminate fellings spread over wide areas have exhausted the valuable timber in accessible areas, and he thinks that better results may be expected by concentrating the fellings on selected areas by rotation. Sir Charles Elliott has, on his recent tour, considered the subject at Khulna, on the margin of the Sundarban, with the local Forest officers, and has expressed his concurrence with the Conservator's view that the time has come for the introduction of the system of dividing the total area into blocks for annual operations: he has accordingly authorised the preparation of a Working plan on the lines suggested by Mr. Dansey for professional examination.

10. The total outturn of fuel during the year was, excluding free grants, 16,597,245 cubic feet, as compared with 15,232,047 in 1889-90. Part of this increase is attributed to the prohibition practically imposed on the imports of charcoal from Sikhim into the station of Darjeeling. There was a falling off by 70 per cent. in the outturn of fuel by departmental agency in the Kurseong and Tista Divisions. In the latter the decrease is compensated by increase in the removals by purchasers; but in Kurseong there was an unaccountable decrease in both respects, which the Conservator might surely have enquired into himself instead of asking the Divisional Officer to do so.

The figures for the increased consumption of fuel in the Orissa Division are said to have been roughly calculated on the number of licenses issued to the ryots of the Khurda Government estates for fuel required for their own consumption. The data for the increase in free grants of fuel are equally untrustworthy; but in both cases exact figures have been used. Rough estimates of this description should always be in round numbers.

11. The following tables compare the financial results of the year under report and of the preceding year in a collected form:—

The net revenue was Rs. 55,349 less than the preceding year; but, compared with the average of the five years ending 31st March 1890, there was an increase of Rs. 42,064.

12. There was a fall of Rs. 75,000 in the revenue of the Sundarban Division, though all other divisions show an increase: hence the gross revenue of the province for 1890-91 was less than in the preceding year by Rs. 41,000. On the other hand, the expenditure in all divisions increased by Rs. 14,000, chiefly under the head of Establishment, but the increase includes a sum of Rs. 2,201 written off the accounts in connection with the theft in the Kassalong Range, Chittagong, referred to in paragraph 21 of the Report for 1889-90. Such fluctuations are not uncommon, and, except in the Sundarban case, do not call for explanation. The decrease in the Sundarban will, it is hoped, be recouped when a regular working-plan is introduced. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that Mr. Dansey will, in his zeal for the improvement of Forest administration, not forget the necessity of contributing to the general revenue of the province. The Conservator thinks that the price of fuel at Darjeeling may well be raised in consideration of the increased cost of procuring it as the working recedes further from Darjeeling, and also of the price of firewood at other hill stations in India. No statistics are, however, given on the latter point. The deficits in some of the divisions are attributed by the Conservator to two causes: first, that the forests had been already exhausted before they came under the management of the Forest Department; and secondly, that they are surrounded by other forests, the supply in which is practically free: the latter cause serves, in the Conservator's opinion, to strengthen the reserves, which are not yet ripe for extensive cuttings. The idea of the previous depletion of forests as a cause of scanty revenue is one which has been sometimes advanced by Forest officers without sufficient investigation.

13. In conclusion, Sir Charles Elliott desires to express his appreciation of the way in which Mr. Dansey has carried out the duties of Conservator since he assumed charge of this post.

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE GOVERNMENT CINCHONA PLANTATION AND CINCHONA FACTORY IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1890-91.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

RESOLUTION No. 158T—F.

READ—

The Annual Report of the Government Cinchona Plantation and Cinchona Factory in Bengal for the year 1890-91.

In spite of the heavy rainfall of the year, the number of cinchona plants destroyed by landslips was less than in previous years of smaller rainfall, and no damage at all was done by hail. The policy of replacing the red bark, which, though rich in the inferior alkaloids, is comparatively poor in quinine, by the Calisaya and hybrid varieties which yield a large proportion of quinine, was steadily adhered to; 192,000 of the former kind were uprooted and not renewed, and 200,460 of the latter were put out in the plantation. The number of cinchona plants in the plantation on the 1st April 1891 was 4,515,861, while 234,000 seedlings were in the nurseries. The crop collected amounted to 293,972 pounds of dry bark against 304,705 in 1889-90, of which 106,150 pounds were of red bark, 105,848 of bark of Calisaya Ledgeriana, 66,730 of hybrid bark, 13,974 of Verde and Morada, and 1,270 of Crown or Officinalis bark. The whole of this crop, with the exception of a small quantity supplied on indent or sold to Government institutions, was made over to the Febrifuge Factory for disposal.

2. The outturn of the factory, which is generally regulated by the demand, was 4,031 pounds of cinchona febrifuge and 4,010 pounds of sulphate of quinine, against 6,578 and 1,833 pounds respectively in the previous year. The entire quantity was manufactured during the year by the fusel oil process, which has, in the last few years, successfully taken the place of the old acid and alkali method of manufacture. The issues during the year where slightly less than those in 1889-90, as will be seen from the following table:—

	1890-91. lb	oz.	1889-90. lb	oz.
To Medical Depôt, Calcutta	850	0	2,197	0
Ditto, Bombay	1,400	0	2,224	0

Sold to Government officers and the public	3,973	3½	2,756	0
Given as samples	15	1	1	0
Total ...	7,646	8½	7,680	1

The decrease in the quantity of drugs issued to the Medical Depôts at Calcutta and Bombay occurred under the head of cinchona febrifuge. The issues of quinine to these two depôts rose from 674 pounds to 1,050 pounds. Of the total issues during the year, 3,789½ pounds were of quinine, 3,837 of cinchona febrifuge, and 20 of crystalline febrifuge.

3. The revenue derived from the sale of sulphate of quinine, cinchona and crystalline febrifuge, cinchona barks and other products of the plantation, amounted to Rs. 1,18,576, against Rs 1,13,693-12 6 in the previous year.

Total ...	1,18,576	0	0	1,13,693	12	6

4. The net profit of the year's working amounts to Rs. 17,040-2, a result which may be considered as satisfactory and quite sufficient. It must be remembered that in starting the cinchona plantations in this country, the Government did not aim at a profit: its object was to secure for the people a cheap remedy for fever, the commonest of all tropical diseases. The quinine manufactured at the Government Factory can now be sold at one rupee per ounce, while, as Dr. King remarks, quinine cost a good many rupees per ounce 29 years ago, when the cinchona enterprize was initiated by the Government of Bengal. This is a matter for much congratulation. Hardly any greater blessing to a fever-stricken country can be imagined than cheap quinine. Dr. King observes that it would be possible still further to reduce the price of quinine if all the charitable dispensaries in the province were to supply themselves with the Government drug instead of buying their quinine elsewhere. The Lieutenant-Governor has ascertained by personal enquiry, since Dr. King's report drew his attention to the subject, that many dispensaries procure their quinine from private stores at Re. 1-2 and Re. 1-4 per ounce, when they could purchase it from Dr. King at Re. 1 per ounce. This is an obvious absurdity. Not only is the Government quinine declared to be purer than much of the foreign quinine imported into the country, but also it is only reasonable that institutions helped by Government should draw their supplies of quinine from the Government Factory, and the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals will be asked to look into the matter and consider what can be done to extend the demand for Government quinine in order to bring about a further reduction of price.

5. The thanks of Government are again due to Dr. King and Mr. Gammie for their efficient management of the Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. H. RISLEY,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

ANNUAL REPORT ON THE GOVERNMENT CINCHONA PLANTATION AND FACTORY IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1890-91.

No. 77C, dated Royal Botanic Garden, Seebpore, near Calcutta, the 9th July 1891.

From—Brigade-Surgeon George King, M.B., F.R.S., C.I.E., Superintendent, Royal Botanic Garden, Calcutta, and of Cinchona Cultivation in Bengal.

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

I have the honour to forward herewith the annual report of the Cinchona Plantations and Factory for the year 1890-91.

Twenty-ninth Annual Report of the Government Cinchona Plantation and Factory in British Sikkim for the year 1890-91, by Brigade-Surgeon G. King, M.B., LL.D., F.R.S., C.I.E., Superintendent of the Royal Botanic Garden, Calcutta, and of Cinchona Cultivation in Bengal, and Government Quinologist.

1. The year under review was remarkable for its very heavy rainfall. This occasioned numerous breaks of communication with Darjeeling and with the plains, but the loss of cinchona trees by landslips was less than in years when the total rainfall was considerably less. No damage was caused by hail during the year.

2. Changes in the Plantation.—During the year 367,000 trees were uprooted. Of these, 192,000 were red bark trees and 175,000 were yellow, hybrid, and crown. The renewals amounted to 200,460, and consisted of 18,020 hybrids and 182, 440 yellow-barks (calisaya). In accordance with the policy of eliminating the red-barks, which has been followed for many years, no renewals were made of this sort. And the total number of them now remaining in the Plantation stands at under a million-and-a-half; ten years ago they numbered considerably over four millions. On the other hand, the stock of the quinine-yielding sorts (calisaya and hybrids) has risen within the same period from about half a million to three and three-quarter millions. The table printed as Appendix A to this report gives a census of the plants at the end of the year under review. The totals of all sorts there shown are 4,515,861 plants in the Plantation, and 234,000 seedlings in the nurseries.

3. The crop for the year.—The total crop harvested during the year was 293,972 pounds of dry bark. This total is made up of 106,150 pounds of red bark, 105,848 of bark of Calisaya Ledgeriana, 66,730 of hybrid bark, 13,974 of verde and morada, and 1,270 of crown or officinalis bark. The proportion of crop yielded by the old or Mungpoo plantation was 199, 670; by the Sittong plantation 57,440, and by the new plantation at Rungjung 36,862 pounds. The bulk of this crop was made over to the Factory; only a small quantity (784½lbs.) having been supplied to Government institutions or sold to the public.

4. Expenditure on the Plantation for the year.—The total budget allotment for the year was Rs. 74,020. It was, however, not found necessary to spend the whole of this, and a saving of Rs. 5,390-9-5 was effected. The net expenditure was therefore only Rs. 68,629-6-7, and it was distributed as follows:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
European establishment (including all salaries except that of Dr. King, Superintendent of the Botanic Garden, Calcutta, coolie labour, and office establishment	60,801	6	1
Keep of animals for plantations ...	900	0	0
Contingencies, &c., including service postage stamps, &c	4,835	9	9
Travelling allowance	279	12	0
Stores from England	1,812	10	9
Total ...	68,629	6	7

In return for this expenditure there was collected, as has just been shown 293,972 pounds of bark. The net cost of each pound of bark was therefore As. 3 pies 8·823.

5. Factory.—The whole of the manufacturing operations were conducted by the fusel-oil process, another year's experience of which only increases our previous confidence in its simplicity and efficiency. The budget allotment for the Factory for the year amounted to Rs. 35,950, of which, however, only Rs. 33,007-0-4 were actually spent; and this expenditure includes items of Rs. 4,691-2-5 for stores from England. If to this Factory expenditure there be added the cost of the bark used in the Factory during the year, the amount will stand thus:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Cash expenditure on Factory (including Rs. 4,691-2-5 for stores from England) ..	33,007	0	4
201,568 pounds of bark (crop of 1889-90) at an average cost of annas 3 pies 4·338 per pound	42,348	2	9
48,662 pounds (crop of 1890-91) at an average cost of annas 3 pies 8·823 per pound ...	11,360	4	8
Total ...	86,715	7	9

The outturn obtained for this sum consisted of 4,031 pounds of cinchona febrifuge and 4,010 pounds of sulphate of quinine. Owing to the larger percentage which is obtained of febrifuge, I reckon that each pound of it cost about Rs. 8, whereas each pound of quinine cost about Rs. 13-9-3·91.

6. Sales of Febrifuge and Quinine during the year.—The total issues for the year were 3,837 pounds of febrifuge, 3,789½ pounds of quinine, and 20 pounds of crystalline febrifuge; and these were distributed as follows:—

	lbs.	oz.
Cinchona febrifuge	200	0

7. Stock Account.—At the end of the year the stock of bark on hand amounted to 469,917 pounds. Part of this (viz. 224,607 pounds) was carried forward from previous years, and its average cost (as per last year's account) was annas 3 pies 4·338 per pound. The remainder (245,310 pounds) is the bark crop of the year under review, which has been shown to have cost annas 3 pies 8·823 per pound. The stock account at the end of the year under review, as well as that of the previous year, is given in the following table,

As much of the bark has now been held for some time, I have taken it at an overhead valuation of annas 3 per pound, which I consider a fair rate—

Stock on 31st March 1890.	Rs.	A.	P.

Bark, 469,917 pounds, valued at an average of 3 annas per pound ...	88,109	7	0
Total ...	1,28,357	8	0

The stock stands, therefore, practically at the same value as it did at the end of the previous year.

8. Financial result of the year's working.—If the figures which have been given in the previous paragraphs be collected, a balance sheet can be prepared showing the general result of the year's working. This is as follows:—

The result of the year's working is therefore a profit of Rs. 17,040-2-1. Of this profit, the sum of Rs. 16,939-9-1 is in cash, and only the small sum of Rs. 100-9 represents increase in the value of stock. The largeness of the amount both of raw material and of manufactured product in stock shows that the producing capacity of the Plantation and Factory is greater than the demand for their products. This is a great economic disadvantage, for the best possible results of any producing agency are not obtainable unless it be worked up to its full power. And could the full production of the cinchona estate be taken off, it would be possible still further to reduce the price both of quinine and febrifuge. And I have little doubt that, were all charitable dispensaries to supply themselves with Government quinine, the fullest possible outturn of the Factory and Plantation might be absorbed. But the majority of these dispensaries are now administered by local boards and municipalities, and these bodies appear to prefer in buying their drugs to supplying themselves with quinine from other sources. This practice appears still more unfortunate when it is viewed in the light of the fact that the Government quinine has been shown by repeated analysis to be of the highest possible purity, which is a good deal more than can be said of much of the foreign quinine that is sold in Calcutta.

9. From the beginning of the year that has now been entered upon, the price of febrifuge has been reduced to Government officers to Rs. 10 per pound and the price of quinine to Rs. 16. When the cinchona enterprise was initiated by Government twenty-nine years ago, the price of quinine stood at a good many rupees per ounce, and the repeatedly avowed intention of Government was to reduce its price to one rupee per ounce. That intention has now been fulfilled, and the matter is one, I think, for congratulation.

10. The crop of bark for next year will, as usual, be regulated by the demand for quinine and febrifuge, which, I trust, may be considerably in excess of that of the year under review.

11. The sum of Rs. 2,327-8, received for grazing and land-rent from settlers on the cinchona reserve, was paid into the Darjeeling Treasury, no credit having been taken for it in the cinchona accounts.

12. The progress of the fuel plantation at Mungpoo has been most satisfactory, and a large extension of it above the level of the Sureil bungalow has been arranged for. A great number of Oak thinnings cut out during the previous year were used in the Factory, and proved to make most excellent fuel.

13. The Plantation and Factory have during the year been under the executive charge of the Deputy Superintendent, Mr. J. A. Gammie, whose excellent services require no commendation from me. Mr. R. Pantling, the senior assistant, was absent on furlough during the greater part of the year. His duties were performed to my entire satisfaction by Mr. G. A. Gammie. The other assistants, Mr. Parkes, who is in charge of the Rungjung plantation, and Mr. A. Hartless, who is stationed at Mungpoo, have both done excellent work. And the office staff under Babus Gopal Chandra Datta and Devendranath Basu have worked well.

14. The usual statistical returns are appended.

RESOLUTION No. 490.

READ—the following papers on the subject of an endowment of Rs. 5,000 made by Babu Dwarkanath Pal for the encouragement of Vedic learning in Bengal:—

Letter from Babu Dwarkanath Pal, dated the 14th February 1889.
" from the Director of Public Instruction, No 1590, dated the 16th March 1889.
" to the Director of Public Instruction, No. 263, dated the 28th March 1889.
" from the Director of Public Instruction, No. 423, dated the 10th June 1889.
" from the Director of Public Instruction, No. 6825, dated the 12th December 1889.
Letter from the Director of Public Instruction, No. 4528, dated the 1st August 1891.

Babu Dwarkanath Pal having offered to make over Government securities of the value of Rs. 5,000 (which have since been received and deposited with the Accountant-General for safe custody) for the encouragement of Sanskrit learning in Bengal, a Committee was formed for the purpose of drawing up for the consideration of Government a scheme for carrying out the wishes of the donor. The following are the proposals made by the Committee as modified by the Director of Public Instruction:—

(1) that the entire proceeds of the endowment of Rs. 5,000 be devoted to the aid or maintenance of a Tol which should teach the Vedas and the Vedic literature only;
(2) that the Tol be under private management;
(3) that the grant be tenable by the Adhyapak of the Tol, who is to be a native of Bengal and to be appointed by a majority of the Trustees, so long as the Tol is maintained and is reported to be in a satisfactory condition by a body of visitors to be nominated by the Trustees;

The Report for the year 1889 and the orders of Government recorded thereon.

General.—The Police Report for 1890 was received on the 23rd July, Mr. Henry, the Officiating Inspector-General of Police, having been allowed by this Government to delay its submission for three weeks in consideration of his time being much occupied with special work arising out of the Report of the Police Committee. Although the Report for 1890 is written by Mr. Henry, who received charge of his office on the 2nd April 1891, Mr. Veasey was Inspector-General of Police during the whole year. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that the Officiating Inspector-General's remarks are contained in 87 pages, 15 less than in the Report of last year.

2. Inspection.—The present Report gives no statistics of the tours of inspection of the Inspector-General and Deputy Inspectors-General, or of the District Superintendents and their Assistants. It is merely said that, with the exception of Noakhali, all the districts were inspected during the year, presumably by the Inspector-General or a Deputy Inspector-General, and that the duty of inspection by District Superintendents and Assistant District Superintendents was on the whole well attended to. In future a statement should be submitted showing who have been District Superintendents and Assistant District Superintendents in each district during the year, and the number of days each officer was out on inspection duty.

3. Sanctioned strength of the Police Force.—Including the Railway Police, the sanctioned force in 1890 was 76 superior officers, 3,549 inferior officers, and 18,503 constables; but at the close of the year the subordinate officers were 59 and the constables were 34 below the sanctioned strength. The sanctioned strength for 1890 varied from that of the previous year in the addition of one District Superintendent and one Sub-Inspector, and in the decrease of 7 head constables and 1,274 constables; in place of the decrease in constables, 1,235 town chaukidars were sanctioned. The Police Budget grant was Rs. 41,59,000, but the actual expenditure only came to Rs. 40,19,887 against Rs. 41,81,342 of the year before. The following table shows the proportion of men employed on purely police work to area and population:—

PROVINCE.	Number of police.	Area in square miles.	Population.	Proportion of police to square miles.	Proportion of police to population.
Bengal Proper (excluding Hill Tracts).	12,527	70,956	38,020,611*	1 to 5·6	1 to 3,035
Behar (including Chota Nagpore).	7,222	71,105	28,929,933*	1 to 9·8	1 to 4,005
Orissa	1,447	9,762	3,865,106*	1 to 6·7	1 to 2,671
Total ...	21,196	151,823	70,815,650*	1 to 7·2	1 to 3,340

* These figures are the rough totals of the Census of 1891, which may be taken as approximately correct.

4. Town Police.—A large number of the town police have been replaced by town chaukidars. As this is a new measure, several District Officers have hesitated to pronounce an opinion upon its working at present; others seem satisfied. The town police are variously reported upon. They did not work well in the 24-Pergunnahs, Serajgunge, Chupra, Patna, Cuttack, and Puri. The Lieutenant-Governor notices that the working of the town police and of the town chaukidars has in some instances not been reported upon at all. He desires all District Superintendents and District Officers to pay attention to the subject in future reports. Street lighting, which is essential to efficient watch and ward at night, has not made very much progress throughout these Provinces. Not a single street in the Motihari, Maldah, English Bazar, and Chyebassa towns is lighted at night. That the people themselves feel the want of street-lights is shown by a quaint petition received by the Lieutenant-Governor on his recent tour from some residents of Faridpur, who ask for "sufficient light in the bazaar to escape fear of robbers, and to avoid mistakes committed by constables thinking customers as thieves in the dark." His Honour desires Commissioners of Divisions and District Officers to bring to the notice of the Municipalities with which they are concerned the necessity of supplying adequate lighting.

5. The Village Police.—The Officiating Inspector-General reports that there are the following chaukidars in the Province:—

Under Act VI (B.C.) of 1870	...	...	90,790
Under Regulation XX of 1817	...	...	36,407
Maintained on chakran and service lands and not under either of the above laws	...	...	43,638

Of the 43,638 chaukidars not under either Act VI (B.C.) of 1870 or Regulation XX of 1817, 31,214 are in the Burdwan Division: many of these are reported to be very inefficient. Mr. Henry, when on special duty, before joining his present appointment, made enquiries into matters connected with these chaukidars, and the Police Commission have made recommendations upon the subject. Government is now endeavouring, in consultation with Mr. Veasey, Officiating Commissioner of Burdwan, to reduce the number of such chaukidars and to bring the remainder under the Act as soon as possible. In dealing with the working of Act VI (B.C.) of 1870, the Officiating Inspector-General points out that many of the chaukidars are not paid regularly; thus in Jessore 1,042 men, most of whom belonged to the Bongong sub-division, were at the end of the year in arrears of pay for six months or more; in Rungpore also payments were most irregular, though an improvement is reported since the close of the year. In Chota Nagpore where, under Act V of 1887, payments are made through the District Superintendent, the men are reported to receive their salaries regularly. Provision has been made in the Draft Chaukidari Bill, which has been based on the recommendations of the Police Committee, for the collection of the tax by an officer appointed by Government, and for the payment of all chaukidars under the Act through the Police. Mr. Henry also brings to notice the very general complaint that the Act VI chaukidars are underpaid, especially in the Dacca and Chittagong Divisions; but the Lieutenant-Governor by no means accepts this complaint as proved. The chaukidars of the Dacca Division, whom he has lately seen, are a fine well-set up body of men, especially those of the Backergunge district, who could hardly be improved upon, and whose condition reflects credit on Mr. Schurr, the District Superintendent of Police. Provision has been made in the Draft Bill for the rate of wages of the chaukidars to be fixed by the District Magistrate between the limits of Rs. 3 and Rs. 6, and all District Officers have been called upon to report for each thana the rate which should be fixed. In the Report under review a suggestion by Mr. Hare, District Magistrate of Dacca, to divide the districts into circles or chaukies for chaukidari purposes, is noticed. This had been anticipated, and is already provided for in the Draft Bill. Mr. Henry, in describing the chaukidars in Orissa, none of whom are under the Act, quotes several of the irregularities set out by the Police Committee. Government is aware that the state of things in that Division is unsatisfactory, and is considering the alternative recommendations made by the Committee.

6. Additional Police.—Under section 15 of Act V of 1861, the Inspector-General of Police, with the sanction of the Local Government, may direct additional police to be quartered in any part of the general Police District which is in a disturbed and dangerous state, the cost being assessed upon the inhabitants concerned. There have been three such parties stationed in different parts of the Backergunge district for several years. During 1890 a fourth party, consisting of one head-constable and six constables, was sanctioned for one year for another part of the same district. A force of one head-constable and four constables was also appointed in the Bhagulpore district for one year. These forces have been called punitive police in the Report, but this, though practically correct, is not the technically proper description, as the professed object of the law which allows such additional police is to prevent offences and not to punish the inhabitants for misconduct. Three hundred and thirteen special constables were appointed under section 17 of Act V of 1861 in the districts of Bankura, Durbhunga, Shahabad, Patna, Sarun, Khulna, Backergunge, and Sonthal Pergunnahs. Of these, 140 were appointed in Bankura for six days only in consequence of the anti-missionary riots. A portion of the Inspector-General's special reserve, consisting of one subahdar, six havildars, and 49 sepoys, were on duty in the Jessore district from 22nd April to 18th June on account of the anti-indigo riots.

7. Charges of torture against the Police.—There is not such a bad list of torture cases as usual. Two Sub-Inspectors of the Lohardugga district were convicted and sentenced to 6 and 3 months' rigorous imprisonment for maltreating several persons during an investigation; one, however, was acquitted on appeal and has been reinstated by the Commissioner. A head-constable in the Rajshahye district was sentenced to three months' rigorous imprisonment by the Sessions Court for conniving at the ill-usage of an accused person during an investigation. Two constables of the Darjeeling district were sentenced to a month's rigorous imprisonment each for maltreating a drunken prisoner in their custody, and another case in this district, which occurred just at the close of the year and was brought to light in 1891, has been visited with severe punishment. A constable in the Lohardugga district was dismissed for a similar offence, but there was not sufficient evidence to prosecute him. In Bogra a Sub-Inspector was dismissed for striking a European prisoner with a cane. Several charges of torture were found to be false, but there was not sufficient evidence on which to prosecute the accusers. Eight cases of extortion by the Police are reported, but no details are given. The Officiating Inspector-General says that these cases were of minor importance. In future the Lieutenant-Governor desires that details of all such cases shall be furnished.

8. Punishments.—The returns show that 1·1 per cent. of the officers and 1·5 of the men were punished during the year judicially for offences against the Penal Code; that ·2 of the officers and ·7 per cent. of the men were convicted under Act V of 1861, and that 46·0 of the officers and 16·2 of the men were departmentally punished. The figures for departmental punishments have decreased somewhat during the last three years, but are still exceedingly high. Mr. Henry makes no remarks upon the subject. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to repeat the remarks of Sir Steuart Bayley in last year's Resolution that District Superintendents, when inflicting punishments upon their higher subordinates, should not lose sight of the necessity of preserving the dignity of the latter in the eyes of policemen of the lower ranks, and should remember that injudicious severity may deter persons of respectability from offering themselves as recruits.

9. Rewards.—The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that there was an increase of 146 in the total number of men wearing good-conduct stripes. Money rewards were given to 1,657 officers and men, and 39 men were specially promoted for good work. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction the list of 39 names including those of Inspectors, Sub-Inspectors, head-constables, and constables who are found deserving of special commendation. The list given does not, however, include the name of writer-constable Mahomed Syed, who in another part of the Report is described as having most gallantly effected the capture of two of a band of Nepali dacoits.

10. Cognizable cases in Bengal.—The following statement shows the proportion of cognizable crime to population and police in the various provinces in India:—

Province.	Police.	Population	Crime, cognizable (vide columns 4 and 6 of statement A, Part I).	Proportion of police to population.		Proportion of police to crime (cognizable).		Proportion of crime (cognizable) to population.

* These figures are the rough totals of the census of 1891, and may be taken as approximately correct.

The following table shows the incidences of crime and police in Bengal arranged by divisions:—

Division.	Police.	Population.	Crimes, cognizable.	Proportion of police to population.	Proportion of police to crime (cognizable).	Proportion of crime (cognizable) to population.
Burdwan	3,393	7,660,099	15,880	1 to 2,131	1 to 4·4	1 to 482

Chota Nagpore	1,476	4,045,587	6,·47	1 ,, 3,147	1 ,, 4·6	1 ,, 678

Comparing columns 5 and 7, it appears that the Patna Division is undermanned, whilst Chittagong is overmanned.

The percentages prescribed by the Government of India as tests of Police work are not at all well used in the Report under review, and in some cases are incorrectly worked out. The number introduced in paragraph 54 is much too large for any practical purpose; only the more important tests should be used. Confusion is caused by applying them to each class of crime separately; they should in future be applied to the results of classes I—V taken together, and also to the whole figures in classes I—VI taken together, and should be compared in this way with those of the previous year. Some deductions should then be drawn from the figures obtained.

The more important tests—

a_1 percentage of cases investigated by Police to cases reported; a_4 percentage of Police cases ending in conviction to cases decided;
b_3 percentage of persons convicted in Police cases to persons sent up for trial, c_2 percentage of cases in which property was recovered to cases in which property was lost, should be applied to each district, and a general order of merit established, which should be corrected by the Inspector-General's knowledge of facts and acquaintance with individual cases. The Officiating Inspector-General has attempted to draw no conclusions from the averages given by him, and it is difficult to draw any owing to the arrangement adopted.

11. Cognizable and non-cognizable cases.—The following figures show the number of cognizable and non-cognizable cases reported for the last two years:—

	1889.	1890.	Decrease.
Cognizable	119,656	117,443	2,213
Non-cognizable	117,407	116,554	853
Total ...	237,063	233,997	3,066

The decrease in cognizable cases is chiefly under the head "Offences against property." It was under this head that the increases in 1887 and 1888 were chiefly observed. Behar showed the largest fall in cognizable crime in 1890, viz., 1,363 cases; then followed Orissa with 1,016 cases less than in 1889. Bengal and Chota Nagpore had only 535 and 152 cases less respectively. These results doubtless are due to food-grains having been more plentiful.

12. False cases.—The provincial percentage of cases declared false decreased somewhat, the figures for 1888, 1889 and 1890 being 6·0, 5·8, and 5·4 respectively. The divisional percentages varied from 6·6 in Chittagong to 3·6 in Orissa. There are considerable variations in the district percentages when compared with one another and with those of the previous year. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Officiating Inspector-General that the disturbing cause of these variations is the system of classification adopted, which depends upon the views of individual Magistrates. The following remarks quoted from the report of the late Mr. Boxwell, Commissioner of Dacca, seem to His Honour to explain the subject clearly:—

"The mistakes we make as to what are and what are not false cases will be greater than the fluctuations in false cases from year to year. When a Magistrate and the High Court with the same facts or representation of the same facts before them, and without differing as to the truth or falsehood of any one of the series of alleged facts, do not agree whether the case is false or not, it is unlikely that district and divisional returns will show much consistence."

Sir Charles Elliott agrees with the view taken by some officers that many of the so-called false cases merely reflect the innate habits of exaggeration of the people and their desire to drag civil cases into the criminal courts. He believes that it is very seldom that charges are deliberately and malignantly false, but many are magnified from proneness to exaggerate, to look at things perversely, and to be blinded by anger or self-interest. Such habits there is little hope of eradicating from the people, and prosecutions in these cases do little good. The percentage of prosecutions to cases declared false rose from 15·7 in 1889 to 18·9 in 1890, while the percentage of convictions to prosecutions was 32·3 against 27·2 last year. Most of the punishments awarded were slight. The Lieutenant-Governor has examined the records of a great number of these cases, and has found that they entail a great deal of useless and unremunerative work on the Deputy Magistrates. He considers that prosecutions should only be instituted where cases are deliberately and malignantly false, but that, when such cases are proved, severe punishment should be inflicted. The recent amendment of section 250, Criminal Procedure Code, which allows compensation up to Rs. 50 to be given in all cases where frivolous or vexatious charges are made, should meet all the more venial cases.

13. Cases enquired into by the Police.—The number of cognizable cases reported either to Magistrates or to the Police in 1890 was 117,443. Of these the Police investigated 81·4 per cent. The percentage of cognizable and non-cognizable cases reported to the Police, in which enquiry was refused, was 4·4 against 5·7 for 1889 and 5·4 for 1888. The Lieutenant Governor approves of the orders of Mr. R. M. Waller, late District Magistrate of Monghyr, who directed the Police to refuse enquiry in all cases of attempts at house-breaking where the criminal was reported to be unknown. His Honour thinks that in cases of house-breaking to commit theft and attempts at the same, where nothing is stolen, and where there is no clue given, enquiry should be refused by the Police. Similarly in cases of theft of sums below Rs. 5, where there is no clue, in cases which are purely of a civil nature, and in embroidered charges of assault, where the embroidery is doubtful, enquiry should be refused. To fix a maximum percentage beyond which cases should not be refused by the Police, as was done in Gya, is objectionable, because the Police are likely to take the percentage as a figure to be worked up to, regardless of the facts of the cases. Again, it is reported that in one district the Police were uselessly employed to investigate cases which were either not offences or not cognizable, their action being due, in the opinion of the District Officer, not to errors of judgment, but to dishonest motives; enquiry is being made by the Commissioner into this charge, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that there are few districts in which an assertion so discreditable to the supervision of the District Superintendent of Police can be supported. The whole subject is one that demands much attention from both District Magistrates and District Superintendents.

14. Results of Police enquiry.—The total number of persons arrested by the Police suo motu in 1890 was 85,989, of whom 60,780, or 70·6 per cent. (against 69·4 in 1889) were afterwards convicted. The number of cases afterwards found by the Magistrates to be true in which the Police enquired was 97,132; the percentage of convictions in these cases was 43·4.

15. Sessions trials.—The numbers of persons tried at the Sessions, and not the numbers of cases only, have been given. The following table shows the number convicted and acquitted for 1890 and for 1889:—

Year.	Persons convicted by Sessions or High Court.	Acquitted after Commitment.							Percentage of convictions.
		Class I, offences against the State and public tranquillity.	Class II, serious offences against the person.	Class III, serious offences against property. * The jury districts are designated by asterisks; their total percentage is 52·0 against 54·1 for all the districts.

The results of Sessions trials, though better than last year's, were far from satisfactory. The returns for England show that about 75 per cent. of the persons committed for trial are usually convicted. The poorness of the figures for Bengal is due, among other things, to wrong commitments being made by Magistrates; but, as the Officiating Inspector-General of Police points out, it is also due to the bad work done by investigating officers, and to the want of interest of the Police generally in Sessions trials. When District Superintendents were required to conduct all important cases before the Sessions, such cases were more carefully looked after. Since 1882 Government has relieved District Superintendents of this duty on account of the increase in their ordinary work. Sir Charles Elliott, however, desires that in districts where there are Assistant Superintendents of Police, these officers should be employed in watching Sessions cases both before the Committing Magistrates and before the Sessions. The Lieutenant-Governor has also under consideration the recommendations of the Police Committee upon this subject. He is endeavouring, in communication with the High Court, to secure Sessions being held at shorter intervals, and he is about to limit the power of commitments by Magistrates of the second class to specially selected officers.

The working of the Jury system in Bengal was much discussed during the year under review, and the conclusions of the Lieutenant-Governor have been submitted to the Government of India since its close.

16. Class I.—Offences against the State and public tranquillity.—The increase this year just balances the decrease of last year. The cases of coining were few and generally petty. There was an increase in 1890 of 53 in the total number of riot cases found to be true. The Dacca and Presidency Divisions showed considerable increases of 101 and 94 true cases respectively. The Burdwan and Rajshahye Divisions showed marked decreases. The increase in the Dacca Division occurred chiefly in the Faridpur district, but in all districts of this division the offence is common. For the increase in rioting in the Presidency Division, the Jhenida and Magura sub-divisions of the Jessore district are responsible: in 1889 there were in Jhenida 14 cases, in which 27 persons were sent up for trial, and in Magura 9 cases with 51 persons; for 1890 the figures were—in Jhenida, 65 cases and 418 persons, Magura, 86 cases and 624 persons. This serious increase of rioting was due to the strike against indigo cultivation. His Honour was glad to learn during his recent visit to Jessore that the relations between the indigo planters and the cultivators have since become friendly again. The rupture was to a great extent due to the injudicious interference of outside agitators.

1888	...	...	2,872

17. Class II.—Serious offences against the person.—There has been a net decrease of 362 cases, the numbers being 4,340 against 4,702. Cases of murder increased by 3 only, but the figures are higher than any of the previous years, since 1883. The figures are shown thus:—

1884.	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	1890.

1890	...	...	4,340
1889	...	...	4,702
1888	...	...	4,622

The percentages of convictions, both in cases and persons, were greater than in any of the previous years mentioned.

In one of the cases of murder, the jury at Hooghly acquitted a woman accused of murdering a child for the sake of her ornaments; but the High Court, on a reference being made by the Judge, set aside the finding, and sentenced the accused to transportation for life.

In the other cases under this head the chief fluctuations were a decrease of 126 under "Criminal force to public servants, &c.," and a decrease of 54 under "Grievous hurt."

18. Class III.—Serious offences against property—The decrease of 2,739 cases under this head was almost entirely in lurking house-trespass and house-breaking cases (2,377), and the cause was no doubt the more prosperous agricultural season. There was a decrease of 42 from 172 in dacoity cases, which His Honour observes with satisfaction. There were only 2 cases of dacoity in Midnapore against 11 in the previous year. During the last two years 105 dacoits and their receivers in this district had been consigned to jail and the district now has rest. The Commissioner and the Officiating Inspector-General of Police agree that great credit is due to Mr. Munro, the District Superintendent, and his subordinates. Sir Charles Elliott also desires to acknowledge such good work. His Honour observes in one false charge of dacoity in Midnapore the complainant was convicted and sentenced to five years' rigorous imprisonment under section 211, Indian Penal Code. There was a decrease of 10 in dacoities in the Dacca Division, and none at all are reported from the Chittagong Division; this is attributed to the breaking up of a gang on the Tipperah-Noakhali frontier. There was a reduction from 36 to 20 in the dacoities reported from the Patna Division, but the Officiating Inspector-General of Police does not offer any explanation of this; his observations on the subject are confined to criticisms on the judicial results of the cases sent up for trial. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with pleasure the creditable conduct of Baboo Rash Behary Naik, Deputy Magistrate, who unravelled a difficult case of dacoity at Cuttack, five months after the occurrence, and after two Sub-Inspectors and an Inspector had been unable to find any clue. Cases of mischief by fire fell from 501 to 392, and 19 persons only were convicted. This is in all countries, especially in India, a most difficult crime to bring home. The number of robberies reported was 125, which was considerably below the average of the previous four years.

1888	...	25,247

19. Class IV—Minor offences against the person.—The total number of cases under this class was 2,210 against 2,334. The two principal offences covered by these figures are wrongful restraint and wrongful confinement.

20. Class V—Minor offences against property.—The total number of cases for the last 3 years is shown in the margin. Mr. Henry does not attach much importance to the explanation that these cases vary with prosperous or bad harvests; and he is not satisfied that the decrease shown in the return is altogether real, as he is of opinion that a good deal of such crime goes unreported in Behar. He has compared the figures of 1890 for the Patna and Bhagulpore Divisions with those for 1889 from the whole of the North-Western Provinces, and from the comparison apparently draws the conclusion that crime is much better reported in those Provinces than it is in Behar. The comparison would have been more effective if the Patna Division in this Province had been compared with its neighbour, the Benares Division in the North-Western Provinces. The latter division, with about ten millions population, had in 1889 14,500 burglaries and 15,800 thefts reported; while Patna, with about 15 millions population, had in 1890, 7,200 burglaries and 5,500 thefts reported. This certainly shows some difference either as to criminality or as to the registration of crime which requires further investigation.

1888	...	38,381

21. Class VI—Other offences not specified above.—Including public and local nuisances, the total number of cases was 76,878, which shows an increase of 4,489. Excluding these the figures are as in the margin. Prosecutions for nuisances, which have steadily increased of late years, showed an excess over last year's figures of 2,794, and over the figures of 1888 of 6,752.

1888	...	30,159

What are known to the Police as "bad livelihood" cases, viz., cases under sections 109 and 110, Criminal Procedure Code, showed an increase of 285 with more favourable judicial results. The total number of cases instituted on report by the Police was 2,359, and conviction was obtained in 1,436; 1,115 were tried in the villages of the accused. The delay in some cases was quite phenomenal. In Durbhunga one case is shown as having lasted 1,073 days up to 31st December 1890, since the report was first made to the Magistrate. The Officiating Inspector-General suggests that it might now be struck off, as the accused has absconded to Nepal. The Lieutenant-Governor thinks it might have been struck off before. One case in Noakhally lasted 350 days after process was issued by the Magistrate, one in Dacca lasted 257 days, and one in Dinagepore lasted 222 days. Special reports explaining the delays in these cases will be submitted by the officers concerned. As the necessity for holding a local enquiry was often pleaded as explanation of the delay in such cases, the Lieutenant-Governor, in Circular No. 3J—D, dated the 4th June last, modified the previous orders of 1877, which insisted upon enquiries being held on the spot. His Honour leaves the discretion to the trying Magistrate, and does so because he prefers a speedy decision in Court to a long deferred one on the spot, but he desires that, as far as possible, such cases shall be tried in or near the villages where the accused persons reside. These orders should have the effect of reducing the enormous average duration of these cases which are returned for some districts, but it is evident that there are other reasons for the delays shown. The Lieutenant-Governor is inclined to think that reports are often made by the Police upon insufficient facts; these reports are generally acted upon by the Magistrates, and when the Police find out that the evidence is weak, they apply for adjournments to get further witnesses. The Lieutenant-Governor directs that no report of this nature should be ordinarily sent to the Magistrate until the District Superintendent has recorded his reasons for thinking that a prosecution will be successful. It is one of the District Superintendent's duties to watch these cases carefully through every stage, and Sir Charles Elliott doubts whether this duty is adequately performed in many districts.

22. Crime maps.—The system of maintaining crime-maps, referred to in paragraph 146 of the Report, is an excellent one, and was praised in the Resolution of this Government for 1888; but the Lieutenant-Governor finds that there are many districts in which no such maps exist. Their preparation should be enjoined on every District Superintendent of Police, and they should be included in the Inspection Manual as a record to be produced before every inspecting officer.

23. Police surveillance.—The number of persons under Police surveillance is so many as 44,043, which is three times the jail population of the Province. These figures show an increase of 1,231 over those of last year. It is obvious, as the Officiating Inspector General reports, that the Police are only able to look after a certain portion of this number. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that very much more discrimination in placing persons under surveillance is needed. The orders under which a criminal is placed under supervision are passed by the Magistrates, but besides these there is a system of "Police Registration" which is in the hands of the District Superintendent, and to which the Lieutenant-Governor has lately taken exception. The question is now under consideration.

24. Miscellaneous cases.—Excise cases show an increase of 444. Salt cases decreased from 1,713 to 1,448. The numbers of prosecutions under the Arms Act, 1879, for the last three years are 1,430, 1,335, and 1,470 respectively.

25. Railway Police Work.—The number of cognizable and non-cognizable Railway cases reported during the year was 3,116 against 3,373 in the preceding year, the decrease being chiefly among non cognizable cases. There were 172 accidents resulting in the death of 121 persons. The Officiating Inspector-General has included in these figures 15 cases of suicide. There were 27 cases of obstruction, for which 18 persons were convicted. No accident was caused, nor was any serious damage done by the obstructions, which are said as a rule to have been placed on the lines either by discontented railway coolies, or by villagers who had some quarrel with the gate-keepers about passing cattle or carts, the object being to get some one into trouble and not really to upset trains.

26. Non-cognizable crime.—The following table shows a net decrease of 853 cases throughout these Provinces:—

Class I—Offences against the State and public tranquillity ...	8,581	8,175	...	406
„ II—Serious offences against the person	33	29	...	4
„ III—Serious offences against property	848	857	9	.....
„ IV—Minor offences against the person	56,535	56,333	..	202
„ V—Minor offences against property	9,730	10,115	385	.. ...
„ VI—Other offences	11,356	11,284	...	72
Special laws	30,324	29,761	...	563
Total ...	117,407	116,554	394	1,247
Net decrease ...	.....	.....	853

There was an increase of 623 cases under Public Nuisances, which fall under Class VI. In 550 cases less than last year it was found necessary to bind persons down to keep the peace on conviction. There was a decrease of 1,732 cases under the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884; of 733 under the Salt Act; and 344 for failure to register births and deaths. These were only partially counterbalanced by an increase of 710 cases under the Cattle-Trespass Act (B.C.) of 1871, and of 964 "Miscellaneous" cases. Process was issued in 75·7 of all non-cognizable cases. The percentage of non-cognizable cases investigated by the Police was 5·2 against 5·3 of the previous year. 47,393 persons were convicted, and 31, 052 were acquitted or discharged in non-cognizable cases.

27. Remands.—The number of A Forms sent up by Police was 37,134 against 38,605 in 1889. The percentage of A Forms decided in the first two hearings was only 54·7. The Lieutenant-Governor observes with much concern that 2,571 or 6·9 per cent. were remanded four times after the first hearing, 1,580 or 4·3 per cent. five times, 987 or 2·6 per cent. six times, and 2,032 or 5·5 more than six times. These numerous delays are unexplained. It seems scarcely credible that the percentages of A Forms in the following districts, which were remanded more than six times after the first hearing, should be as the figures below represent:—

Khulna	14·6
Dinajpur	13·0
Julpaiguri	12·4
Pubna	12·0

In circular No. 3060J, dated 5th August 1891, the Lieutenant-Governor has laid down rules for the closer supervision of their subordinate Magistrates by District Magistrates. He has directed the record of every case remanded more than three times to be examined by the District Officer when inspecting, and he has prescribed a form to be submitted fortnightly with explanations showing the number of prisoners in hajat on each Magistrate's file. District Officers should insist upon having clear explanations of all cases remanded more than three times. Sir Charles Elliott has found many cases of adjournments by subordinate Magistrates on slight or no reasons. These would have been obviated if the District Magistrates had exercised closer supervision. The Lieutenant-Governor holds District Officers directly responsible for delays which are not satisfactorily explained, and expresses his opinion that the figures quoted in this paragraph are not creditable to the officers concerned.

28. Reconvictions.—The number of offenders against whom previous convictions were proved was only 1,824, which shows a decrease of about 5 per cent. from last year's figures. Arrangements have been made to introduce the Bertillon system of anthropometrical measurements into several jails with a view to the better identification of previous convicts. The system is reported to have succeeded in Paris, and the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that it will be successfully introduced into all the jails of these Provinces.

29. Criminal tribes.—The only tribe mentioned by Mr. Henry is the Maghaya Domes of Behar, who are now settled in several places in the Chumparun and Sarun districts under the supervision of Government officers.

For want of legal authority, the surveillance over this tribe has been weak, and the management of the settlements has not been successful. This Government has reported to the Government of India that the Punjab Draft Bill, which was circulated for opinion, would suit the requirements of these Provinces.

30. Absconders.—The number of absconded offenders at the close of the previous year was 2,831, and the number entered during the year under report was 3,887, making a total of 6,718. Of this number 750 gave themselves up, 1,263 were caught, and 1,587 struck off the list.

31. Administration.—Mr. Veasey, who gave over charge after the close of the year, had held the office of Inspector-General since 14th October 1884, with the exception of a period of 15 months spent on leave. His administration has been efficient, being marked by intelligence and energy, and Sir Charles Elliott desires to record here the obligations of Government to him for his services in a difficult post.

32. Conclusion.—Since the close of the year under report, the Lieutenant-Governor has received the Report of the Committee appointed by this Government to enquire into the reform of the Police of these Provinces. A number of these recommendations have already been considered and adopted in whole or with modifications. The Government of India have, at the instance of this Government, sanctioned the improvements recommended in the pay and allowance of constables, involving a cost of 1¾ lakhs per annum. A Draft Bill to amend the Village Police has been submitted for the consideration of the Imperial Government, and is before local officers for report. Arrangements are now being made to improve the investigation of offences by the police, and to distribute investigating officers more in accordance with the criminal wants of the districts. Sir Charles Elliott hopes that most of the changes under consideration will be determined before the expiry of the present year, and that future reports will show that they have resulted in the increased efficiency of the Bengal Police.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

Chief Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE CALCUTTA SHIPPING OFFICE AND OF THE SHIPPING OFFICES AT THE OUTPORTS FOR THE YEAR 1890-91.

No. 2215Marine.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL—MARINE DEPARTMENT.

Dated Calcutta, the 31st August 1891.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The annual report on the working of the Calcutta Shipping Office and of the Shipping Offices at the outports for the year 1890-91.

The Calcutta Shipping Office was moved in December last into the new building erected for the Port and Shipping Offices. By this arrangement the Shipping Office has obtained suitable accommodation, and its work is conducted under the immediate supervision of the Shipping Master. The acknowledgments of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to Lieutenant Petley, R.N., for the efficient manner in which he managed the duties of the Office.

2. The business of the Calcutta Shipping Office continued to increase. The receipts amounted to Rs. 36,908, and the charges, which were unusually low, to Rs. 19,887. The increase in the receipts was chiefly under the heads "Shipping fees" and "Discharging fees," and is attributed to the preference shown for native crews by both British and Foreign ships. The working of the office resulted in a net profit of Rs. 17,021-11-6, against Rs. 7,686-4-7 in the previous year. These sums are credited to Provincial revenue. The question of reducing the "fees" so as to more nearly balance receipts and expenditure is under consideration.

3. There was a decrease in the amount of the funds held in trust by the Calcutta Shipping Office. The decrease was mainly under the head "Deposit money of British seamen," and was due to the activity that prevailed during a part of the year in shipping and discharging transactions. On account of this activity it was possible to permit a relaxation of the rule requiring every British seaman discharged through the Shipping Office to deposit a portion of his wages as a condition of his obtaining his discharge. The total sum deposited amounted to Rs. 48,516, and the balance in hand at the close of the year was Rs. 3,317.

4. The numbers of seamen of all nationalities shipped and discharged through the Shipping Office during the year were 19,572 and 18,915, respectively, against 16,932 and 15,592, the corresponding numbers in the previous year. The increase is most prominent under both the heads in the case of Indian seamen, and, as has already been observed, is the result of the increased employment of lascars.

5. It appears from the returns that, with the exception of those included under the head "Portuguese," not a single Eurasian was shipped or discharged during the year. If Eurasians are included under any other head, the Lieutenant-Governor desires that they may be entered under a separate heading in future.

6. The amount remitted home by seamen's money-orders shows a further increase which is indicative of the beneficial effects of the law forbidding the payment of seamen's wages at a fixed rate of exchange, and requiring that their wages shall be paid at the current rate. It is satisfactory to learn that the condition of British seamen continues to improve.

7. The demand for native seamen during the year was greater than in any preceding year, and it is said that their capacity as sailors has so far been recognised that they are not infrequently taken as crews on board sailing ships.

8. Suitable steps were taken by the authorities of the Shipping Office to protect seamen from imposition. In several cases masters of ships were compelled to pay back money improperly withheld from the seamen working under them, and in one case in which a crew had complained of shortness of provisions, compensation was awarded to the men after due enquiry.

9. The question raised by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce relative to the rate of exchange to be adopted under the provisions of section 4 of 52 and 53 Vic., Cap. 46, for the payment of wages of seamen discharged in India, which was noticed in the Resolution on the Annual Report of the Shipping Office for the year 1889-90, was decided by the Government of India during the year under review. It has been ruled that at the larger ports where it is possible to ascertain the exact rate, the market rate of exchange should be taken, the rate of the day on which the mail leaves being taken as the rate for the ensuing week, and that at the smaller ports where the market rate is not readily ascertainable the official rate fixed for the adjustment of all financial transactions between the British and Indian Governments should be taken. The market rate is taken at Calcutta and Chittagong, which are the only ports in Bengal where European seamen are ordinarily discharged.

10. The receipts of the Chittagong Shipping Office fell off from Rs. 537 in 1889-90 to Rs. 200 during the year under review. The receipts on account of the Trust Funds, including the balance at the commencement of the year, amounted to Rs. 10,808, and the total amount paid was Rs. 10,461. The numbers of seamen shipped and discharged during the year were 83 and 135, respectively, against 39 and 152 in the year before.

11. One seaman was discharged at False Point against two in 1889-90, but none were shipped. No seamen were shipped or discharged at Balasore or Pooree.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

J. M. McNEILE, Col., R.E.,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

LIBERALITY OF BABU ABHOY GOBINDA CHAUDHURY, A ZEMINDAR OF TANTIBUND, IN THE DISTRICT OF PUBNA.

No. 174T.—M., dated Darjeeling, the 21st August 1891.

From—H. H. RISLEY, Esq., Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Municipal Dept.,

To—The Commissioner of the Rajshahye Division.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 298J., dated the 8th August 1891, in which you bring to the notice of Government the liberality of Babu Abhoy Gobinda Chaudhury, a zemindar of Tantibund, in the district of Pubna, in incurring an expenditure of Rs. 1,975 for the construction of a cholera ward in the Pubna Dispensary compound.

2. In reply, I am directed to request that you will be so good as to convey to Babu Abhoy Gobinda Chaudhury the thanks of the Lieutenant Governor for this act of liberality, and to say that this letter will be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

Explanation.—.....indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 1st September 1891.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, THE 29TH OF AUGUST 1891.

For the last three days of the previous week a small barometric depression had existed in the north-west angle of the Bay, and on the 22nd it was still a feeble depression, but accompanied by a very distinct cyclonic circulation of winds, the centre of which was to the east-north-east of False Point and to the south of Saugor Island. On the morning of the 23rd the centre of the small depression was, if anything, a little further north than on the previous day, but it had not intensified at all, and on the 24th the centre was close to Balasore and probably inland, for the centre of the wind circulation was to the east-north-east of that station. The depression had also to a considerable extent filled up on the 24th, and when it reached the coast it had practically ceased to exist, and by the morning of the 25th there was no sign of its existence in Bengal, and the area of lowest pressure had retreated to the south of Orissa. The depression only brought light to moderate rain in the districts affected by it, but with its disappearance the monsoon winds began again feebly to advance over the province, but the amounts of rain brought up were decidedly small. On the 26th the lowest pressure continued to be reported from the south of Orissa, and on the 27th pressure became lowest at Cuttack and in the west of Behar, but the monsoon current blowing on this date was exceedingly feeble and was bringing up little or no moisture from the Bay, so that on the 28th and 29th, and in some cases from the 27th, a distinct break in the rains set in over practically the whole province On the 28th and 29th also the distribution of pressure over the Bay altered very considerably and pressure became extremely uniform, and on the 29th in particular practically no monsoon current was advancing from the Bay over Bengal. Winds were also becoming variable in direction and decidedly light, while pressure and temperature were increasing very decidedly and a distinct break in the rains was established.

The general conditions were therefore less favourable for rainfall during the past week than they had been for some time past, and practically only the south-western and partly the western districts have been receiving moderate rain, and the rain-bearing current has been to a great extent drawn away from such districts as North Behar and North and East Bengal.

Pressure—Generally rose slowly over the province on the 23rd except at one or two stations in the neighbourhood of the depression in the north-west angle of the Bay, and on the 24th it had risen in all districts, including that occupied by the feeble depression. The rise of pressure continued on the 25th except over parts of Orissa, but on the 26th a slight fall set in which continued on the 27th. The pressure changes on the 28th were a rather rapid rise at the western and south-western stations and a slight rise only in Assam and North Bengal, so that pressure became more uniform, and similar changes took place on the 29th, rendering the differences of pressure over the province exceedingly small. For the whole week the mean pressure has been distinctly in excess of the normal, the usual excess ranging from 0·03″ to 0 05″, but over the area affected by the depression pressure has been normal or even slightly below it as at False Point, Cuttack, and Balasore, while on the other hand at many stations in North Bengal and North Behar an excess of 0·06″ is registered. In Assam there has been a mean excess pressure of 0·029″.

Temperature.—Owing to the scantiness of the rainfall during the week over the greater part of the province, temperature has been rather largely in excess of the normal, the excess in East and North Bengal and in North and South Behar ranging between one and two degrees. In South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur the excess is only about half a degree, while in Orissa temperature has been very slightly below the normal. For the whole of the province of Bengal the mean temperature for the week has been almost exactly a degree above the normal. In Assam the excess has averaged 0·8°.

Rainfall—Has been in distinct excess of the normal in Orissa, where an average amount of 2 35 inches has been received, or nearly 20 per cent. in excess. In all other divisions defective falls have been registered, the defect equalling about half the normal fall in South-West Bengal, East Bengal, and Chutia Nagpur, which have each received an average of about an inch and-a quarter of rain, but the defects are even larger than this in the other divisions. South Behar has only received a third of the usual amount, North Behar about a fifth, while in North Bengal the fall for the week is little more than a sixth of the usual fall. In these three divisions the falls have equalled about two-thirds to three quarters of an inch of rain. The number of days of rain has in Orissa also been in distinct excess of the average In South-West Bengal and Orissa the rainy days have been nearly normal in number, but in all other districts the number of days has been very defective.

The districts where the most largely defective rainfalls have been received are Moorshedabad, Nuddea, Chittagong, Noakholly, Furreedpore, Dacca, Bogra, Pubna, Rajshahye, Maldah, Dinagepore, Rungpore, Julpigoree, Purneah, Mozufferpore, Durbhunga, Chumparun, Sarun, Gya, Patna, and Shahabad

In Assam, Silchar has received 7 24 inches, Sibsagar 4·19 inches, and Dhubri 0 34 inch of rain during the week.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 29th of August 1891 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h. 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVISED ADVERTISEMENT.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat of source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets; &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G. Vol. IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of "O." The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in seven volumes during the current year; but an eighth volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set (exclusive of the Index for which a separate charge will be made).

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 45 in India and 3 guineas in England. The period of registration of subscribers' names will expire on the 1st October.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION No 317.

The 8th September 1891.

THE subjoined annual accounts and report of the District Road Committee of the district of the Chittagong Hill Tracts for the year 1890-91 are published for general information.

F. J. JOHNSTONE,
Joint-Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 38R., dated Rangamati, the 4th June 1891.

From—C. S. MURRAY, ESQ., C.I.E., Offg. Deputy Commissioner of the Chittagong Hill Tracts,

To—The Commissioner of the Chittagong Division.

I HAVE the honour to submit herewith in duplicate the Road Fund Annual Accounts of this district for the year 1890-91.

There was no original work of any important character executed during the year except opening out a trace between Ghagra Hill and Manickserri, the head-quarters of the Mong Raja, and a wooden bridge put up across the Manickserri stream on the Rangamati-Raojan road.

The coolie corps, consisting of 252 Santals were chiefly employed on the road from Rangamati to Demagiri. The earthwork of the portion between Rangamati to Burkal, a distance of 22 miles, was completed, and the road was quite fit for baggage animals.

Although for want of labour and time nothing on a big scale could be done to the portion between Burkal and Demagiri, the entire line was greatly improved. It remains now to put up permanent bridges over all the nullas along this road. During the year under report only temporary bridges were thrown across some of them, and others were filled in with stone and earth whenever it was found convenient.

Great improvement was also made in the Rangamati and Raojan road. The Manickserri Hill was a great obstacle to shoulder-borne traffic, pack-bullocks, mules, and other animals. A new line, about five miles in distance, was cut avoiding the hill altogether.

All the other roads of this district were maintained as usual by clearing jungle, filling in ruts, and renewing temporary bridges.

Directions.—Vessels from the southward will proceed with the Fig-tree lights in line until the lower light of the lead on Stewart island opens out as a bright light, when they should haul up quickly and steer for it, passing it at a distance of 100 feet and gradually bringing the two white lights in line astern. Keep them in line until the Moonboom island lights are in line, when proceed as usual. By following these directions a vessel will have a depth of 7 feet at low-water springs.

JAVA SEA—ARENDS ISLAND.

Rock westward of Arends island replaced on charts.

THE British Admiralty has given notice, (No. 299 of 1891), that on a review of the evidence in connection with the existence of a rock about ten miles west of Arends island, Java sea, which was removed from the Admiralty charts 19 years ago in consequence of an unsuccessful search, it has been decided to replace it in its former position, as given by an American barque, in approximately lat. 5° 4′ S., long 114° 26′ E.

Though this position may be much in error, the weight of evidence seems in favour of a rock somewhere westward of the island.

AUSTRALIA, EAST COAST—INNER ROUTE.

Shoal north of Lizard island.

THE British Admiralty has given notice, (No. 302 of 1891), of the existence of a shoal, with about 10 feet over it at low-water spring tides, lying with the north-west extreme of Lizard island bearing south, distant about 5½ miles.

Approximate position: lat. 14° 33′ S., long. 145° 29¾′ E.

NOTE.—The position of this shoal cannot be considered accurate, but it is stated that the western extremes of North and South Direction islands in line lead eastward of it.

Vessels using the One-and-a-half mile opening should therefore haul to the eastward to this line when in the vicinity of the shoal, as the line given in the charts pointing out the opening, viz, South Direction Island half open west of North Direction Island, passes very near it. The reef forming the east side of One and-a-half mile opening is to be named Hicks reef.

A new chart, Hope islands to Turtle group, No. 2923, on which this shoal is shown, will shortly be published.

Reef westward of the island.

THE British Admiralty has given notice, (No. 311 of 1891), of the existence of a reef westward of Condillac island and in the tract of vessels proceeding from Roebuck bay or Derby to Wyndham or port Darwin:—

This reef (Jamieson reef), originally reported by the Master of the steam-vessel Otway, is composed of coral, 2¼ miles long north and south, and one mile in breadth. The depths over the greater part of it vary from 12 to 24 feet, except at about three-quarters of a mile from the north end, where a small part dries 5 feet at low-water springs. THE British Admiralty has given notice, (No. 312 of 1891), that a light is exhibited from a structure erected on the north-west side of Observatory island, westward of Leu kung tau, Wei hai wei harbour:—

Observatory island light is a fixed light, showing red between the north extreme of Leu kung tau and the bearing S. 46° W.; white between S. 46° W. and S. 29° W.; and red between S. 29° W., through south, and N. 23° W. It is elevated 61 feet above the sea, and in clear weather the white light should be visible from a distance of 6 miles, and the red light 4 miles.

Non-existence of rocks between Shala and Kau island.

The British Admiralty has given notice, (No. 324 of 1891), that from an examination recently made of the locality under favourable circumstances, it is considered that the rocks (E. D.) heretofore charted as lying between Shala and Kau islands, or in about lat. 12° 19′ N., long. 109° 23′ E., do not exist. The least water found in and around the reported positions for a distance of 1½ miles was 21 fathoms over shells; the local fishermen also stated that no such rocks were known.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE INCOME-TAX IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1890-91.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—INCOME-TAX

RESOLUTION No. 170T.—F.

Darjeeling, the 31st August 1891.

READ—

The Report of the Board of Revenue on the financial results of the administration of the Income-tax for the year 1890-91.

The principal administrative change recorded by the Board of Revenue was the separation of the offices of Excise Inspector or Sub-Inspector and Assessor of Income-tax, which was decided on in 1889 and was fully carried out during the year under report. Districts were divided into five classes according to their average revenue from income-tax, and five grades of assessors were appointed on somewhat lower rates of pay than had previously been allowed. Service in the Income-tax branch, which had formerly been treated as temporary, was at the same time declared to be permanent and pensionable. It is expected that this reorganization of the staff, which provides every district with an officer whose whole-time is given to income-tax business, together with the recognition of the permanent character of the appointments, will tend to improve the quality of the work done by the assessors, and to make the assessment registers a trustworthy record of the taxable incomes in each district.

Net revenue	40,00,020	40,54,363

The net revenue shows an increase of 1·3 per cent. as compared with 6·1 per cent. in 1889-90. Including advance payments and excess collections, and making allowance for various adjustments, the actual receipts at the close of the year amounted to Rs. 42,38,075 against Rs. 41,66,798 in 1889-90.

Demand, collections and balances.

3. The original demand amounted to Rs. 39,24,643 from 106,083 assessees, as compared with Rs. 39,38,829 in the previous year, representing the demand from 105,618 persons. This was reduced on revision to Rs. 37,36,619 assessed on 102,988 persons, the corresponding figure for 1889-90 being Rs. 37,12,130 to be realised from 102,265 persons. During the past year, therefore, the number of assessees was increased by 723 and the final demand by Rs. 24,489. The percentage of collection on the final demand of the tax was 93·3 against 92·5 in the previous year. The outstanding balance on account of the tax, including penalties and costs, amounted at the close of the year to Rs. 3,20,100 as compared with Rs. 3,45,219 in 1889-90. Of this balance, Rs 1,43,389 are reported to be good and in process of realisation, Rs. 1,19,295 doubtful, and Rs. 66,416 bad and irrecoverable. Eight districts succeeded in collecting their entire demand within the financial year. In ten districts the collections were below 90 per cent. of the final demand, the failure to collect more being explained as mainly due to the fact that assessment work could not be completed until late in the year. This excuse cannot be accepted. Any re-assessment which cannot take effect within the financial year should be held over to the next year, and collection should be based on the old assessment of last year. In future years every district collecting less than 95 per cent. will be named in the Resolution, and the officer in charge of this branch of the work will be deemed to deserve censure unless he can clear himself by some special excuse.

Assessments.

4. The forty-four assessors employed in the mofussil visited 70,318 villages, or on an average nearly 1,600 a piece, against 67,367 during the previous year. The Board observe that an attempt seems to have been made to cover too much ground, and point, in support of this view, to the fact that in several districts the number of villages in which assessees were found is very small in comparison with the number of villages visited. The seven assessors employed in Calcutta visited 680 streets, against 518 in the previous year. The number of persons finally assessed was 102,988 against 102,265 in 1889-90, the percentage of exemption falling from 3·1 to 2·9. The increase in the number of assessees was largest in Khoolna, where 1,778 persons were finally assessed, against 1,415 during the previous year. This appears to have been the work of a new assessor with regard to whom the Collector reports that the assessees were labouring under the misapprehension that "the assessor being a stranger and entirely new to the district, could not possibly know the ins and outs of their income." The assessor's estimate of the taxable income of the district seems, however, to have been in the main justified by the results, for, in spite of the fact that 443 objections and seven petitions for revision were filed, only 50 assessees were exempted, and 59 got their assessments reduced, while the final demand of income-tax rose from Rs. 25,283 to Rs. 31,217.

Objections.

5. In the whole of Bengal 13,884 petitions of objection were filed, as compared with 15,027 in the preceding year. Successful objections numbered 5,321, or 38·3 per cent., against 6,361, or 42·3 per cent., in 1889-90. Referring to five districts where the percentage of successful objections exceeded 50, the Board observe that the result is not creditable to the assessing officers, and shows that the initial assessments were made without due care and inquiry. The Lieutenant-Governor is unable to accept this conclusion without reserve. It is at least as likely that these unfavourable results are due to the weakness or carelessness of the judicial officers who hear the objections and accept the pleas put forward for exemption without sufficient scrutiny. During his recent tour of inspection, the Lieutenant-Governor examined several income-tax records, and was very dissatisfied with the manner in which they had been dealt with, and the grounds on which reduction had been granted. Many Deputy Collectors do not even consult or hear the assessor before reversing or modifying his decision. This should never be the case. It is only reasonable that the assessor should be given an opportunity of explaining the grounds upon which his assessment has been based.

In Calcutta, out of 22,796 persons originally assessed, 2,948 filed petitions, 1,669 of which, or 56·6 per cent., proved successful, against 54·6 per cent. in the previous year. The number of persons finally assessed fell from 22,555 to 22,159. The Collector of Income-tax reports that the number of cases in which objections are supported by closed and adjusted books has increased in a marked degree; but it is not stated to what extent the reductions made in the assessment have been due to the production of these books. The fact that the practice of filing regular accounts is on the increase tends of itself to arouse a suspicion that the mercantile classes are setting themselves to combat the income-tax with civilised weapons, and that many of these accounts are specially prepared for the purpose of being filed in appeals against the assessment. Next year's report should deal specially with the justice or otherwise of this apprehension. If it is well founded, we may expect that in course of time the same mode of self-defence will spread to the mofussil. Such accounts must be carefully scrutinized by the appellate authorities before whom they are produced, and it cannot be assumed that because they are regularly balanced, therefore they necessarily contain a complete and trustworthy record of the owner's transactions. No system of book-keeping can prevent the construction of fictitious accounts and the omission of particular items or classes of items from the main account, and it has long been a tradition of the mercantile classes to observe the strictest secrecy concerning their business affairs. Allowance must be made for these peculiarities in determining the value to be put upon a particular set of the books as a measure of the true financial liability of an assessee to income-tax.

Incidence of tax.

6. Excluding the tax on interest of Government securities and the salaries of officials, the average incidence of income-tax for the whole of Bengal with Calcutta during the past year was Re. 1 to every 18·9 persons, as compared with Re. 1 to every 17·9 persons in the proceeding year. For Bengal without Calcutta the average was Re. 1 to every 37 persons against Re. 1 to every 36 persons in 1889-90. Darjeeling again shows the highest mofussil average, Re. 1 to every 4·7 persons, and Cuttack the lowest, Re. 1 to every 90·5 persons. In Calcutta the average incidence was Re. 1 to every ·36 person, and one person in every 30 was assessed to the tax; the proportion assessed for the whole of Bengal being one in 687 against one in 650 in the previous year. These figures have been calculated from the provisional totals of population issued by the Census Commissioner for India on the 8th May. Those given in the Board's report are based on the population of 1881, and thus exaggerate the incidence of the tax. The same remark applies also in some degree to the figures of incidence for 1889-90, which were necessarily calculated on the population returns of 1881. But until statistical research has advanced far enough in Bengal to enable the normal yearly rate of increase to be accurately determined, no precise comparison can be made between the population statistics of the first year of a new census period and the last year of an old one.

7. In the Board's Report on the income-tax for last year, an interesting statement was given, illustrating the distribution of the yield of the tax as between Calcutta and the rest of Bengal. This is reproduced below, the results of the past year being added. The Lieutenant-Governor desires that this statement may be continued in future reports:—

† Exclusive of the tax on salaries, &c., recovered by the Accountant-General, or the tax on the interest of Government securities.

It will be observed that in 1890-91, as in the preceding year, Calcutta contributed nearly 50 per cent. of the amount collected as the income-tax of the year, excluding penalties, fines, arrears of previous years, the tax on salaries recovered by the Accountant-General, and the tax on the interest of Government securities. Another point to be noticed is that while the yield of the income-tax of 1860 shows a progressive decline for the five years for which it was in force, the proceeds of the present tax, excluding a slight fall due to the inevitable difficulties of a first assessment, exhibit both in Calcutta and the mofussil a steady increase, indicating that the tax has now been established on a permanent footing and may be expected, if discreetly administered, to go on growing with the growth of the incomes which it is intended to touch.

Coercive measures.

8. There were somewhat fewer distress warrants issued than in the previous year, but the number of cases in which actual coercion was resorted to rose from 267 to 346. Sales were most numerous in Rungpore (154), Furreedpore (32), Khulna (29) and Balasore (14). The large increase in Rungpore from 51 to 154 is said to be due to the wilful recusancy of certain assessees who, though well able to pay, allowed their property to go to sale in the belief that they would thus establish a claim to reduction or exemption in future years. In Calcutta no distress warrants were issued during the year.

By rule 13 of the rules made by the Government of Bengal in virtue of the authority delegated by the Government of India under section 38 (1) of the Act, remission is granted at varying rates to private employers who undertake under section 9 (2) to collect from persons in their service. During the past year the number of firms and men of business who entered into agreements under this section fell from 403 to 348, and in the mofussil 13 of them failed to collect the tax after agreement. In Calcutta the numbers fell from 206 to 183, but all those who agreed kept their engagement to collect the tax. The Board conclude from this that the terms* offered under rule 13 were not sufficient to induce employers to undertake the work of collection, and that the scheme for thus simplifying the admi stration of the tax "cannot be said to succeed." It seems to the Lieutenant-Governor that this conclusion is premature. The remission granted has induced a substantial number of firms to enter into and fulfil agreements under the rule in question, and it is possible that the falling off in such agreements during the past year may be only of a temporary nature. It is stated in the Report for 1889-90 that native employers, even when they have a large number of well-paid persons in their service, are unwilling to assist in realising the tax from them. The point is one which might properly be followed up in future reports.

* 5 per cent. for yearly payment.
1 „ monthly „

10. The expenditure incurred in the working of the tax rose from Rs. 1,66,778 in 1889-90 to Rs. 1,83,712 in the year under review, the entire increase being due to the separation in twenty districts of the appointment of Assessor of Income-tax from that of Inspector of Excise. The percentage of expenditure for the whole province was 4·9 as compared with 4·5 in the previous year. This part of the subject is treated by the Board with extreme brevity.

11. Analysing the proceeds of the tax with reference to the various grades of income liable to assessment, it will be seen that the two extremes—the richest and the poorest among those who are liable to pay the tax—contribute most to the total collected. From the first or lowest class of assessees, numbering 57,098, whose yearly incomes range from Rs. 500 to Rs. 750, the State draws Rs. 5,74,754, or 14·5 of the entire tax, while in the highest or fifteenth class the 91 persons who are assessed on incomes of a lakh and over make up Rs. 5,53,328, or 13·9 of the total. Next in order follow 5,535 persons in class VIII with incomes between Rs 2,500 and Rs. 5,000, paying Rs. 4,85,202; and 2,328 persons in class IX, assessed on yearly incomes varying from Rs. 5,000 to Rs. 10,000, contribute Rs. 4,03,307 to the yield of the tax. The smallest contribution (Rs 74,870) comes from the 70 persons in class XIII, with incomes between Rs. 40,000 and Rs. 50,000.

The following statement shows for the last two years the classes from whom income-tax payments exceeding a lakh were levied:—

	1890-91.		1889-90.
	Rs.	Percentage of total collections.	Rs.	Percentage of total collections
Money-lending and changing ...	5,93,311	14·9	5,72,092	14·6
Salaries paid by Government ...	4,00,957	10·1	3,93,059	10
General merchants... ...	3,84,771	9·7	3,63,550	9·3
Dealers in other articles ...	2,04,686	5·1	1,96,671	5
Piece-goods merchants ...	1,50,137	3·7	1,59,973	4 1
Taxable estate-holders ...	1,39,643	3·5	1,28,081	3·2
Barristers, &c.	1,23,705	3·1	1,23,254	3 1
Clerks paid by Companies, &c. ...	1,18,745	3	1,52,828	3·9
Banking	1,09,890	2·7	.....	...
Managers, &c.	1,08,429	2·7	1,06,135	2·7
House proprietors	1,06,113	2·6	1,16,050	2·9
Others	1,00,493	2·5	.....	...
Grain merchants	1,00,483	2 5	1,04,677	2·6
Jute and hemp	.....	...	1,05,606	2·7

It will be seen that "banking," which paid less than a lakh in 1889-90, has regained its position during the last year, while "jute and hemp" have fallen below their former standard and thus disappear from the statement. In the percentages of contribution there is little change The proceeds under the head of "taxable estate-holders," including, it is understood, the proceeds of water and fishing rights and the rent of mining lands, show a satisfactory increase.

12. An examination of the classified statement of incomes (Return No. V) annexed to the Report throws some light upon the distribution of wealth, the employment of capital, and the comparative profits of different trades and professions. Taking for example the three large groups of money-lenders, Government officials, and general merchants, who between them pay more than a third of the tax, it will be seen that the Rs. 5,93,311 paid by the money-lenders is levied from 27,419 persons, while 4 lakhs assessed on officials fall on 7,791 persons, and the Rs. 3,84,771 collected from general merchants are paid by only 1,539 persons. Among general merchants, again, no less than 31 pay on incomes exceeding a lakh, and 32 on incomes between half a lakh and a lakh, while only two officials and five money-lenders attain the distinction of figuring in the former class, and six officials and ten money-lenders appear in the latter. It will further be observed that general merchandise and jute account for a fraction more than one-half of the 91 assessments on incomes of a lakh and over, the other half being distributed in driblets among various trades and professions. The statistics of professional incomes furnish interesting data for estimating the comparative prospects of different occupations, and serve, among other things, to cast doubts upon the popular impression that at least half a dozen barristers in Calcutta make more than a lakh a year by their practice. If the income-tax returns can be relied on, there is only one whose income exceeded a lakh of rupees last year. In 1889-90 there were two, assessed on an average of Rs. 1,36,000 a piece. There seems, however, to be no reason to apprehend any serious decline in the profits of the Indian bar, for no less than seven barristers paid tax on incomes averaging Rs. 85,000, four returned from Rs. 40,000 to Rs. 50,000, and the same number earned between Rs. 30,000 and Rs. 40,000. The average income of the groups of assessees described as "barristers and others" comes to about Rs. 2,500 a year, which contrasts favourably with the earnings of the 12 school-masters, all of whom were assessed in the lowest class, on incomes between Rs. 500 and Rs. 750. Success in the higher branches of the medical profession brings with it a substantial reward, as may be judged from the fact that one doctor was assessed on an income of Rs. 73,000, another on Rs. 40,000 to Rs. 50,000, and two more on incomes between Rs. 30,000 and Rs. 40,000. Engineering also seems to be doing well, seeing that tax was collected on one income of Rs. 2,33,000, and on another between Rs. 40,000 and Rs. 50,000, while the average profits of the profession, as given in these returns, come to Rs. 7,500 a year, or three times as much as the average barrister and nearly six times as much as the average doctor can expect to earn. Turning now to commerce, it will be seen that the profits of some brokers reach a very respectable figure. Two members of this profession were assessed on incomes exceeding a lakh, eight on half a lakh to a lakh, five on incomes between Rs. 40,000 and Rs. 50,000, and seven on Rs. 30,000 to Rs. 40,000, the average of the class being Rs. 3,600. Under the comprehensive head "general merchants," the average income returned amounts to Rs. 9,600, a tolerably high figure when it is remembered how many petty native traders are in the habit of describing themselves as general merchants. The average profits of "agents" calculated from these returns come to Rs. 7,500 a year. Under the head of trade as distinguished from commerce and manufacture, only three incomes were assessed at a lakh and over—one a dealer in metals, and two dealers in dress, the latter paying tax on Rs. 3,79,000 between them. Notwithstanding the large profits made in these two instances, the average profits of the dress business, as shown in the returns, barely exceed Rs 1,800 a year. Eleven newspaper proprietors appear in the returns, of whom one paid income-tax on Rs. 40,000 to Rs. 50,000, two on Rs. 5,000 to Rs. 10,000, one on Rs. 2,500 to Rs. 5,000, and two on Rs. 2,000 to Rs. 2,500, the remaining five being assessed on incomes between Rs. 500 and Rs 750. The average earnings of the eleven, as returned for income-tax purposes, amount to Rs. 6,000, but this figure includes papers under European as well as under native management, and it covers too wide variations of profit to be of any practical value, except as showing what a very small proportion of the large number of newspapers in Bengal make enough to render them liable to income-tax.

13. The payment of income-tax by means of postal money-orders is said to have worked well during the year. Not only does it save the assessees trouble and money, but by keeping them away from the touts who hang about the courts, it tends to diminish the number of frivolous objections. Only one difficulty is referred to, that the money-order coupon does not contain distinct headings for penalty and costs, so that sums paid on these accounts are incorrectly credited as tax. The Board will doubtless consider this point in communication with the Postmaster-General.

14. A bad case of embezzlement occurred in Rajshahye, resulting in a loss of Rs. 688 to Government. This fraud was made possible only by the disregard of a fundamental rule of treasury administration, and by the grossest carelessness in admitting receipts which contained blank spaces expressly left for fraudulent purposes. For both pieces of neglect the treasury officer was to blame, and his name should be reported to the Appointment Department of the Secretariat.

15. In referring to popular feeling on the subject of the income-tax, the Board say "the tax is and always must be unpopular." The enquiries it necessitates "are resented as inquisitorial and oppressive," and are often met by "the fabrication of false accounts" or "a garbled balance sheet." Of the truth of this description the Lieutenant-Governor has no doubt. Nothing but financial necessity can justify the retention of a tax which can only be based on a series of more or less accurate guesses. At the same time the principal hardship is felt by those whose incomes are smallest, and if the assessable minimum could be fixed at Rs. 1,000 instead of Rs. 500, the greater part of the complaints against the tax would be stilled. This change would exempt 70,807 persons out of the 104,886 who paid income-tax during the year, but would only lower the produce of the tax by Rs. 7,87,603 out of Rs. 39,55,807, or 19·9 of the whole receipts. It will be a profound relief both to the administration and the people when the day comes when the Government of India can afford to permit itself the luxury of granting this relaxation.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE STATIONERY DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1890-91.

RESOLUTION—No. 175T.—F.

Darjeeling, the 3rd September 1891.

READ—

Letter No. 519B., dated the 31st July 1891, from the Board of Revenue, submitting the Report on the Administration of the Stationery Department for the year 1890-91.

As in the previous year, the Board have reviewed the report of the Superintendent of Stationery, dealing with the salient features of the year's administration.

2. The following statement, reproduced from the Board's report, shows the value of the stocks, receipts and issues of the year under review, as compared with those of 1889-90:—

	1889-90. Rs.	1890-91. Rs.
Value of stores at the beginning of the year	11,46,468	8,07,666
Ditto received and credited during the year	15,27,658	18,87,799
Total ...	26,74,126	26,95,465
Value of stores issued	18,66,460	20,79,399
Balance ...	8,07,666	6,16,066

These figures are based on the particulars given in the body of the Superintendent's report (paragraph 3), and appear in none of the statements annexed to the report except Appendix C, which only shows the value of the issues according to the different kinds of articles supplied. This defect should be corrected in future reports by the addition of tabular statements which work up to the figures used in the report.

3. There was a rise in the value of the stores both received and issued from the Stationery Office. The increase in "Receipts" occurred chiefly in the purchase of locally-made paper, due to the requirements of the Census Department. The steady decline* in the last few years in the value of stores received from the India Office, due to the policy of substituting local products for European stores, received a slight check in the year under review. This increase (Rs. 5,880) is attributed to larger imports of drawing papers, pencil and copying press materials which could not be obtained locally. Much of the increase under "Issues" is attributed to census work, and to the value of a large quantity of unserviceable stores having been written off the accounts. A considerable increase occurred in the issues to Provincial Governments and to the departments and offices under the Government of India. The real causes of this increase are nowhere indicated in the report, and the explanation furnished by the Board merely amounts to a reiteration of the fact. An examination of the detailed statement promised in paragraph 5 of the Superintendent's report may be expected to throw some light on the subject The largest increase occurred in Bengal (Rs 61,681), and the highest decrease (Rs. 40,418) in Burma.

4. After eliminating from the total issues (Rs. 20,79,399) the cost of the items noted in the margin, aggregating Rs. 15,76,819, which comprise certain paper adjustments and the consumption of Government presses, the actual cost of stationery supplied to Government offices, including State Railways and local bodies, amounts to Rs. 5,02,580, against Rs. 4,94,033 in the previous year. This expenditure does not seem extravagant, when it is remembered that it includes not only the ordinary supplies of pens, ink, and writing paper, but drawing paper, water colours, book-binding materials and articles used for survey or map-drawing in the whole of Upper India. Taking the total number of indenting offices at about 3,250, the average cost to each indenting office comes to Rs. 154. The above figure, showing the cost of stationery supplied to Government offices, is worked out in a general way in paragraph 7 of the Board's report, but the details should in future be clearly shown in an appendix attached to the report. A list of the new offices which indented on the Stationery Office during the year is given in Appendix B, which shows that the number was 70 against 60 added last year. But the statement, to be more accurate and useful, ought also to show the offices which ceased indenting on the Stationery Office. Some of the survey parties must have been closed, while in certain cases the so-called new offices appear to be really old offices under new names.

5. The Superintendent thus summarises the financial results of the year:—"The Imperial Government bears the charges of Rs. 2,10,153 for imported stores (plus the difference in exchange required to adjust the transactions with the Secretary of State), of Rs. 14,04,119 for country-made stores, and of Rs. 8,55,723 for the supplies to departments and offices directly subordinate to it, and to the Census offices. On the other hand, it recovers from local Governments and paying departments, &c, the sum of Rs. 10,51,692 and Rs. 1,10,588 respectively, and holds a stock balance valued at Rs. 6,16,066." The items referred to here are no doubt the principal heads of expenditure, but the Superintendent has omitted to notice some which involve real expenditure, such as the "value of English stores purchased locally" and "value of stores issued to printing presses" for blank books, &c.

6. The income and expenditure of the Stationery Department amounted during the year to Rs. 78,715 and Rs. 70,701 respectively against Rs. 62,240 and Rs 69,568 in 1889-90. The receipts were chiefly derived from an allowance of 5 per cent. commission which the supplier pays to the Stationery Office on the purchase of local stores. Another item of receipt is a charge of 10 per cent. which is realized in addition to the prime cost of the articles from public officers who are not entitled to free supply, but who are supplied on their certifying that the stationery is required for official use only. This allowance is realised to cover the cost of the establishment employed and other incidental charges. The charges are mainly on account of establishment, godown rent, and freight. There was an increase of about Rs. 2,000 in establishment as compared with the previous year, which is due partly to the fact that the Superintendent's office required to be strengthened in some of its branches, and partly to the yearly increments allowed to clerks.

7. In paragraph 13 of his report, the Superintendent refers to the cost of paper of Indian manufacture and of imported English paper. He writes:—

"After a careful examination of the method of comparing the cost of printing paper purchased in India with the estimated cost of obtaining it through the India Office, the Director-General of Stores of the India Office came to the conclusion that the paper could have been supplied cheaper from England. In order that in future the rates charged for locally manufactured paper may be tested with the current prices of English paper, it has been decided that the Superintendent of Stationery shall send samples of paper direct to the Store Department of the India Office seven or eight weeks at least before he calls for tenders, and ascertain, in correspondence with the Director-General of Stores, at what cost similar paper could be obtained in England. The recent establishment of the Bengal Paper Mills at Raneegunge by Messrs. Balmer, Lawrie and Company has increased the competition for Government patronage, and consequently a considerable reduction in the rates of all the Indian Paper Mills for the current year's supply has been effected. There can be little doubt, I think, that the Indian paper now supplied to the Stationery Office is as cheap, if not cheaper, than English paper, and the price of the latter has apparently reached a minimum."

The Lieutenant-Governor fully agrees in the above view. It is certain that in the end it will be cheaper to buy paper in India, and probably it is so now. Competition has already compelled Indian manufacturers to reduce their prices, and will reduce them still further.

8. The operations of the Form Store Department are confined to checking the indents received for forms from Bengal and Assam, obtaining the forms from the Presidency Jail Press, fixing the quality and size of paper to be used, despatching them to indenting officers, and maintaining a reserve to meet emergent demands. 66,871,662 forms were received from the Press, and 68,403,460 were issued in 1890-91 against 74,667,827 received and 71,201,429 issued in 1889-90. The decrease in issues is attributed to the check exercised over indents by the Stationery Office, and the falling off in receipts to certain forms not having been received from the Press until after the close of the year. There have been several complaints regarding the delay in meeting the indents of officers, which, among other reasons, is attributed to the inability of the Presidency Jail Press to keep up with the demands of the Stationery Office for new proofs, and to meet the requirements of the Superintendent of Census Operations. The attention of the Inspector-General of Jails and the Superintendent of Government Printing, Bengal, will be invited to this matter.

9. Appendix H shows the number of standard forms with the number of new forms that have been added and old forms that have been revised during the year. There is, however, reason to believe that in addition to the forms requiring revision, there are many old forms which have been superseded and require to be cancelled. It is necessary that some officer should constantly be on the watch to detect such cases, and His Honour would wish the Superintendent of Stationery to report when he sees one form overlapping another. For instance, the High Court new criminal forms overlap and should supersede several police forms, and the Sonthal Pergunnahs forms are almost identical with ordinary district forms, and there is apparently no justification for keeping up the separate forms. The total cost of printing and paper for the forms supplied to Government offices was Rs. 3,79,877 against Rs. 4,10,018 during 1889-90.

10. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that the system of supplying newspapers and periodicals through the agency of Messrs. King Hamilton and Company, and rubber stamps and ink through the Stationery Office, is working well. The total expenditure incurred on account of subscriptions to newspapers, &c., amounts to Rs. 78,148 against Rs. 70,110 in 1889-90. The expenditure incurred in the purchase of rubber stamps and inks was Rs. 7,104, while under the old arrangement the expenditure averaged more than Rs. 25,000 a year.

11. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction the good work performed by Mr. Drake, who held the appointment of Superintendent of Stationery up to the 22nd January, on which date he was relieved of his duties by the permanent incumbent.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE DACCA DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1890-91.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 8th September 1891.

RESOLUTION No. 1087.

READ—

The Annual General Administration Report of the Dacca Division for the year 1890-91.

Tours.

The tours of the Commissioners in charge of the division during the year only amounted in all to 67 days, of which Mr. Power completed the first 42 days during the months of April, June, July, August and September. The Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that this is far too brief a tour to enable a Commissioner to thoroughly inspect and make himself acquainted with the division. In the present case it is matter for regret that the shortness of the tour resulted in the great district of Backergunge and its treasury and the sub-treasuries not being visited at all, while the sub-divisions of Munshigunge in Dacca, and of Madaripore in the Furreedpore district, were also left uninspected. His Honour has lately seen the two places last mentioned and satisfied himself that they are both of sufficient importance and interest to merit periodical visits from an officer of a Commissioner's position.

As the prescribed period of duration for the tours of district officers and of sub-divisional officers has for some time past been fixed at 90 days and has been generally observed, the amount cannot be regarded as excessive, and yet the Lieutenant-Governor observes a tendency to treat it rather as a maximum than as a minimum, and to grudge even an extra day or two in addition. In Furreedpore, for instance, the total touring amounted to only 93 days, counting 6 days which were spent on tour by an officer who was not then in charge of the district, and which may therefore be properly excluded. In Dacca, again, the minimum was only exceeded by 4 days, and in Maimansingh by 11. Backergunge shows by far the most creditable total, amounting to 114 days. The sub-divisions show even worse results. By a special provision the Sub-divisional Officer of Naraingunge is permitted, owing to the small size of the sub-division and the quantity of work at his head-quarters, to show a minimum of 80 days, but in spite of this his tour amounted to only 76 days. The Commissioner remarks that the deficiency of 4 days appears inconsiderable. The Lieutenant-Governor is unable to agree in this view, and considers that, with such a small minimum prescribed, there was no excuse whatever for disregarding it. The same remark applies to the Madaripore sub-division, where Babu Hari Mohan Sen travelled for only 80 days, while Munshigunge with 90, Bhola with 93, and Kishoregunge with 92, show plainly the tendency above mentioned to grudge the least excess.

All the sub-divisions were duly inspected by the district officers during the year.

Material condition of the people.

2. The accounts given from all parts of the division of the condition of the people are satisfactory, and in this respect Dacca is probably the most favoured division of Bengal. From Backergunge, Mr. Savage writes:—"The material condition of the cultivating class, i.e., the mass of the population, continues to be one of great prosperity." From Maimansingh, Mr. Phillips gives an interesting and more graphic description. He says:—

"Their homesteads are generally comfortable, with a good bit of palan attached. On this are grown vegetables, fruits, tobacco, betelnut, pâns, &c., the surplus produce being taken to market. The cultivators are also well-dressed and look well-nourished. I noticed this well-fed appearance even in the jail, and the criminal population does not display that squalid poverty which is found in many districts. Fish is a chief article of diet, as the cultivators generally catch them in rivers, khals and bheels, and for this no rent is paid. Almost every cultivator has a piran, an umbrella of Manchester make, and shoes. Cheap pottery has been largely superseded by metal utensils, and women wear no ornaments made of any cheaper metal than silver."

From Dacca, again, Mr. Hare writes that the work of artificially raising house sites is largely done by imported labour. He adds:—"When people can afford to pay for such work to be done for them, instead of doing it themselves, they are clearly a long way removed from "extreme poverty." The fact that few of the cultivators become rich is attributed by the Commissioner to the comparatively high standard of living. The cultivator of the Dacca Division gets regularly two cooked meals a day, while in Behar, or even Western Bengal, this is rather the exception than the rule. The curse of indebtedness arises here, as elsewhere in Bengal, from unthrift, extravagance at marriages and on similar occasions, and inconsiderate litigation; but the Lieutenant-Governor is unable to agree with the Collector of Maimansingh that what is required is a State-aided bank. The State has other work to do, which fully occupies the time of its officers. He has had the opportunity recently of impressing upon an assemblage of the chief persons of the district the need for individual effort instead of looking to Government for everything.

The price of common rice rose slightly in Maimansingh during the year owing to expansion in the cultivation of jute, but the rise was fully compensated by a fall in the price of other food products. It is possible that, as reported, the price of rice may rise still higher if the cultivation of jute is persisted in; but it may be presumed that the cultivator knows his own interest in growing a more valuable crop.

Trade and commerce.

3. The course of trade exhibited few striking features during the year. Jute dealings fell off heavily here, as in other parts of Bengal, owing to the collapse in the Calcutta market. The local view now entertained, as ascertained by His Honour personally on his recent tour, is that the crop of 1890 was of unusual magnitude, which resulted by the end of the season in a fall of prices so serious as to be in some places almost disastrous. The effect is naturally to induce a smaller cultivation in the following year. The fish trade appears to be flourishing. It is reported that in the cold season two fish trains run daily from Goalundo to supply Calcutta, while a new trade in salted hilsa, also for the Calcutta market, has arisen in the Perozepore sub-division of Backergunge.

Crime.

4. The total number of reported cases shows an increase of 1,213, from 29,793 in 1889 to 31,036 in 1890. The rise was entirely due to cognizable cases, and is attributed to a large number of prosecutions in nuisance cases, owing to greater activity on the part of the municipal subordinates and of the town police. Rioting shows an increase in the divisional figures, but the figures for the several districts are not given; and, speaking generally, the Lieutenant-Governor notices a want of detail and of care in selecting the figures given in the paragraphs dealing with crime. No doubt it may be said that the subject has been fully treated in the separate report on Criminal Justice, but the Lieutenant-Governor thinks that a good deal more information might have been shown in little more space than is already afforded to the subject of crime in the annual report.

Civil and Criminal Justice.

5. The statistics of civil cases are set forth in the prescribed form in the statements appended to the report, but the remarks recorded above as to crime apply also to the paragraphs which deal with the subject of criminal justice.

The figures showing the total number of civil suits pending from the preceding year, instituted and disposed of, are not understood. It is said that 104,459 suits were instituted and 105,216 disposed of: the pending file should therefore have decreased by 757, whereas it is said to have increased from 19,059 to 20,695, or by 1,636 cases.

The remarks of the Magistrate of Maimansingh on the disinclination of Civil Courts to lighten their own work by making due use of the Criminal Courts are worthy of attention. He writes:—

"The Civil Courts increase their work by their unwillingness to commit to the Criminal Courts persons guilty of flagrant perjury and forgery and other offences against civil justice. If litigants know that the chances are 100 to 1 against their being prosecuted for such offences, they will certainly commit them. Again, it is considered a point of honour, I believe, among persons of wealth or influence, not to obey a Civil Court process—at any rate not the first two or three processes. It is only when they are called upon to show cause why they should not be sent to the fouzdari that they think it compatible with their dignity to come in. And yet, since I have been here, only four persons have been committed by the Civil Courts under section 174, Penal Code, and of those three were committed by the Judge. This delay in coming in causes the utmost inconvenience and harassment to the parties.

"Again, though failure to give a proper rent receipt is a criminal offence, Munsifs never send such cases to the Criminal Courts. They receive receipts written on scraps of dirty country paper, and thereby needlessly increase their labours tenfold. If they would impound the receipts and send them to the Collector now and again, they would find their labours considerably lightened."

The figures quoted by the Commissioner under the head of Criminal Justice, regarding the recovery of stolen property, correspond with those given in paragraph 70 of the Annual Police Report for the province. The test is not considered one of the best of the efficiency of the Police, as percentages are so much affected by a few cases of high value easily detected. But, so far as the test goes for comparison with other divisions, it shows that in respect of the percentage of cases of property recovered to property lost, Dacca was the worst division, and in respect of the value of the same, it was the worst division but two. The results given of prosecutions in cognizable cases show a little improvement. In Sessions cases the districts of Maimansingh, Backergunge, and Furreedpore stand 13th, 14th, and 30th respectively in the list of districts. Complete figures are given showing the number of cases disposed of and the number of persons convicted and acquitted by the various Benches and Honorary Magistrates of the division. The results appear to have been only fairly satisfactory, 3,909 cases having been completed, in which 2,096 persons were convicted and 2,117, or over 50 per cent., were acquitted. It would be useful if similar figures were given in a tabular form showing the work done by the Stipendiary Magistrates, and orders will issue in a separate Resolution regarding the statistical information which the Lieutenant-Governor wishes to see included in these reports. The attendance of Honorary Magistrates has in many cases, notably in Jamalpore, Haridaspore and Madaripore, been irregular, one reason assigned being that a large number of the Magistrates are Pleaders, who presumably have much work of their own to attend to, and may also be connected in many instances with the cases under trial. The names of such Magistrates who are frequently absent when put upon the roster should be removed from the list.

Registration.

6. A falling off in the receipts, accompanied by an increase of expenditure, is reported. The Lieutenant-Governor desires that reference may be made in future reports to the amounts paid and received or refused by the zemindars on account of landlord's fees, as prescribed by sections 12, 13, and 15 of the Bengal Tenancy Act VIII of 1885.

Land Revenue Administration.

7. The collections amounted to Rs. 34,72,481, being 92·9 per cent. on the total dues (including both arrear and current), which are stated to have been Rs. 37,33,918. Fuller statistics might with advantage be given. The subject has apparently been slightly dealt with in the present report owing to its having been fully discussed in the Annual Land Revenue Administration Report submitted to the Board of Revenue, which is separately laid before and reviewed by Government. The statistics given as to the working of the certificate procedure are also insufficient. Information should be given showing for each district the different departments for which certificates were made, and the success with which they met, namely, how many were realized on the first issue, how many on attachment, and how many on actual sale or by warrant of arrest. It should also be reported whether any persons, and if so how many, were actually sent to the civil jail for default.

The partition work of the division shows that 121 partitions were effected during the year, against 93 in 1889 90. But in consequence of the number of new cases the arrear list is heavier at the close of the year than at the commencement. There is nothing to show that the officers engaged were fully employed or did all that could be expected of them. A separate report should be submitted through the Board, giving the names of the Special Deputy Collectors, and showing specifically the work done by each. The information as to settlements is extremely meagre.

Attached estates.

8. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Commissioner that the management of the Dakhin Shabazpore estate reflects credit on the Manager, Babu Sasi Kumar Dutta. The same cannot be said of all the other estates, especially those of Talipabad in the Dacca district, under the management of Babu Kasi Chandra Rai, and of Dhankora in the Maimansingh district. The former shows a realization of Rs. 12,248 only out of a demand of Rs. 17,875 and an arrear balance of Rs. 30,112, leaving a balance at the end of the year now reported on of Rs. 35,739. In the latter estate there was at the commencement of the year an arrear of Rs. 2,70,228, and a current demand of Rs. 1,32,419, out of which only Rs. 1,28,108 were realized. It is not stated for how long these enormous arrears have been accumulating. The Lieutenant-Governor has taken steps to have the names of the Managers of all Wards' Estates reported to Government.

Excise.

9. Paragraph 52 of the report mentions, as one of the administrative changes of the division, the introduction of the distillery system throughout the district of Maimansingh only; but this appears to conflict with the statement under the head of Excise, that the complete introduction of the distillery system throughout the division formed the chief feature of the Excise administration. Considering how important a change this was, the statistics given as to its financial effect are insufficient. The report shows that the general result was favourable, as the receipts show a large increase of revenue from country spirits from Rs. 1,88,265 to Rs. 2,11,699; but it is not stated how much of this income arises from still-head duty and how much from license fees, nor is any information given as to the number of shops in either this or previous years.

Money-orders.

10. Remittances of money by postal order show an excellent development, the number of orders having increased from 293,228 in 1889-90 to 369,024 in 1890-91. The money value of these orders was Rs. 79,95,964, against Rs. 64,81,393 in the previous year—an increase of no less than Rs. 15,14,571. The money-orders paid in the division showed a similar increase of Rs. 16,12,000.

Dispensaries and hospitals.

11. There are 32 dispensaries in the division, of which 11 are managed by municipalities, 18 by private bodies, 2 by private managers, and 1 by the Backergunge District Board. Of these, 18 gave relief to both in and out-door patients. Figures might with advantage have been given showing the average number of out-door and in-door patients for each dispensary and the cost of management.

The Lieutenant-Governor notices with great pleasure the handsome offer of Nawab Ahsanullah Khan Bahadur, C.I.E., to subscribe Rs. 50,000 as an endowment to, and of Raja Sreenath Roy to subscribe Rs. 10,000 for the purchase of a site for, a female hospital at Dacca with private wards and dispensary in connection with the Dufferin Memorial Fund. Raja Sreenath Roy has also provided funds for an eye hospital, which it is expected will be taken in hand during the present year.

12. Under this head statistics should be given showing for each district the demand, collections, and arrears, with an explanation of any change that may have been made in the rate of assessment or in the amount of expenditure. Figures should also be supplied showing the number of certificates that have been issued for realization of arrears and with what results. It appears from the figures previously submitted by the Commissioner in accordance with Government Circular No 30, dated the 29th November 1871, that there was a total demand of Rs. 55,232-3-10, and that Rs. 52,999-9-3 were collected during the year. There was a fall of 2 annas, from Re. 1-8 to Re. 1-6, per cent. on the land revenue in the rate of assessment of this cess in the Backergunge district.

13. In conclusion, the Lieutenant-Governor desires to express his acknowledgments to Mr. Power, who held charge of the division up to the 30th November 1890, and to the District Officers for their administration of their charges under unusual pressure owing to the census operations and other causes. The lamented death of Mr. Boxwell, who was Commissioner of the Division for the latter part of the year, has already formed the subject of a special obituary notice in the Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0·6° higher; and finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

Explanation.—..... indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 8th September 1891.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, THE 5TH OF SEPTEMBER 1891.

At the close of the previous week pressure had become decidedly uniform over the northern half of the Bay, and pressure was also becoming relatively low along the North Madras coast, the lowest readings being reported from Vizagapatam and Coconada. Pressure was also somewhat low over parts of North Bengal and Assam, but owing to the distribution of pressure over the Bay, little or no monsoon current was drifting over Bengal, and rainfall had become to a great extent absent. On the 30th pressure was falling along the Madras coast and in Bengal, while it was rising rather rapidly in Burma, so that the differences of pressure over the Bay became decidedly larger than they had been, and pressure was still lowest at Coconada and Vizagapatam. There was also slight indraught shown in the wind directions towards a low-pressure area off the west coast in the northern half of the Bay, and it was evident that squally unsettled weather existed over the western part of the northern half of the Bay on this date. With this distribution of pressure rainfall was again practically absent in Bengal. By the morning of the 31st a distinct barometric depression had been formed in the west of the Bay, the centre of which was to the east of Gopalpore and apparently at some little distance from the coast. The conditions in the south-west of the province on this day were rather more favourable, and moderate rain was reported in South and Central Bengal and in Orissa and at some of the stations in North Behar. On 1st September the centre of the small depression had advanced in a north-westerly direction and was opposite or near Pooree, but it had not intensified to any extent and was still accompanied by rather feeble winds, though there was a complete cyclonic circulation. With this northerly advance conditions again became rather more favourable for rainfall in Bengal, and fairly general but light rain was received in Orissa, South-West, East and North Bengal, and a few showers in Chutia Nagpur. From the 1st to the 2nd the depression filled up decidedly, and on the 2nd it simply existed as a very shallow low-pressure area extending over the north of the Bay, Orissa, and part of South-West Bengal with a centre near the north-west angle of the Bay, round which there was an extremely feeble cyclonic circulation of winds, and again the winds were very light in force. Scattered rainfall was reported over the greater part of the province on the 2nd, but the falls were generally very light. On the 3rd the feeble low-pressure area in the north west of the Bay had quite disappeared, and winds became of normal monsoon direction, and on this day rainfall was general over the whole province, though usually rather light. On the 4th again a slight low-pressure area commenced to form in the north-west angle of the Bay, and winds showed slight indraught towards a point between Saugor Island and False Point, while rainfall began to fall off both in area and in heaviness. From the 4th to the 5th, however, very heavy rain fell over the north and north-west of the Bay and the neighbouring parts of South-West Bengal and Orissa; Saugor Island reporting 5·93 inches of rain and Contai 4·65 inches, and with the heaviness of the rainfall the depression in the north-west angle of the Bay distinctly deepened, and on the morning of the 5th, a very distinct but small and feeble storm existed near the Sandheads, which was accompanied by the usual cyclonic circulation of winds, though the wind force in all cases was light.

It will therefore be seen that rainfall during the week has been light though fairly well distributed. Almost the only heavy falls indeed occurred in connection with the depression on the 4th and 5th in the extreme south-western districts of the province, and in all districts practically except these, rainfall has again been below the normal during the week.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the whole week has been below the normal, but the defects have been small at the northern and eastern stations, where they average about 0·02″ to 0·03″; they are rather larger at the western stations, where they equal about 0·03″ to 0·04,″ and they are largest in the north-west angle of the Bay and the neighbouring parts of South-West Bengal and Orissa, where they are from 0·05″ to 0·07;″ the largest defects being 0·072″ at Saugor Island, 0·067″ at False Point, and 0·064″ at Balasore. This tendency to low pressure in the north-west angle of the Bay has existed almost continuously for many weeks.

Temperature.—Owing to the lightness of the rainfall during the week, the mean temperature has been above the normal in all districts. The excess in all districts except Orissa equals from about 1° to 2°, but in Orissa, where there has been fairly good rainfall, the excess only equals 0·2°. For the whole province the mean temperature for the week has been about 1·5° in excess of the normal. In Assam the excess has equalled 1·6°.

Rainfall.—Has in all divisions been less than the normal for the week; the defects in Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, and South-West Bengal have been moderate only, but in East and North Bengal and in Behar they have been large. The falls in Chutia Nagpur, Orissa, South-West and East Bengal have averaged from about one and-three-quarters to two inches, those in Behar about one inch, while in North Bengal they have only equalled 0·87 inch. In the case of Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, and South-West Bengal, the defects from normal amounts have been from about half an inch to one inch, in Behar they have equalled about one and-a-half inches, in East Bengal about two inches, while North Bengal has received three inches less rainfall than usual during the week. The defects therefore in East and South Bengal and in Behar have been serious, for the falls have only equalled from a little less than half the normal in South Behar to less than a fourth of the normal in North Bengal.

The following smaller divisions have received very defective falls during the week:—Burdwan, Bankoora, Beerbhoom, Moorshedabad, Jessore, Khoolna, Chittagong, Chittagong Hill Tracts, Backergunge, Noakholly, Furreedpore, Comillah,—all in North Bengal except Darjeeling, Purneah, Sarun, Patna, and Sonthal Pergunnahs.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 5th of September 1891:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o, overcast; g, gloomy; t, thunder; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; ≤, lightning.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat of source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets; &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 550 royal octavo pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G. Vol IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of "O." The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in seven volumes during the current year; but an eighth volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 3 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set (exclusive of the Index for which a separate charge will be made).

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 45 in India and 3 guineas in England. The period of registration of subscribers' names will expire on the 1st October.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION No. 324.

The 15th September 1891.

THE subjoined annual accounts and report of the District Road Committee of the district of the Sonthal Pergunnahs for the year 1890-91, together with the remarks thereon of the Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division, are published for general information.

F. J. JOHNSTONE,

Joint-Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 43P.W., dated Dumkah, the 25th June 1891.

From—The Deputy Commissioner of the Sonthal Pergunnahs,
To—The Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division.

I HAVE the honour to submit herewith Annual Accounts and Report of this District Road Fund for the year ending 31st March 1891.

2. The district is a non-cess one. Its income is derived from an annual grant made by Government. Here is no District Board. The power of the Chairman is exercised by me.

3. The only original work commenced and completed during the year was an inspection bungalow at Mosanjore on the 83rd mile, Bhagulpore and Soory road. Two bridges, one at Nunhochee, 19th mile, Dumkah and Rampore Hât road, and the other at Ero near Katikund, 15th mile, Dumkah and Pakour road, were only commenced during the year under report. They will be completed by the middle of the current year 1891-92.

4. All roads in the printed schedule underwent repairs during the year.

5. We have 749 miles of roads in our charge : 183 of them are metalled and the rest, 566 miles, are unmetalled. The average cost of maintaining a mile of metalled road is Rs. 70, and that of an unmetalled one is Rs. 18 a mile.

6. Almost all the buildings in our charge have undergone repairs. The inspection bungalow at Deoghur and the staging-bungalows at Sahibgunge and Rajmehal want thorough repairs during the current year, as reported by the Sub-divisional Officers, Deoghur and Rajmehal. Provision will be made for their repairs in the current year's supplementary budget estimate, which will be shortly submitted for sanction.

7. Village roads.—There are three of them in the district. I append a list below showing allotments made to, and expenditure incurred on, them in the year ;—

Number of road.	Name of road.	Allotments. Rs.	Expenditure. Rs.
13	Deoghur village roads	200	210
22	Benagoria ditto	175	98
28	Village chord, Rampore Hât road	80	76

8. Arboriculture.—We have not planted any new trees on our roadsides during the year. Those we had were taken care of. We have nurseries in charge of chowkidars at all inspection-bungalows.

9. Establishment.—The work establishment consists of one District Engineer, one overseer, and one sub-overseer, and the office, of one accountant and one clerk. Both the former and the latter worked well,

No. 97L.W., dated Bhagulpore, the 20th July 1891.

From—C. C. QUINN, Esq., Offg. Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit the annual accounts and report of the District Road Fund of the Sonthal Pergunnahs district for the year ending the 31st March 1891.

2. The Sonthal Pergunnahs is a non-cess district, and the Government annually sanctions a grant-in-aid of Rs. 34,000 for public works.

3. The following table shows the lengths of metalled and unmetalled roads maintained, and their cost per mile :—

METALLED ROADS.			UNMETALLED ROADS.
Miles.	Expenditure.	Cost per mile.	Miles.	Expenditure.	Cost per mile.
183	Rs. 13,100	70·0	566	Rs. 10,300	18·0

4. The only original work completed during the year is an inspection-bungalow on the 83rd mile of Bhagulpore-Soory road. Two masonry bridges, one over the Nunhochi stream on the 19th mile of Dumkah-Rampore Hât road, and the other over the Ero nala on the 15th mile of Dumkah-Pakour road, were commenced in the latter part of the year, and will be completed during the current year, i.e., 1891-92.

5. Almost all the buildings underwent repairs at a cost of Rs 1,424.

6. The aggregate length of the village roads in this district amounts to 17½ miles, for which Rs. 455 were allotted for their maintenance, and the sum of Rs. 384 was spent on them.

7. No new trees were planted along the roadsides during the year under review. Those planted in previous years were maintained. In this district there are nurseries in the charge of chowkidars at all inspection-bungalows.

8. The expenditure on account of public works, exclusive of establishment, was Rs. 29,567, and the cost of work establishment amounts to Rs. 6,784, or Rs. 22·9 per cent. of the outlay on works. The income of the district, for the year under report, exclusive of balance of the previous year and suspense account, is Rs. 46,856, against an outlay on account of work establishment of Rs. 6,784, that is, Rs. 14·4 per cent. work establishment, so that the outlay on work establishment is within the limit laid down in the Cess Act, which is 25 per cent. on income exclusive of balance of previous year.

BAY OF BENGAL—ORISSA COAST.

Entrance to Dhumrah river—Fairway buoy replaced.

THE Fairway buoy which had broken adrift (see Notice to Mariners No. 147, dated 17th August) has been replaced 150 yards to the southward of its former position in 12 feet at low water spring tides.

The Port Officer, Chandbally, recommends that in entering the river by the South Channel, the Fairway buoy in line with D buoy S. W. b W. ½ W. (magnetic); or the D buoy slightly open to the northward of the Fairway buoy, gives the best water.

The F buoy in the North Channel will be removed, as the channel is reported to be too narrow for navigating purposes.

The Report on the administration of the Customs Department for the official year 1890-91.

1. Customs Receipts.—The following table shows the gross and net customs duty, inclusive of that on imported salt, collected in Bengal during the past five years:—

	1886-87.	1887-88.	1888-89.	1889-90.	1890-91.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.

The increase in the year under review amounts to Rs. 11,54,361, and the total duty collected is now 87 per cent. of what it was previous to the abolition of the general import duties in 1881-82. The increased import duty on general merchandise is the result of larger realizations from spirits and kerosine oil. The imposition of a duty has not stopped the steady growth of trade in the latter article. The most marked increase in the year has been in the revenue derived from rice exported to foreign ports, due to a good demand, plentiful crops, and a low local price.

2. Value of trade.—The following statement shows for the purpose of comparison the value of the export and import trade during the last two years, classified under the three main heads of goods, treasure, and Government transactions, and also the total trade of the Province, both export and import:—

	Goods.		Treasure.		Government transactions.		Total.		Increase.	Decrease.
	1889-90.	1890-91.	1889-90.	1890-91.	1889-90.	1890-91.	1889-90.	1890-91.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
I.—Export trade	46,70,04,587	45,09,27,765	85,74,302	1,35,45,678	2,74,195	5,20,590	47,58,53,174	46,49,94,033	...	1,08,59,141
II.—Import „	30,06,74,493	31,02,23,350	1,47,78,066	4,18,44,740	97,63,873	97,34,492	32,54,20,634	36,78,02,582	4,24,81,948	.....
III.—Total Trade of Province ..	76,78,79,082	76,72,51,115	2,33,52,368	5,53,90,418	1,00,48,068	1,02,55,082	80,12,73,808	83,28,96,615	3,16,22,807	...

It will be observed that, excluding Government transactions, the total value of exports in the foreign and coasting trade amounted to Rs. 46,44,73,443, as compared with Rs. 47,55,78,979 in the previous year—a decrease of Rs. 1,11,05,536. In the foreign trade alone the decrease in the value of exports of Indian produce amounted to nearly 2½ crores, which is attributable both to smaller shipments and a heavy fall in price of some of the principal articles exported. This is a natural result of the high rate of exchange which prevailed during part of the year.

3. The total value of imports rose from Rs. 31,56,52,561 in 1889-90 to Rs. 35,81,68,090 in the year under review—an increase of Rs. 4,25,15,529. The total value of the trade of the Province, inclusive of treasure, but exclusive of Government transactions, shows an increase of Rs. 3,14,09,993 over the figures for 1889-90, but this is covered by the increased value of treasure imported and exported, which shows an advance of Rs. 3,20,37,960.

4. The value of imports on Government account is almost the same as in the preceding year, and amounted to Rs. 97,34,492. The exports made by Government rose from Rs. 2,74,195 to Rs. 5,20,590; foreign stores, principally arms ammunition and drugs, were re-exported to a much greater extent, and the exports of Indian produce, consisting chiefly of copper coin shipped to the Straits and Ceylon, increased by nearly a lakh.

5. Calcutta. Foreign trade.—The bulk of the foreign trade of Calcutta is carried on with the United Kingdom, but the percentage, which in 1889-90 was the lowest for ten years, has again declined, and now stands at 57·86 per cent. The total trade with China shows an advance in percentage owing to increased trade with the Treaty Ports, and this country continues to stand second in the list. The United States comes third. Germany has again advanced, the percentage having risen from 2·46 to 4·08 per cent. Australia and Ceylon have advanced and taken up a position above France.

The proportion of the foreign trade of Calcutta carried through the Suez Canal to the total trade stands at 64·4 per cent., as compared with 63·7 per cent. in the year 1889-90; the total value of the trade showing an increase of over 1½ crore, and being the highest recorded since the opening of the canal.

6. The following table shows the fluctuations that took place in shipping during the past two years:—

Arrivals and Departures.

	No.	Tonnage
1889-90.
Steam vessels	521	961,104
Sailing „	554	824,724
Native craft	42	6,111
1890-91.
Steam vessels	548	1,041,060
Sailing „	416	711,233
Native craft	28	4,978

Account is here taken of those steamers only which arrive and leave without touching at any other Indian port. The continued decrease in the number of sailing vessels, which fell from 603 in 1888-89 to 554 in 1889-90, is very noticeable. In the past year the reduction of 108 sailing vessels with a tonnage of 113,491 is to some extent counterbalanced by an increase of 27 steamers carrying 79,956 tons. The direct trade with Germany shows an increase of 13 steamers and 11 sailing vessels, representing a tonnage of 49,726. At the same time the number of vessels sailing direct to London declined by sixty owing, it is believed, mainly to the rise in the dock charges brought about by the strikes of 1889, which have induced many continental merchants to make their shipments through Hamburg and Antwerp instead of through London.

7. Imports.—The total value of imports, including treasure, into Calcutta from foreign countries rose from Rs. 26,24,11,018 in 1889-90 to Rs. 29,90,13,666 in 1890-91, the increase in merchandise amounting to Rs. 92,50,486 and in treasure to Rs. 2,73,52,162. The total imports are higher than in any preceding year.

	1889-90.	1890-91.
	Rs.	Rs.
Cotton goods (including twist and yarn)	13,96,56,378	14,57,75,345
Metals	2,46,68,410	2,36,10,461
Mineral oils	1,18,08,390	1,25,55,206
Machinery	74,07,618	81,27,985
Woollen goods	70,11,664	75,10,294
Sugar	28,40,197	61,90,073
Salt	73,38,054	59,21,724
Liquors	49,00,323	47,88,915
Apparel	41,33,901	42,28,332
Hardware	30,88,318	32,41,100

Cotton goods form 56 per cent. of the total foreign import trade of Calcutta. Notwithstanding an increase of more than 42 lakhs in the imports of cotton piece-goods, as distinguished from twist and yarn, the Collector remarks that the statistics of the last five years show no signs of marked expansion in this trade. The rapid rise in the value of silver, brought about by American legislation, disorganized the piece-goods business, as it did not affect all engaged in it to an equal degree. Importers who had fixed the exchange for forward delivery lost heavily owing to the bazar dealers catching at any pretext to repudiate their contracts; while merchants who had sold forward without fixing the exchange made a large profit by the rise. On the other hand, the bazar dealers, men of small capital, working an enormous business chiefly on credit, saved themselves by rejecting their contracts, and are said not to have done badly on the whole

The importation of metals declined by about 10½ lakhs. There was a decline of 38¾ per cent. in the importations of copper. The importations of galvanized iron have steadily advanced, showing how much more largely iron is being used in the construction of buildings than formerly. Under this head it would be interesting, if possible, to trace the effect of the growing preference for corrugated iron roofs in Eastern Bengal; but it is not quite clear how the iron thus used appears in the returns, whether as galvanized or sheet iron, or under both of these designations. The trade in mineral oils continues to show steady expansion. The quantity of sugar imported during the year under review was unusually heavy owing to low prices on the Continent and the sudden high rate of exchange here. The increase is in beet sugar from United Kingdom, Austria, and Germany. The bounty system in Europe has led to an enormous production there, and it is almost hopeless to expect any revival in the export trade of Bengal sugar. There was a decrease in the total import of salt, though the amount of duty collected, including that of salt taken out of bond, rose to the extent of over 3 lakhs. Mr. Armstrong writes that "the steadily increasing introduction of crushed salt in competition with Liverpool salt continues to be a most interesting and noteworthy feature of the salt trade." He thinks that this crushed salt will in time succeed in achieving a large market, and the Liverpool salt will gradually disappear. The subject will be discussed more fully in reviewing the report of the Salt Department.

Under the head of liquors there is a decrease of 3 lakhs in malt liquors, an increase of nearly 1¾ lakhs in spirits, and a very slight increase in wines and liqueurs. The decrease in malt liquors is attributed to the very heavy importations of the year 1889-90, which probably exceeded the demand of that year. The imports of Bass's beer continue to decline, and the attempt to displace the light German beers has not yet proved successful. The Collector again refers to the inferior quality of a large quantity of the spirits imported. The increase in the importation of spirits is due to the recovery of brandy from its fall in the previous year. As regards wines, Mr. Armstrong writes:—"A new and objectionable feature in the wine trade has been the importing, under the name of port, sherry, and other wines, of liquors which, from their price, can only be concoctions of cheap German spirit, coloured and flavoured to resemble the wines they are called after."

It is satisfactory to observe that the imports of coal have largely declined, and that the exports now exceed the imports. Country coal is used by all the large steamer firms, and out of 286,761 tons taken on board during the past year, only 2,244 tons were English. This trade may be expected to expand still further with the opening out of new coal-fields, the extension of railways, and the reduction of mineral freights. As regards other articles of importation, it is noted that there was a falling off in the importation of matches owing to a rise in price, and that the trade in Japanese matches is expanding rapidly. The imports from the United Kingdom declined in value from Rs. 5,26,597 to Rs. 2,48,459. Quinine, which is now abnormally cheap, shows the highest figures yet recorded, 25,757lbs. being imported, chiefly of Howard's manufacture. The number of umbrellas imported was 1,871,418, of which the United Kingdom supplied all but 77. The imports of the past year, though larger than those of 1889-90, represent a considerable falling off from the 2,621,745 imported in 1888-89 It is curious to observe that the imports of China tea, which stood at 158,323lbs. in 1886-87 and fell to 39,188lbs. in 1888-89, rose to 58,008lbs. during the past year. The trade is of little importance, but it would be interesting to know what becomes of this tea and who consumes it. Natives are known to prefer China tea to Indian, but they use tea only as an occasional luxury; and it seems hardly likely that they would take as much as 58,000lbs. Possibly some of it, in spite of Afghan trade restrictions, still finds its way beyond the north-western frontier of India.

8. Exports.—The total value of exports from Calcutta to foreign countries, including treasure, declined from Rs. 38,18,78,636 in 1889-90 to Rs. 35,93,66,166 in 1890-91, the decrease in merchandise amounting to Rs. 2,28,68,548, and the increase in treasure Rs. 3,56,078—a net decrease of Rs. 2,25,12,470.

The falling off was confined to free goods, and the principal items of decrease were—raw jute, 82 lakhs; seeds, 65½ lakhs; dyeing materials, 43¾ lakhs; opium, 39¼ lakhs; jute manufactures, 30¾ lakhs; and raw cotton, 26½ lakhs. The following statement shows the variations more clearly:—

	1889-90.	1890-91.
	Rs.	Rs.
Raw jute	7,26,67,026	6,44,78,477
Opium	6,37,25,170	5,97,99,265
Tea	5,12,39,079	5,03,78,662
Oil-seeds	4,13,04,984	3,46,22,681
Rice	2,48,74,668	3,13,06,827
Indigo	2,49,05,266	2,05,11,354
Hides and skins . .	1,84,21,934	2,07,04,763
Raw cotton	1,13,68,812	87,28,419
Wheat	60,11,810	50,37,082

The exports of jute advanced in quantity, but fell in value. Prices were high in the previous year, and ryots increased their sowings, so that the crop in the year under review was the largest ever known. Owing, however, to unseasonable rain and floods, the quality was inferior and prices fell heavily—in some cases from Rs. 5 to Rs. 1-8 a maund—a state of things calculated to discourage cultivation. Although prices in the jute districts fell 70 per cent., the decline in the English market was not so marked. In March 1890 good medium jute was selling in Dundee at £14 per ton, and at the end of the year, after the low quality of the crop had declared itself, the price still stood at £11-15.

The exports of tea amounted to 104,491,177lbs., being an advance, in comparison with 1889-90, of about 2¾ million pounds, but the average declared value was only 7 annas 8 pies per pound, as against 8 annas 1 pie the previous year. The following statement shows the importations of tea into the United Kingdom during the last two years : —

	lbs.	lbs.
India	96,693,000	101,557,000
Ceylon	31,191,000	40,012,000
China	93,208,000	77,174,000

There was a great increase in consumption of tea in the United Kingdom during the year 1890, the total stock of tea at the end of 1890 being nearly 12 million pounds less than at the close of 1889. This increased consumption was undoubtedly due to the reduction of duty. Indian tea is evidently gaining ground in the United Kingdom as compared with China teas. It is also satisfactory to note that the exports to Australia have increased by more than 1¾ million pounds, and that Indian tea seems likely to gain a firm footing there.

In this section of his report the Collector tells a flattering tale about the effect of a rise in the value of silver on the prospects of the tea industry, and sets himself to persuade the tea-planting community that they have in the long run little to fear from a rise in exchange, whether sudden or gradual. He abandons the theoretical argument that silver being only a commodity, when the price of silver rises the price of other commodities, including tea, will rise also, and so an equilibrium will be established and the same number of pounds of tea will purchase enough gold to provide the planter with the same number of rupees. He admits that the effect of a rise in exchange will be that the planter will get fewer rupees for his tea, but he argues that his expenditure will be proportionately less, and his profits therefore will remain the same. It is to be feared, however, that this statement does not agree with the tea planter's experience. It is true that he will pay less for machinery, European stores, and other articles purchased in England. It is also true that as all tea-growing countries use a silver currency, the tea planter is free from the special disadvantages which hamper the Indian wheat-grower in his attempt to compete with rivals in gold-using countries. But as the bulk of the planter's expenditure is incurred in India, where the value of the rupee remains unaltered or rises very slowly, he cannot protect himself by reducing his payments for wages and articles produced locally. In the case supposed, then, it would seem that the gardens which fail year after year to gain the normal profit of capital must sooner or later go out of cultivation, and only those will survive in which the cost of production is cheapest. It cannot be assumed that the contraction of output, caused by the closure of the more expensive gardens in India, will so reduce the total supply as to cause the price of tea to rise to a figure at which it will pay to reopen and work those gardens. The sterling price of tea in London is the resultant of many causes, affecting several sources of supply, and Indian tea-planters have to reckon with other competitors, and notably with the planters of Ceylon, who have within the last few years shown great energy in pushing their tea on the London market and bringing it to the notice of the public.

The exports of rice rose from 5,366,807 cwt. to 7,066,443 cwt., the increase being chiefly due to larger supplies drawn by Ceylon. The United Kingdom took 18 per cent. more than usual owing to the failure of the Japanese rice crop. The imposition of a heavy import duty killed the Italian demand. The indigo crop was the smallest since 1879, the total production in 1890 being estimated at only 95,000 maunds, a sagainst 1,44,718 maunds in 1889. It is not clear why actual figures cannot be given in the report. Prices, though higher than last year, were lower than in the three previous years.

The exports of raw cotton fell from 452,134 cwt. to 355,434 cwt., which the Collecter attributes to the poorness of the crop and the interference with business caused by the sudden rise of exchange. It may be doubted, however, whether these causes alone fully account for the decline of the exports from Calcutta, which seems rather to be due to the fact that since the opening of the Rajputana Railway, Bombay has gone on attracting an increasing share of the cotton trade of Upper India, and the opening of the Indian Midland Railway has given Bombay a still further advantage. Independently of the fact that the distance by rail to Bombay is less, that port offers a larger and more advantageous market to producers; the freights to Europe are lower; and steamers bound for continental ports are available at shorter intervals than in Calcutta. The following statistics taken from the reports of the Chamber of Commerce illustrate the course of competition between the two ports:—

Receip's of Upper India cotton in Bombay and Calcutta.

		1887-88.	1888-89.	1889-90.	1890-91.
		Cwt.	Cwt.	Cwt.	Cwt.
Calcutta	...	433,221	450,003	615,825	317,342
Bombay	...	749,729	1,045,232	1,279,743	1,124,393
Total	...	1,182,950	1,495,235	1,895,568	1,441,735

Adding to the Calcutta returns for 1890-91 10,000 bales or 35,714 cwt., being the estimated outturn of cotton produced in Tipperah, Dacca, and Assam, which is necessarily exported by Calcutta, the total receipts of the past year derived from mercantile sources of information come to 353,056 cwt.—a figure which corresponds closely to the Custom House returns.

There has been a further decline in the export of wheat of 13 per cent., and the trade does not appear to be likely to expand at present. It is noticeable that there are now nearly 5¾ million cwt. of oil-seeds exported and only 1⅛ million cwt. of wheat.

The exports of opium show an increase from 55,985 chests to 57,597 chests, or 2·8 per cent.; but there was a heavy decline in average declared value, the price per chest being Rs. 1,038, against Rs. 1,138 in 1889-90.

The exports of silk were the lowest for five years, owing partly to the French demand having fallen off, and partly to the prices asked for coarse Bengal silk having risen, thus shutting it out from some of the uses to which it was formerly applied.

9. Treasure.—The advance in the net imports of gold was over 48 lakhs, and in that of silver was 2 crores 21¾ lakhs. The large imports were from the United Kingdom, China, Straits Settlements, and Australia, and are attributed to the fluctuations that occurred during the year in the value of silver. It is noticed that this is the first year of large direct importations of gold from Australia.

10. Calcutta. Coasting Trade.—After a fall in two successive years, the total value of the coasting trade rose by 1 crore and 57 lakhs, of which 78 lakhs were in imports. The whole of this increase was in Indian products, imports and exports of foreign merchandise having both declined. The trade is now higher than it has been since the abnormally high figures of 1877-78, which were due to heavy exports of grain at the time of the Madras famine.

11. Chittagong Port.—The total value of the trade of Chittagong, though lower than that of the preceding year, is above the average of the previous four years. The decline is chiefly due to the falling off of jute from Naraingunge, which comes to Chittagong for re-export to foreign countries. The total trade amounts in value to 2 crores and 87 lakhs.

12. The Orissa Ports.—The following statement shows the trade of the Orissa ports during the past two years:—

				1889-90.	1890-91.
				Rs.	Rs.
		Balasore.
Foreign	...	...	...	4,37,513	1,75,709
Coasting	...	...	...	93,03,035	99,96,542
		Cuttack.
Foreign	...	...	...	13,15,803	21,90,555
Coasting	...	...	...	4,39,940	8,66,418
		Pooree.
Foreign	...	...	...	39,842	1,82,561
Coasting	...	...	...	1,76,934	3,60,326

These figures show that there has been again a general improvement in the sea-borne trade of all three ports. The aggregate value of the entire trade rose 18 per cent. compared with 1889-90.

13. Naraingunge.—The total value of trade stands at Rs. 96,02,874—a falling off of nearly 19 lakhs from last year. In explanation, it is said that exporters of jute sent it by inland routes to Calcutta instead of by sea to Chittagong during the past year.

14. The Lieutenant-Governor's thanks are due to the Board of Revenue for their supervision of the Customs Department during the year, and to Mr. Armstrong for his efficient administration of the department and for the full and clear report submitted by him. The names of the officers who are favourably noticed by the Board, with the remarks recorded, will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. H. RISLEY,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

o, overcast; g, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; t, thunder; p, passing temporary showers; <, lightning; ≏, dew; =, fog.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF AUGUST 1891.

THE most prominent characteristics of the meteorology of August in Bengal have been—

1. The mean pressure for the month for the whole province has not been very far removed from the normal. Compared with the general pressure over the province, there has been almost throughout the month deficient pressure over the north-west angle of the Bay and the adjacent parts of South-West Bengal This has apparently determined the position of formation of the greater number of barometric depressions during the month, and there has been an almost constant tendency to cyclonic circulation of winds and low pressure over this area.

In Assam also pressure has been slightly in defect of the normal.

2. Temperature has been below the normal by moderate amounts in Orissa and slightly below it in Chutia Nagpur. In all other divisions excess temperature has been registered, the excess usually equalling from half to one degree and being largest in the north of the province.

In Assam also a slight excess temperature has been registered.

3. The strength of the monsoon current has throughout the month been in very considerable defect of the normal.

4. Humidity has been about normal during the month, and cloud proportion has, if anything, been slightly in excess of the normal.

5. No less than four feeble barometric depressions and one cyclonic storm have affected the weather during the month. These have generally advanced in a west-north-westerly direction through the south-western divisions of the province. The cyclonic storm gave general stormy weather in the northern half of the Bay for some days, while the depressions gave only local stormy weather, though one at least gave very bad weather, with hurricane winds at sea, for a few hours.

6. The rainfall has hence been rather abundant and above the normal in the south-western divisions, moderate in amount and rather below the normal in the more central districts, and very light and scanty and largely below the normal in the extreme northern and eastern divisions.

Meteorology of the month.—The meteorological conditions of the early part of August were decidedly disturbed, for on the 31st of July a cyclonic storm of considerable intensity had formed in the Bay of Bengal to the north-west of Diamond Island, and it then commenced to move in a north-westerly or north-north-westerly direction. On the 1st of August the storm was to the west of Akyab in perhaps latitude 19° to 20° N., and longitude 90° to 91° E. It was giving very heavy weather in the Bay, and strong winds were reported to the east and south of the storm. On the morning of the 2nd, the storm centre was nearly over the Sunderbuns between Chittagong and Saugor Island, and it had therefore again advanced in a north-westerly direction. It here suddenly changed the direction of its advance, and during the 2nd moved along the face of the Sunderbuns in a due westerly direction, and passed close to the south of Saugor Island between 8 P.M. of the 2nd and 2 A.M. of the 3rd, and during the passage the very low pressure of about 29·25 inches was recorded. At 8 A.M of the 3rd, the centre had crossed the coast and was to the west of Balasore, where pressure equalled only 29·293 inches. The storm as it passed over the land was not a very severe one, giving only an ordinary gale of wind, but from reports received from vessels involved in the storm, it appears to have been a decidedly fierce one at sea. On the 4th the storm centre was probably in the west of Chutia Nagpur, and the westerly movement of the 2nd to the 3rd had again been changed into a north-westerly movement, or to the direction it originally had on the 31st to the 2nd. On the morning of the 5th the centre of the small storm was near Sutna, so that it had again advanced in a north-westerly direction; but on this day it appears to have rapidly filled up, and on the morning of the 6th it had practically ceased to exist.

In the passage of the small storm across the head of the Bay, and in its north-westerly advance through the extreme south-western districts of Bengal, rather heavy rain was brought up, first by the storm itself and afterwards by the strong advance of monsoon winds which followed in its rear. The heavy rain was, however, mainly confined to the western and southern divisions of the province, for East and North Bengal during this period received only light and local rain.

From the 5th conditions again began to change at the head of the Bay, and pressure became comparatively low at Saugor Island and Balasore, while round a centre to the west of Saugor Island winds showed a decided tendency to set up a cyclonic circulation. On the 6th a distinct but exceedingly feeble depression existed, partly over the north-west angle of the Bay and partly over South-West Bengal, and the cyclonic circulation became a little more clearly defined. On the 7th conditions were almost the same except that the centre of the circulation of winds was to the south of Saugor Island, and that heavy rain had commenced to fall at that station. The small whirl or depression then commenced to advance in a north-westerly direction, and on the morning of the 8th it was in the south of Chutia Nagpur. On the 9th its centre was between Allahabad and Lucknow, on the 10th it was near Delhi, and on the 11th it had again advanced north-westward and had passed into the low-pressure area over the Indus valley.

Very heavy rain fell, in the passage of this feeble depression through the south-western districts of Bengal, and with the advance of the storm towards the north-west a heavy wave of moisture-laden winds swept over the province and over Northern India generally.

The ordinary monsoon conditions which existed up till the 11th were changed by an inrush of westerly winds on the 11th and 12th, which partly drove back the easterly and south-easterly winds which previously prevailed, and on the 12th a new barometric depression was formed over the land with a centre close to Jessore or between that station and Calcutta. On the 13th the depression had scarcely moved, and it was accompanied by a very complete cyclonic circulation of winds, and was giving very heavy rain; Midnapore and Durbhunga on this day reporting about nine inches of rain. The small storm then moved in a westerly direction, and on the 14th its centre was to the west of Ranchee, while on the 15th it had advanced in a north-westerly direction, and was between Allahabad and Lucknow. On the 16th it was almost in the same same position and was becoming more feeble, and on the 17th it had ceased to exist as a well-defined depression.

This small storm gave heavy rain in its progress, though the winds near the centre were for the most part light; but the monsoon current brought up in its rear was feeble, and from about the middle of the month, therefore, the rainfall was generally rather light and in some districts decidedly local.

It is desirable to notice in connection with this storm that though the centre was formed some 80 or 100 miles inland, and though the wind force at the land stations was light to moderate only, at sea, at the "Intermediate Light-ship," a gale of "hurricane" force was experienced on the 12th, though the gale rapidly subsided.

Conditions were of ordinary light monsoon character up to the 19th or 20th, when another slight but distinct barometric depression, with its accompanying cyclonic circulation of winds, formed in the north-west angle of the Bay. It continued to exist with little or no alteration of intensity or position up till the 23rd, when it moved towards Balasore, gradually filling up in its advance, and on the 24th it was near that station and had become very feeble, while on the 25th it had ceased to exist. This depression brought only light to moderate rain to the districts affected by it, that is, to the south-western districts of the province, and with its disappearance, though the monsoon winds began again feebly to advance over Bengal, yet the rainfall brought up by them was very light, and in some districts from the 27th a very distinct break in the rains set in. On the 28th and 29th the distribution of pressure over the Bay altered very considerably; pressure became very uniform in Bengal and over the Bay, and at this time little or no monsoon current was advancing over the province, so that winds became light and variable, and all the appearances were favourable for a distinct break in the rains.

By the morning of the 31st, however, a distinct barometric depression had been formed in the west of the Bay, the centre of which was to the east of Gopalpore and at some little distance from the coast. This again brought up moderate rainfall to Orissa and to the neighbouring south-western districts, but the remainder of the province was to a great extent rainless.

During the month, therefore, it will be seen, there were no less than four barometric depressions and one cyclonic storm which affected the weather in Bengal. All of them either passed through or influenced only the south-western districts of the province, which have hence received rather abundant rainfall. By the indraught, also, towards these depressions the monsoon current has been drawn away from the eastern and northern divisions of the province, and hence rainfall over these areas has been decidedly light and scanty, and in some cases very local. Thus, while Orissa has received a rainfall approaching half as much again as usual, in North Bengal, on the other hand, the fall has been less than half the normal.

Strength of the monsoon.—As stated in previous monthly reports, the only available method of judging of the strength of the monsoon current is to compare the actual wind velocities at the coast stations and the head of the Bay with the usual velocity for the month. This method of comparison, however, does not, and cannot, take into account the probable variations in the thickness or depth of the current from year to year on which it is probable the heaviness of the rainfall to a great extent depends. It is, however, impossible to measure this. The following table therefore contains the average daily wind movement in miles during August at all the stations on and near the coast of the Bay from Akyab round to Gopalpore, and these figures are compared with the normal wind movement for August:—

Stations.	Actual average wind velocity for August 1891.	Normal wind velocity in August.	Variation of actual for August from the normal.
	Miles per day.	Miles per day.
Akyab	106	120	— 14
Chittagong	108	144	— 36
Dacca	170	168	+ 2
Jessore	99	120	— 21
Calcutta	122	168	— 46
Saugor Island	348	456	— 108
Balasore	132	144	— 12
False Point	252	288	— 36
Pooree	230	288	— 58
Gopalpore	269	360	— 91

It will be seen that at all the coast stations and at all the stations slightly inland, except Dacca, the wind velocity for August has been much below the normal, the variation at many stations equalling from a fourth to a fifth of the normal value. It would hence appear that the strength of the monsoon in August has been rather largely below the force to be expected in normal years.

Pressure.—The mean pressure of the province for the first week of the month was considerably below the normal, the defect ranging from about 0·03″ to 0·04″ at the northern stations to almost a tenth of an inch at Saugor Island, Balasore, Midnapore, and False Point. These large defects were of course in connection with the small cyclonic storm which passed across the head of the Bay at this period. In the second week the general defect of pressure only equalled 0·03″ to 0·04″, but at the stations affected by the second small storm, defects of 0·05″ to 0·06″ were registered. In the third week the pressure conditions had become reversed, and there was a general excess of 0·03″ to 0·04″, and the excess was slightly increased during the fourth week, when it equalled about 0·03″ to 0·05″. These variations have to a great extent neutralized each other, and thus the mean pressure for the month at most stations has not varied from the normal by more than a few thousands of an inch. At a few stations slight excess pressures have been registered, but in the majority of cases the variations shown are defects, and over the north-west angle of the Bay and part of South-West Bengal, or the area where the depressions of the month have been formed, the defects are very noticeable. Thus Saugor Island and Midnapore registered defects of 0·024″, Balasore 0·023″, Calcutta 0·017″, and False Point 0·012″. In Assam the mean pressure has been 0·012″ in depôt of the normal.

Temperature —The temperature variations during the month have been unimportant, and have usually followed the variations in the heaviness of the rainfall. In Orissa, where the rainfalls have been heavy, the mean temperature for the month has been in defect of the normal by 0·8°. In Chutia Nagpur, where there has also been heavy rainfall, a defect of 0·1° has been registered, but all other divisions have shown excess temperatures The excess in South-West Bengal and South Behar has been small, and does not exceed half a degree, but in East and North Bengal and North Behar, where the rainfall has only equalled from half to two-thirds of the usual amount, the temperature has been nearly a degree in excess of the normal. For the whole province, however, the mean temperature of the month has only been 0·3° in excess of the normal.

In Assam the mean temperature for the month has been 0·7° above the normal.

Rainfall—Was large in amount for the first half of the month, but during the second half it became much lighter, and in many districts more local. Owing to the action of the barometric depressions and small cyclonic storm previously described, the rainfall has been mainly deflected towards the south-western districts of the province. Thus Orissa has received an average fall of nearly sixteen inches, which is four and-a-half inches in excess of the normal. Chutia Nagpur has received about twelve and-a-half inches, or a little less than the normal. South-West Bengal has received nearly eleven inches, or about two inches in defect; East Bengal about ten inches, or five and-a-half inches in defect; South Behar nine and-a-half inches, or two inches in defect; North Behar seven and-a-half inches, or more than four inches in defect; and North Bengal only six and a-third inches, or no less than seven and-a-half inches less than usual during August. Calculating the mean rainfall of the whole province for August 1891 as a percentage of the normal fall for the period, the actual fall has only equalled 82 per cent.

The comparison of the actual rainfall in the various large divisions of the province with the normal is most accurately and conveniently shown in the form of a percentage. The figures representing the rainfall for the month, calculated in this way, are included in the table below under the heading of August. This table really gives a condensed summary of the rainfall statistics of the present year up to date for each meteorological division, the first eight divisions giving the actual average rainfalls in each division in each month expressed as a percentage of the normal, while the ninth column gives the total rainfall for the first eight months expressed as a percentage of the normal rainfall for that period:—

Meteorological Divisions	January.	February.	March.	April.	May.	June.	July.	August.	Actual rainfall of first eight months of 1891 expressed as a percentage of the normal fall for the period.
Orissa	11	167	424	26	134	28	74	139	98
South-West Bengal ...	53	193	308	50	170	61	94	84	99
East Bengal .	2	311	98	130	151	71	100	65	95
North Bengal ...	78	377	230	77	140	53	117	46	88
North Behar ...	171	283	590	19	172	94	88	65	94
South Behar ...	253	159	734	30	165	88	85	83	101
Chutia Nagpur ...	163	91	506	30	148	47	97	93	98

It will be seen that there has been a very serious deficiency of rainfall in August in North Bengal, where the defect equals 54 per cent., and a rather less serious deficiency in East Bengal and North Behar, where the defect is 35 per cent. South-West Bengal, South Behar, and Chutia Nagpur have received fairly normal falls though still in defect, but in Orissa an excess fall of 39 per cent. is registered. For the whole year up to the end of August the rainfall in all divisions except North Bengal has been within about five per cent. of the normal amount, but in North Bengal there has been a defect of 12 per cent.

The variations in the amounts of rainfall in different districts of the province is very large, and thus at some of the stations in Chutia Nagpur and Orissa, at Saugor Island and at Cox's Bazar, and at some stations in the Darjeeling Hills, falls of about 20 inches and upwards have occurred; while, on the other hand, over a large part of North Bengal falls of only from three to five inches have been recorded. The greater part of the province has, however, received more than ten inches of rain in the month. Compared with the normal, it may be roughly said that if a line is drawn in a north-westerly direction from the middle of the Sunderbuns to Buxar, the whole of the country to the south and west of this line has received rainfall in excess of the normal, and to the east and north of this line the falls have been in defect. The defects over part of North Bengal exceed ten inches of rain, and at some stations even exceed twenty inches, while in South-East Bengal also some stations show defects of ten and fifteen inches. The greater part of the area showing defective rainfall is from three to six or seven inches of rain short. On the other hand, a considerable area in the south of the province has received a fall more than five inches in excess of the usual amount.

The following table gives full data for the comparison of the actual and normal rainfall of the month of August in all districts of the province. The figures are derived from the average and actual rainfall of the rain-recording stations in each district, due allowance or weight being made for the area which each station represents. This gives a more accurate average than the arithmetical means given in the weekly and monthly meteorological tables. The first column gives the normal or average district rainfall as determined from the rainfall observations of the past fifteen years; the second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the weighted actual rainfalls of the month at the reporting stations in each district; the third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall of the past month to the normal rainfall as a percentage; the fourth column states as a percentage how much the district rainfall of the month varied from the normal.—

* Mean of 6 days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers given for the rainfall are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the last ten years. The number of stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least a tenth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Saturday, the 12th of September 1891.

Explanation.—..... indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 15th September 1891.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, THE 12TH OF SEPTEMBER 1891.

At the close of the previous week a small barometric depression had formed in the north-west angle of the bay, and with some very heavy rainfall which was reported on the morning of the 5th, the depression intensified, and on that day a very distinct but rather small storm existed near the Sandheads; the small storm being accompanied by the usual cyclonic circulation of winds, though the wind force was light. The depression was then beginning to move in a westerly or west-north-westerly direction, and on the morning of the 6th its centre was to the south-west of Balasore or between that station and Cuttack. In its westerly advance it again gave heavy rain to Orissa, and moderate rain to some parts of South Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, but Behar and North Bengal, and a considerable part of East Bengal, were almost rainless. The small storm then again advanced in a west-north-westerly direction, and on the morning of the 7th it was advancing towards the North-West Provinces; on the 8th it was near Nowgong, where it remained almost unchanged on the 9th, and on the 10th it again passed on north-westward and was between Agra, Jhansi, and Jeypore, but it had become very feeble and was of little importance on that day. Though the storm was of moderate or slight intensity as it passed in its north-westerly course, and though it gave fairly heavy rain in the Central and North-West Provinces, yet the monsoon current which flowed over Bengal in its rear was very feeble, and was mainly confined to the south-western districts of the province, so that rainfall was only received in Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, South-West Bengal, and parts of South Behar, the remainder of the province continuing almost rainless. Conditions, therefore, remained of very light monsoon character generally in Bengal up to the 9th, when pressure became decidedly uniform over the Bay, and the tendency to low pressure in the north-west angle of the Bay, as represented by such stations as Saugor Island and Balasore, which has been such a prominent feature during the present monsoon, was again reproduced. This had developed slightly on the 10th, and a cyclonic circulation of winds also set up, though the wind force was feeble. On the 11th a very distinct barometric depression existed with a centre to the south-east of Saugor Island, and on the 12th the centre of the small storm had passed inland, crossing the coast near Balasore, and was a little to the north west of Balasore and to the south-east of Chybassa. These conditions were again favourable for rainfall in Orissa and in the south-western districts of Bengal, and rain was reported generally on the 11th and 12th, and on the second day in particular some very heavy falls were reported, Cuttack having received 9·81 inches, Kendrapara 6·77 inches, False Point 4·19 inches, etc.

It will thus be seen that conditions during the week have been favourable for extremely heavy rain in Orissa and for moderate rain in South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, and to a smaller extent in South Behar. On the other hand, throughout the week the conditions have been extremely unfavourable for rainfall in North Behar and North Bengal, and to a great extent also in East Bengal.

Pressure—Was generally very decidedly below the normal at the close of the previous week, and, with the inland advance of the small storm, pressure fell rapidly on the 6th, a fall exceeding a tenth of an inch being reported at False Point and Cuttack, though the fall was smaller elsewhere. A rapid rebound took place on the 7th, which continued on the 8th and 9th, but on the 10th pressure again began to fall slowly. The fall continued on the 11th in the south-western districts, though pressure was rising elsewhere, and the same was the case on the 12th, and on this day for the first time during the week the pressure over the greater part of Bengal became nearly normal in amount or slightly above it, except over the area in the west, south, and south-west of the province which was affected by the barometric depression. For the whole week, therefore, the mean pressure of the province has been below the normal, the defect ranging from about 0·07″ at such stations as Saugor Island, Balasore, and Midnapore, to an almost normal pressure over parts of North Bengal. The mean defect of the province has equalled about 0·04.″ In Assam pressure has been in defect of the normal by 0·034″, but the defect has been largest at Sibsagar, where it has equalled 0·056.″

Temperature.—Owing to the almost complete absence of rain over a considerable part of the province, temperature has generally been rather largely in excess of the normal. Thus in North Behar and North Bengal the mean temperature has been from two to two-and-a-half degrees above the normal; in East Bengal and South Behar the excess has been between one-and-a-half and two degrees; while in South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur it has equalled half a degree. In Orissa, on the other hand, where there has been very heavy rainfall, temperature is 1·3° below the normal. For the whole province the mean temperature has been 1·1° in excess of the normal In Assam also temperature has been above the normal, the excess equalling 1·9.°

Rainfall.—The stations in Orissa have received an average amount of no less than 6·00 inches of rain during the week, or 3·43 inches in excess of the normal fall. In all other divisions, however, the falls have been either largely or very largely in defect; Chutia Nagpur has received an average fall of 1·38 inches, which is, however, more than an inch less than usual; and in South-West Bengal the fall has averaged 1·28 inches, or 0·84 inch less than usual. In South Behar the average fall has been less than an inch being only 0·89 inch, and this is no less than 1·23 inches in defect. In East Bengal an average fall of only 0·60 inch is recorded, which is 1·86 inches less than usual. In North Bengal and North Behar rainfall may almost be said to have been absent, for North Bengal only received 0·25 inch as against a normal fall of 3·03 inches, or about a twelfth of the usual amount, and in North Behar the actual fall has only averaged 0·13 inch, the normal fall being 2·46 inches, or only one-nineteenth of the usual amount.

Indeed, the following districts have received such small amounts of rain during the week that they may be said to have been rainless:—Bogra, Maldah, Rungpore, Purneah, and Chumparun; while exceedingly light falls only have been received in Tipperah, Mymensingh, Dacca, Pubna, Rajshahye, Dinagepore, Julpigoree, Mozufferpore, Durbhunga, and Gya.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 12th of September 1891:—

MEMORANDUM.

Report on the Monthly Statistics of Deaths registered in forty-five districts of Bengal for the month of June 1891.

THE total number of deaths registered in forty-five districts of Bengal during the month of June 1891 amounted to 140,594, against 115,004 in June 1890, and an average of 105,717 in the corresponding month of the previous five years, 1886—90. These figures represent an annual death-rate of 25·56, 20·88, and 19·20 per 1,000, respectively, of the aggregate population of those districts, which is 65,859,534. The death-rate of June 1891 is 6·36 higher than the mean rate of the corresponding months of the past five years, 1886—90, and is also higher than the rate of the corresponding period of any of the past five years with which comparison is made, vide the figures below:—

Number of deaths	87,815	112,120	104,087	108,659	115,004	105,717	140,594
Ratio per mille per annum	15·96	20·40	19·08	19·08	20·88	19·20	25·56

From the following table it will be seen that the mortality-rate during June 1891 is less than the previous months of the year except February and May 1891:—

Months.	Number of deaths.	Ratio per mille.
January 1891	143,492	26·04
February ,, ...	137,553	24·96

June ,, ...	140,594	25·56

The following table exhibits the death-rates among the different sexes and the several classes of the community which comprise the population of the Bengal Province. As usual, the mortality is greater on the whole among the male than among the female population; 119 males died for every 100 females, calculated on the proportion such mortality bears to the total male and female population; but, individually considered, in only one district, viz., Darjiling, the death-rate among females is greater than that of males. Proportionally to population the death-rate among the Buddhists is greater than among the Hindus, other classes and Mahomedans, and Christians suffered the least:—

	Sexes.			Classes.
	Males.	Females.	Ratio of male deaths to every 100 female deaths, calculated on the proportion such mortality bears to the total male and female population.	Christians.	Hindus.	Mahomedans.	Buddhists.	Other classes.

Ratio per mille per annum ..	27·84	23·28	119	14·88	27·43	22·08	30·24	23·16

In the following table are given the death-rates registered during the month of June 1891, which are above 25 per mille and are arranged in order of sequence from highest to lowest, and are compared with that of the corresponding month of 1890:—

Districts.	Ratio per mille during—		Districts.	Ratio per mille during—
	June 1891.	June 1890.		June 1891.	June 1890.
Darjiling	70·44	46·32	Lohardugga	30·96	20·04
Julpaiguri	47·88	33·00	Noakhali	29·28	29·52

Patna	32·28	36·48	Birbhum	25·68	19·32
Hazaribagh	32·04	19·44	Manbhum	25·44	20·64

The maximum death-rate was registered in Darjiling, 70·44 per mille, and the minimum in Faridpore, 14·28. In Darjiling fever and dysentery and diarrhœa are accountable for the high death-rate, 487 deaths from the former and 193 from the latter having been registered out of a total of 915. Judging by the results shown in the statement appended to this memorandum, it will be seen that in eighteen districts the death-rates were above 25 per mille, in twelve between 20 and 25; and in the remaining fifteen below 20. In those districts which returned death-rates below 20 per mille, registration of deaths cannot be said to have been satisfactorily carried on.

The following table shows the total mortality during the month under review from each of the several specified causes contrasted with the mortality from those causes in the corresponding month of 1890 and the average of the previous five years 1886—90 :—

	Ratio per mille during—
	June 1891.	June 1890.	Monthly average of five years 1886-90.
Cholera	3·24	2·40	2·52
Small-pox	·24	·24	·12
Fever	17·16	14·40	12 60
Dysentery and diarrhœa	·60	·48	·60
Injury	·72	·60	·60
Other causes	3·24	2·52	2·40

The only noticeable point in connection with the above table is that the death-rate of June 1891 under the heads cholera and fever, is higher than that of the two past periods with which it is compared.

Cholera caused 18,306 deaths, which is equivalent to an annual rate of 3·24 per 1,000 of population, against 26810 (ratio 4·20 per mille) in the previous month. The highest cholera death-rate occurred in Shahabad, 17·28 per mille per annum, then in Durbhanga 14·28, Julpaiguri 10·68, Darjiling 10·56, Bhagulpore 9·36, Monghyr 8·76, Gya 7·56, Sarun 5·88, Patna and Mozufferpore 5·04 each, Purneah 4·68, Mymensing 3·36, Rungpore 3·24, Hazaribagh 2·76, Maldah and Sonthal Pergunnahs 2·52 each, and in Lohardugga 2·40. In only one district, Singbhum, there were no cholera deaths recorded.

Small-pox proved fatal in 1,826 instances (ratio ·24 per mille), against 1,967 (ratio ·24) in the preceding month. Midnapore returned the highest death-rate, 2·28 per mille per annum, then Cuttack with a death rate of 1·92 per mille, followed by Lohardugga with 1·44 per mille. In nine districts, viz., Birbhum, Serampore, Murshedabad, Rajshahye, Rungpore, Darjiling, Julpaiguri, Backerganj, and Tipperah, the disease was entirely absent.

Fever was accountable for 94,634 of the total deaths (ratio 17·16 per mille) and dysentery and diarrhœa for 3,332 (ratio ·60 per mille), against 77,357 (ratio 14·04) and 2,727 (ratio ·48), respectively, in the previous month. All the districts returned deaths under both heads but the highest fever death-rate occurred in Darjiling, viz., 37·44 per mille per annum, then in Julpaiguri 35·88 per 1,000, in Noakhali 26·40, in Monghyr 24 60, in Chittagong 23·88, in Bhagulpore 23 88, in Hazaribagh 23·64, in Shahabad 22·68, in Maldah 22·44, in Gya 22·32, in Rajshahye 21·60, in Purneah 21·48, in Dinajpore 21·36, and in Durbhanga 21·24. Darjiling also returned the highest death-rate from dysentery and diarrhœa, 14·88 per mille, followed by Balasore, 3 12 per mille.

Injury caused 4,083 deaths (ratio ·27 per mille), against 2,570 (ratio ·36) in the month before, and the mortality from all other causes not specified amounted to 18,413 (ratio 3·24 per mille), against 14,544 (ratio 2·64) in the previous month. Poori returned the highest death-rate from the unspecified diseases coming under the head "All other causes," viz. 13·68 per mille per annum.

With regard to mortality according to Age, infants under one year of age, as usual, perished in the largest numbers, viz., at the rate of 181·32 per 1,000 of population per annum; next came old persons (60 years and upwards) with a death-rate of 55·80 per 1,000. The lowest death-rate occurred among persons between 10 and 15 years of age, viz., 12·72 per 1,000 per annum.

Detailed information regarding the mortuary statistics of the forty-five districts of Bengal during the month under review will be found in the statement appended.

Dated India Office, the 13th April 1891.

From—HORACE G. WALPOLE, ESQ., C.B., Assistant Under-Secretary of State, India Office,

To—The Under-Secretary of State, Foreign Office.

WITH reference to your letter of the 4th instant, relative to the imposition of quarantine by Spain against Calcutta, I am directed by the Secretary of State for India in Council to forward a copy of two telegrams from the Viceroy of India giving the number of cholera deaths in Calcutta, during February last and the first three weeks in March, and reporting that full quarantine has been imposed by Egypt against Calcutta As the epidemic appears to have subsided, Viscount Cross would be glad if the Marquis of Salisbury would be so good as to move the Egyptian and Spanish authorities to withdraw the quarantine which they have respectively imposed against Calcutta.

Dated 16th March and 4th April.

Viscount Cross has telegraphed to India to ask whether the cholera deaths have abated in the weeks ending 28th March and 4th April, and he will cause the figures for these weeks to be furnished to you as soon as they are received.

Dated Foreign Office, the 29th June 1891.

From—RIGHT HON'BLE SIR JAMES FERGUSSON, BART, G.C.S.I., Under Secretary of State, Foreign Office,

To—The Under-Secretary of State, India Office.

WITH reference to your letter of the 14th of April, I am directed by the Marquis of Salisbury to transmit to you, for the information of Viscount Cross, translation of a note from the Spanish Minister of State to Sir Clare Ford, expressing his regret that the Spanish Government is unable at present to remove the quarantine of observation which has been imposed on vessels arriving at Spanish ports from Calcutta.

Translation of a Note from the Minister of State.

Dated Aranjuez, the 18th June 1891.

From—The DUKE DE TETUAN,

To—Her Britannic Majesty's Ambassador at the Court of Madrid.

IN reply to Your Excellency's note, dated the 18th ultimo, in which reference is made to the sanitary precautions taken in regard to arrivals from Calcutta, and to the question of annulling the order which appeared in the Madrid Gazette of the 1st April last, I have the honour to inform Your Excellency that my colleague at the Home Office states to me that the Board of Health (connected with his Department), to which Your Excellency's note was submitted for their report, declares that it is not possible to accede to your request until our representative at Calcutta shall have made renewed enquiries into the facts on which the report in question was founded, in view of the circumstances that under Article 30 of the Sanitary Law no vessels can be allowed to enter our ports unless they be provided with a clean Bill of Health, and be also in a thoroughly sanitary condition, and have been free from accidents on board during the voyage.

On this account declarations as to whether a foreign port is "unclean" or "suspected" have been for some time given up; and now the official sanitary reports only are published for the information of traders and of the general public; and with a view to enable the Marine Boards of Health to observe the greatest care that is possible as regards the visits to vessels on entering harbour. At the same time the Consular Bills of Health are treated as official declarations respecting disease, for the better carrying out of the quarantine regulations which may apply to each particular case; and thus, for the reasons given above, no injury to trade and shipping can be occasioned by the notices in the Gazette.

I AM directed to forward the accompanying suggestions regarding the scale of payments for commissions issued under Chapter XXV of the Code of Civil Procedure, which the Judges deem it advisable to circulate with the object of, if possible, promoting uniformity of practice in the exercise by Subordinate Courts of the discretion vested in them by Section 397 of the Code.

HIGH COURT.
ENGLISH DEPARTMENT.
Civil.

---

1. In fixing, under Section 397 of the Code of Civil Procedure, the sum to be paid on account of the expenses of a commission issued to any person other than a Court for the examination of witnesses, the Court should provide for both the remuneration of the Commissioner and the expenses which he is likely to incur in executing the commission. For this purpose, the following rates appear to be reasonable and are recommended for adoption by Subordinate Courts:—

If the Court issuing the commission be that of a Munsif or a Small Cause Court, Rs. 4 for each witness to be examined.

If the commission be issued by a Court superior to that of a Munsif or a Small Cause Court, Rs. 10 for each witness to be examined.

2. If the commission be issued to a Court, the expenses to be charged should include only the necessary process-fees for summoning the witnesses, to be paid in Court-Fee Stamps, and the usual allowance to witnesses for their attendance, to be paid in cash. In the event of the non-attendance of a witness or witnesses, any surplus payments should be refunded.

3. In issuing a commission to make a partition of immovable property not paying revenue to Government, under Section 396 of the Code of Civil Procedure, the Court should bear in mind that the law contemplates the appointment ordinarily of more than one Commissioner; and unless the parties concur in having the matter referred to a single Commissioner, the commission should be addressed to two or more persons. If a Civil Court Amin be employed, his expenses should be calculated and paid in the manner provided for local investigations. If another person be appointed, the Court should fix the remuneration, if any, to be granted to him, with reference to the importance and difficulty of the work to be done, and fix the sum to be paid as expenses of the commission as provided in Section 1 of these instructions

4. In any case in which the sum fixed under Section 397 of the Code of Civil Procedure, for the expenses of the commission and paid into Court, shall have been calculated with regard to the time likely to be occupied in the execution of such commission, the Court should instruct the Commissioner that, in the event of his finding that the time fixed is insufficient, he should give timely notice to the party at whose instance the commission was issued, and report the fact to the Court. The sum necessary to cover the expenses for such further period as may be required to complete the execution of the commission should then be deposited in Court by the party, and the Commissioner, unless certified of such deposit, should suspend the investigation at the close of the period originally fixed, pending the further instructions of the Court.

5. The expenses of the commission must also include the cost which the Commissioner will incur in executing it, and such incidental charges as may be unavoidable. Under the first head the amount to be allowed to the Commissioner and charged to the party will be regulated by the scale of travelling and halting allowances prescribed for officers of Government of the class to which the Commissioner belongs: Provided that under exceptional circumstances, should the Court be of opinion that it is not possible that his expenses can be covered by this scale of allowance, it may, with the assent of the District Judge, in the exercise of the discretion vested in it by Section 397, order such further sum to be paid as it thinks reasonable.

NOTE.—As Judicial Officers holding local investigations under the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure in connection with cases under trial before them are unable to draw, on account of the expenses incurred by them in holding such enquiries, more than the amount admissible to them by way of travelling allowance under the Travelling Allowance Rules passed by Government, the parties to a case in which a local enquiry is considered necessary should never be required to deposit for that purpose any sum in excess of that amount (G. L. No. 5 of 6th June 1890).

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVISED ADVERTISEMENT.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat of source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets; &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages. Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G. Vol. IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of "O." The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in seven volumes during the current year; but an eighth volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set (exclusive of the Index for which a separate charge will be made).

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 45 in India and 3 guineas in England. The period of registration of subscribers' names will expire on the 1st October.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE BHAGULPORE DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1890-91.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Darjeeling, the 15th September 1891.

RESOLUTION No. 1092.

READ—

The Annual General Administration Report of the Bhagulpore Division for the year 1890-91.

Tours.

The Commissioner, Mr. C. C. Quinn, spent altogether 100 days on tour, and visited the head-quarters of every district but six only of the 12 sub-divisions of his jurisdiction. His attention will be drawn to the necessity of inspecting all sub-divisions. The station of Rajmehal was twice visited, but, owing to other work of a special nature, no regular inspection of the office or sub-treasury was made. The District Officers made useful tours, in nearly every case exceeding the minimum of 90 days prescribed by Government, during the course of which all the sub-divisions were visited and inspected. Mr. Waller's failure to make a tour of at least the prescribed duration in the Monghyr district should have been explained, but was probably due to ill-health. In the Santhal Pergunnahs the tours of both the Commissioner and the Deputy Commissioner were chiefly employed in supervising the settlement operations and in making enquiries into the alleged dissatisfaction and excitement among the Kharwars, who constitute the radical party of the Santhals. Mr. Bright, Officiating Deputy Commissioner, was in the interior for 176 days up to the 10th March 1891, when he was relieved by Mr. Carstairs on the return of the latter from leave. Altogether the tours of the officers in charge of this district reached the very satisfactory figure of 186 days.

All the Sub-divisional Officers completed the full term laid down, much of their attention being devoted to the conduct of the census operations.

Material condition of the Division.

2. The year was marked by an unusually heavy rainfall, but unevenly distributed, the fall in February and March being excessive and resulting in considerable damage to the rabi crops. The bhadoi crop also suffered somewhat from heavy rain and the early rise of the rivers, but the rice gave an excellent outturn, and, from the point of view of the condition of the people generally, the year is reported to have been one of at least average if not of unusual prosperity. The general improvement in the health of the people, as shown by the mortality returns, is attributed by the Collector of Bhagulpore to the scarcity of the previous year having passed away, and the reduction in the recorded mortality in other districts may doubtless be ascribed to the same cause. Where the population live to so great an extent on the margin of subsistence, a rise or fall in prices has a very serious significance for the poorer classes. The total deaths registered declined from 63,308 to 54,036, the decrease in fever mortality from 49,055 to 40,108 being most observable. Influenza left its mark in this division as elsewhere. The only disease which showed an increase was cholera, owing to an epidemic in Monghyr and the northern part of the Bhagulpore district. Attention should be paid to registration in the Sonthal Pergunnahs, where the reported death-rate is only 15·70 per thousand of the population. The assertion that the people of the Division are now fairly protected against small-pox is remarkable, and before it can be accepted, other evidence must be brought beyond the fact that the number of deaths from that disease fell from 435 in the previous year to 98 only.

Emigration.

3. Emigration from the Bhagulpore Division is inconsiderable, with the exception, perhaps, of the Sonthal Pergunnahs district, the Deputy Commissioner of which records a strong protest against the misconduct of the arkatis or agents employed to entice people away to Assam. Twenty-five cases against recruiters appear to have been prosecuted in the sub-divisions of Jamtara, Pakour, Deoghur and Dumka, but the prosecutions were only successful in eight out of these cases. The Deputy Commissioner seems to be very ready to believe that the intending emigrant, who afterwards changes his mind, was necessarily deceived at first by false representations; and he advocates a system by which the gardens should establish respectable agents, who would deal at first hand with the labourers and make advances to the coolies themselves, instead of to low crimps and arkatis. The services of the latter are certainly undesirable, but the trade is one which seems to be incompatible with a high standard of morality. It would no doubt be an excellent thing if there existed a body of respectable agents, who would see the coolies properly conducted to the gardens, paying all expenses and looking after them on the way; but it is doubtful whether any such system could be carried on to the profit of the agents, and also of the gardens. The revision of the Emigration Act of 1882 is still under the consideration of the Government of India, and, pending its decision, all that can be done is to spare no endeavours to bring offending arkatis to justice under the criminal law.

Manufactures, Trade, &c.

4. The tables given in Appendices V (A to E) of the report show a good progress in the outturn of nearly all articles of manufacture in the Division. Indigo, however, shows a decrease in the districts of Maldah and the Sonthal Pergunnahs. The figures cannot be shown here in one statement for the whole Division, as some districts have shewn only the weight and others only the value of the outturn. Where separate district tables are given to illustrate the same subject, the Commissioner should ensure that the statistics are presented, as far as possible, in a similar form, so as to admit of ready comparison. In Purneah the value of indigo manufactured increased from Rs. 5,90,396 to Rs. 7,55,165, but this latter figure is very far short of the value produced in 1888-89. In Monghyr the outturn of saltpetre rose from 1,586 to 6,827 maunds owing to the appointment of a Superintendent of Customs to prevent illicit manufacture. In the same district the manufacture of molasses increased from 1,661 maunds to 21,836, and that of ghee by over 100 per cent. In Purneah the outturn of gunny pieces and raw sugar increased by over 50 per cent., and in Bhagulpore that of tussor silk by over 25 per cent.

Country cloth in Purneah also showed a very satisfactory increase in value from Rs. 10,685 to Rs. 29,085. The industries of bidri work and the manufacture of satranjis in this district are said to be decaying. The only mine of importance in the division is the Madankata coal mine in the Sonthal Pergunnahs. This mine employed a daily average of 700 men, 150 women and 80 children, and produced 35,344 tons of coal. Trade in the Purneah district was more than usually brisk owing to good harvests and to the opening of the Railway and of new stations at Anchraghât and Dobigunge. The traffic is said to have developed so rapidly that the rolling-stock proved quite inadequate, the result being blocks and delays even up to the end of the year. It is doubtful whether there will ever be much interchange of traffic between this and the Tirhoot State Railway, as long as the obstacle of the difficult Kosi ferry is interposed.

Crime and Justice.

5. The Lieutenant-Governor notices a great want of statistical information throughout the report, and more than elsewhere under the headings which deal with crime and civil and criminal justice. Under crime no figures are given for the districts, and very few for the Division. The total of cases both cognizable and non-cognizable showed a slight decrease of 1,257. Efforts were made in Purneah to bring about a decrease of dacoity by negotiations with Nepal and by inducing the people to warn each other at the approach of dacoits by means of fires and bombs. The Lieutenant-Governor when at Purneah was given to understand that these measures had been successful, and that no cases of dacoity had occurred since their adoption; but the report now submitted contains statements inconsistent with the information then furnished to His Honour. Burglaries show a satisfactory decrease throughout the Division.

Under the heads of criminal and civil justice no figures whatever have been given. The review of criminal justice of the year is in fact almost confined to a somewhat sweeping condemnation of the Bench system, the working of which has certainly not been good. The Lieutenant-Governor believes that more might be done both in selecting suitable gentlemen for Honorary Magistrateships in the first instance, and in inducing them to attend regularly when appointed. It is hard to believe that in a district like Maldah "the class of men with leisure and brains to make competent Honorary Magistrates is entirely wanting." Civil cases are said to have shown a decrease in suits for money and moveables, and in rent suits in the Bhagulpore and Maldah districts. In the Sonthal Pergunnahs the decrease in civil suits has been general.

Land Revenue Administration.

6. Figures are given showing the total number of estates and the demand and collections for the year under report and the previous year under four classes, but no explanation is given as to what these four classes represent. His Honour presumes that the classes I to IV in paragraph 107 are meant to be the same as the fourfold division of estates in the Board's Annual Land Revenue Report, viz. class I, permanently-settled estates; class II, temporarily settled; class III, Government estates, and class IV, ryotwari tracts, as there is no indication that any other classification has been adopted; but it would have been more convenient if this had been explained in the report, and if the figures had been combined in one statement showing together the demand and collections for each class and for each district of the Division. The divisional figures given are as follows:—

	Number of estates.		Demand.		Collections.
	1889-90.	1890-91.	1889-90.	1890-91.	1889-90.	1890-91.
			Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Class I. Permanently-settled.	13,948	14,009	30,23,862	30,23,406	28,72,387	29,86,701
Class II. Temporarily-settled.	67	67	50,285	50,283	39,763	47,713
Class III. Government estate.	193	196	49,803	53,731	34,132	33,824
Class IV. Ryotwari tracts.	5	5	2,37,313	2,34,177	2,14,373	2,10,152
Total ...	14,213	14,277	33,61,187	33,62,000	31,60,645	32,77,690

The above statement would be improved by the addition of columns showing the arrear demand and the arrear collections for each district, and the percentages of the collections on the arrears and on the demand. The percentage of the current collections on the current demand showed a satisfactory rise from 94·03 to 97·47, and the percentage of the total balance on the total demand a similar decrease from 6·2 to 2 5. Current and arrear collections together amounted to 97·3 on the total demand.

In the large Government estate of the Damin-i-koh in the Sonthal Pergunnahs the percentage of current and arrear collections on the total demand declined from 99·45 in the two preceding years to 98·4.

Partitions.

7. Monghyr is reported to be the only district in which the Partition Act is worked to any extent. The results obtained are very discreditable. The district is provided with a Special Deputy Collector, Babu Banku Behari Baxi, for this particular work; but in spite of this the number of cases left pending at the close of the year increased from 104 to 127, while only 25 cases were disposed of as against 50 in the previous year. It appears, however, from a report submitted by the Board on the subject, that the Special Deputy Collector was not altogether responsible for this state of things, as some of the cases were delayed in final disposal owing to the illness of the officer in charge of the district during the year.

Wards' estates

8. Out of the six estates which were under the management of the Court of Wards during the year, the balances of three, viz., Lugmah, Srinagar, and Rohini, are observed to be unduly large. The Lugmah estate is said to be in a very impoverished condition, but this is all the more reason why it should not show an outstanding balance of Rs. 5,303 against a demand of Rs. 20,575 only. The estate of Sankora, where Rs. 14,344 were collected out of a demand of Rs. 14,345, is a specimen of how collections can and should be made.

Revenue other than Land Revenue

9. There is nothing remarkable in the excise administration of the year. Stamp receipts show an increase of Rs. 63,158, namely, from Rs. 11,09,358 to Rs. 11,72,516, while the charges decreased. The increase was most marked in the case of non-judicial, postage, and miscellaneous stamps, while court-fees showed a decrease of over Rs. 10,000.

The prosecution of cases under the Stamp law was very successful, 47 persons having been convicted in 32 cases as against two persons acquitted.

Under the Income-tax Act, out of an assessment of Rs. 2,35,870, Rs. 2,27,705 were realized. The large balance is said to have been chiefly due to late assessments in the Purneah district.

Education.

10. There has been an increase in the number of pupils both in public and private institutions, but, for some reason not explained, this increase has been accompanied by a very decided decrease in the number of schools of each class. The increase of pupils in the public schools has, moreover, not been large, being only from 93,947 to 94,538, or slightly over ·6 per cent, while in the number of schools there was a loss of 235 out of 5,293 or about 4½ per cent. In Bhagulpore and Purneah there was a decline in the number of primary schools and in the number of pupils taught therein.

The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction the advance made in female education, the number of girls' schools having increased by 31 with 395 pupils, while 2,161 girls attended boys' schools as against 1,932 in the preceding year. Mohammedan education is also prospering, the percentage of Mohammedans on the school population being in excess of the percentage of Mohammedans on the total population The percentage of aborigines to the school population has fallen slightly, being now only about 6·3.

Dispensaries.

11. The report shows that 25 dispensaries were maintained during the year under the supervision of Government officers. A list of these is furnished, but no statistics are given as to the work which they have done during the year, nor as to the cost of their maintenance. The Commissioner merely observes that, "as in previous years, the dispensaries rendered good service, and that in most of them the number of patients treated was larger than in the previous year, although there was less sickness." In future reports detailed figures should be given.

It is also stated that most missions in the Sonthal Pergunnahs maintain dispensaries, but no clue is given as to the number of such non-official institutions.

Dispensaries are maintained at Bhagulpore and Champanagore under the superintendence of a Lady Doctor whose name is not mentioned in the report.

Zemindari dák.

12. The rates show very great variations in the several districts, and there have moreover been some slight changes of rate in individual districts since the preceding year. The question of fixing the rate for each district for a term of years, instead of leaving it liable to alteration each year, as it at present is under the Act, is now under the consideration of Government.

Public feeling, conduct of zemindars, &c.

13. A slight uneasiness among the Kharwars of the Sonthal Pergunnahs has already been alluded to. The reports at first received proved to be exaggerated, and confidence was ultimately restored by the Officiating Deputy Commissioner, Mr. Bright, who acted with vigour and judgment throughout Mr. Carstairs' complaint that the constant changes of officers have wasted Government influence in the Rajmehal sub-division appears to be out of place in this particular year, inasmuch as Mr. Ainslie was in charge of the sub-division during the year. The census operations were conducted with smoothness both in the Sonthal Pergunnahs and in the regulation districts of the Division. Ignorant rumours as to the intention of the proceedings were as usual current at times, but they led to no serious results, except in one case, where a stranger was murdered in Bhagulpore during an excitement produced by a cry that child-snatchers were abroad in order to obtain a sacrifice for bridging the Kosi. The Lieutenant-Governor observes with pleasure the high terms in which the conduct of the zemindars of the Bhagulpore district is referred to in connection with the census. On the other hand, it is to be regretted that no Collector has been in a position to omit a list of zemindars whose conduct in relation to their tenants has not been entirely satisfactory. The list given by the Collector of Maldah is formidable, and it is significant that they were mostly absentee landlords. The names included are in some cases those of individuals who have constantly attracted the favourable notice of Government, and the Collector would do well in such instances to draw their attention to any trouble caused by their local agents.

14. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to thank Mr. C. C. Quinn for his administration of the Division throughout the year. Mr. Wace's work as Magistrate and Collector of Bhagulpore has again been very favourably noticed. The testimony borne by the Commissioner to the merits of Mr. Samuells, Mr. Carstairs and Mr. Bright will be duly recorded in the Appointment Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE RAJSHAHYE DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1890-91.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.—MISCELLANEOUS—No. 1094.

Darjeeling, the 19th September 1891.

READ—

The General Administration Report of the Rajshahye Division for the year 1890-91.

Mr. Lowis held charge of the division throughout the year. In several of the districts there was no change in the District Officer, and on the whole there was more continuity of administration than it is generally possible to secure. The Commissioner was on tour during 142 days, and did good work, especially in connection with the important settlement of land revenue in progress in the Western Doars. Certain of the sub-divisions are named as having been inspected by Mr. Lowis, but the Lieutenant-Governor would have been glad to have had it distinctly recorded that he had visited them all.

Tours and inspections.

2. All the District Officers were on tour for the prescribed period of 90 days, except the Collector of Rungpur, who fell short by four days. His explanation, based on the census operations, is insufficient, as the same excuse might have been put forward in every district, and the date and work it would entail were known long beforehand. The Sub-divisional Officers also did their duty in this respect except Mr. Montriou of Alipore in Jalpaigori, who was only four days in camp during five months. The Deputy Commissioner should have been aware of this neglect of duty and applied an immediate remedy. It is essential that all officers should do part of their touring throughout the year, and not leave it to the officers in charge during the cold weather to do the whole. In their inspections of offices and treasuries, the District and Sub-divisional Officers conformed generally with the standing orders, but the Deputy Commissioner of Darjeeling has not a heavy worked office, and must be required to make his inspections half-yearly in future, and the Commissioner should look into the sub-divisional treasuries as well as the offices.

Weather and crops, Public health, &c.

3. The rainfall was unusually heavy during the year in every district; the consequent high floods damaged the lowland crops in Rajshahye, Pubna, Bogra and Rungpur. The cattle and the communications also suffered. On the whole, the amun rice, which is the principal staple of the division, was as good as in the preceding year. The jute outturn was above the average; its cultivation was so much overdone in Rungpur that the fibre was hardly saleable. Indigo, sugarcane and tea were all affected unfavourably by the excessive rainfall. Owing to the ravages of an insect, the average yield of ganja per bigha was the lowest of the last six years, viz., 2 maunds 20 seers, though the area cultivated was the largest during that period. The account given of the ganja crop in the Excise Commissioner's report was probably available to the Commissioner of the Division, and might with advantage have been referred to at greater length. The health of the people also felt the influence of the season; the subsidence of the heavy floods caused malarious fevers to prevail in a general and severe form. Influenza visited almost all the districts of the division, and probably caused, directly or indirectly, many deaths which have been ascribed to fever. The material condition of the people was to some extent affected by the inundations which invaded their homesteads, but there was no actual distress, and the general chronicle of the year, apart from the floods, was one of average prosperity. The prices of food-grains were kept down by the sufficiency of the harvests. Rice was cheaper than in 1889-90, but not so cheap as in 1888-89. There was no remarkable fluctuation in the wages of labour.

Emigration and immigration.

4. The following extract from the Commissioner's report sums up the latest information regarding an experiment of some interest:—

"About 300 Sonthals with cattle were brought during the year by Reverend A. J. Shields and his brother for settlement at Mahakalgoree, in the Alipore sub-division of the Jalpaigori district. The colony is reported to be doing well, and it is hoped that a much larger number will arrive and take up land next year. The scheme is one intended for the benefit not only of Christian Sonthals, but of the race in general. It has been felt by those interested in the Sonthals that something should be done to regulate and systematize the exodus that is now going on from the Sonthal country, and accordingly a tract of waste in the Government estate of the Dooars has been set apart for Sonthal colonists, where they may live together governed by their own national laws and customs and not losing their national characteristics. At present the scheme is in its infancy, and its development will be watched with interest; it appears to contain great promise of affording a solution of the problem how to deal with the excess population of a poor and over-populated tract of country."

The Lieutenant-Governor has noticed with approval the self-supporting character of this movement, and has had much pleasure in giving it some help during the present year.

Manufactures and trade.

5. Scientific manufactures are less developed in this division than elsewhere. Indigo continues to decline. The silk filatures of Rajshahye experienced the worst year on record through the failure of the mulberry crop. In Darjeeling 47,736 gallons of beer and porter were produced, chiefly for the local troops. In Darjeeling and Jalpaigori taken together 350 tea gardens gave a yield of 23,347,378lbs, which represented an average of 368lbs. per acre from mature plants as compared with 393lbs. in 1889. The Government Cinchona Plantations contained fewer plants and gave a smaller yield, but the private plantations showed better results from a larger number of plants. The cause of this unfavourable comparison has not been explained. The exploration for coal conducted by Mr. Bose in the Darjeeling district, east of the Teesta, has been successful and mining operations are likely to be soon undertaken. Some of the items of the trade returns are worthy of notice as giving an idea of the size of the transactions Thus nearly six lakhs of maunds of rice and 4,75,647 maunds of jute left Dinagepur by rail. The steamer companies at Serajgunge took 23,08,789 maunds of jute to Goalundo for transmission to Calcutta, besides the quantities carried in country boats. The tobacco exported by rail from Rungpur amounted to 11,288 tons. The trade between Jalpaigori and Bhutan again increased largely: the imports from Rs. 1,58,690 to Rs. 1,83,796 and the exports from Rs. 1,39,933 to Rs. 1,68,587. The meaning of the two sets of figures for imports and exports in paragraph 29 is not clear and should be explained. There was a marked revival in the trade with Thibet owing to the partial withdrawal of restrictions on the frontier. The imports of wool (raw) rose from 798 to 4,154 maunds, and of the manufactured article from Rs. 10,201 to Rs. 16,056 in value. The Lieutenant-Governor observed for himself in May last the large quantities of wool coming in on the Gnatong-Darjeeling route. The exports of cotton piece-goods rose from Rs. 18,486 to Rs. 51,858, and it is curious to note that woollen articles were also exported to the value of Rs. 29,503. The reason of this should have been stated. The whole value of trade with Thibet, Sikkim and Nepal has not yet reached dimensions of any importance.

Administrative changes.

6. Besides some minor police arrangements, an outpost was established in the Kalimpong sub-division on the Bhutan frontier; an independent Bench was constituted at a station in the Serajgunge sub-division, and two large Government estates were transferred from Rajshahye to Nadiya. The number of Mahomedans in Government service has risen from 2,346 to 3,147 chiefly in Rungpur and Jalpaigori, by the inclusion of the employés in the State Railway and in the Census and Survey and Settlement Offices. The Mahomedans number 63 per cent. of the population, and hold nearly 35 per cent. of the appointments, so that there is plenty of scope for their further employment.

Crime, Police and Criminal Justice.

7. There was a decrease in the number of cognizable cases reported during the year in all the districts except Dinagepur Rungpur and Jalpaigori. The Commissioner attributes this to two main causes, viz. (1) recruiting, which has led to many suspects and convicts enlisting and leaving the country, and (2) prosperity, combined with a constant and large demand for labour. The analysis of the statistics is not as full as it might have been. The chaukidars are said to have done good work on the whole, and some improvement has been effected in the regularity of their payment by the punchayets. The Commissioner similarly gives credit to the regular police for having worked fairly well, but the quotations from the district reports are too vague and general to be useful for the Lieutenant-Governor to form an opinion. He notices, however, with satisfaction that their conduct was fairly good, and that under supervision the simpler duties of watching suspicious characters and vagrant gangs have been insisted on with some effect. The percentage of persons convicted to persons tried, ranging from 48 to 67 in the several districts, is not satisfactory, and in Pubna the figures show very poor work. The Lieutenant-Governor has, on his tour of inspection, constantly had occasion to notice the number of remands allowed by the Deputy Magistrates and the detention of witnesses He trusts to see in future greater despatch in dealing with cases. The Benches in the division have tried 455 cases fewer than last year, but there have been 23 more acquittals. Judged by the ordinary standards, it can hardly be said that these results are good, so that it is difficult for His Honour to share the Commissioner's favourable opinion of their work. It is true that the Benches are useful in lightening the burden of work for the stipendiary Magistrates, and it is consonant with His Honour's experience that independence induces Honorary Magistrates to take more interest and attend more regularly. But the figures above quoted tell their own tale.

Land Revenue administration

8 The total collections of land revenue reached the percentage of 98 on the total demand, current and arrear together, and two-thirds of the total balance of Rs. 94,296 occurred in Jalpaigori. For this failure on the part of the jotedars various excuses are offered, none of which can be accepted. The Lieutenant-Governor knows that the present assessment and the settlement in progress are both moderate, and, if the jotedars deliberately default, examples should be made in selected cases as a warning to others. Separate orders have issued and will be repeated for current collections to be compared with the current demand. The survey and settlement proceedings in the Western Dooars were in full progress throughout the year, and have brought to light an enormous extension of cultivation to the great benefit of the revenue The subject will be more fully discussed when the Director of Land Records' report comes under review. The want of success in the experiment of introducing cheap sickles in the Dooars is to be regretted. The Lieutenant-Governor cannot be satisfied with 84 per cent. of collections on the total demand from estates under direct management. Similarly in Wards' estates the total current and arrear collections of rent amount to only Rs. 9,22,362 out of a total demand of Rs. 15,00,714 These figures are not creditable to the Managers who absorb an unduly high percentage of the collections as the cost of management. The remarks recorded by the Commissioner on the relations between landlords and tenants are serious as emanating from an officer of Mr. Lowis' great experience. They testify to the existence of an unfortunate state of things. After giving specific instances of ill-feeling, he writes:—

"In fact throughout the division more or less the former cordial relations between landlords and tenants are passing away. The value of land has, by the opening out of railway, roads, and other means of communication, gradually but enormously, increased in this division, and the profits derivable from land have also increased. In this increase the landlords have sought to participate, not by revising their rent roll and increasing the rates of rent which they might have done, but by the time-honoured custom of levying cess; the amount varying according to the power and influence of the landlord. Now that the knowledge of the law on the part of the tenants has increased, and the landlords find that the rents, in order to be realized by a civil suit, must be recorded, an endeavour is being made by them, and resisted by their ryots, to incorporate the old rent and subsequent cesses into a consolidated increased rental; hence the report of quarrels between landlord and tenant in Pubna, Rajshahye, and Rungpur In Dinagepur, which is a backward district, the rate of rent is often very low; but here, more than elsewhere, the actual receipts of the landlord are largely increased by cesses such as kabulabeshi (i.e., an agreed increase), which they will ere long find a difficulty in realizing, * * * * * but at the bottom of all lies the rent question, the landlords trying to make the old rent, plus cesses, the present demand, and the ryots, in their attempts to escape this imposition, playing off one section of the landholding community against the other. The feeling of traditional respect for, and obedience to, the old established landlords lingers, but, if pressed too hard, the ryot is not slow to invoke the aid of a wealthy neighbour."

It is a somewhat curious commentary on the situation as thus described to hear that the Tenancy Act has worked without friction during the year mainly because its provisions have been but little applied.

Excise, Income-tax, Stamps.

9. The excise revenue shows a slight increase in each district, amounting to Rs. 48,636 in the division: the incidence is 1 anna 8 pies per head only. Simultaneously the stamp revenue decreased by Rs. 24,896, chiefly in consequence of a diminished sale of court-fee stamps, concurrent with a decrease in the number and value of suits instituted in the Civil Courts. The income-tax final demand was Rs. 4,113 above the previous year, but the collections were lower by Rs. 281, and the outstanding balances had increased from Rs. 5,125 to Rs. 9,003. These figures are not satisfactory, and are not fully accounted for. For instance, no attempt is made to explain why the assessments in Dinagepur were so delayed as to be completed too late to be realized within the year.

Communications.

10. Considerable efforts were made in the year to develop communications in the Dooars. Government granted Rs. 10,000 for the improvement of the Alipur-Haldibari road; a total of Rs. 37,000 was spent on original works, Rs. 2,753 were spent on the improvement of other roads, and Rs. 2,300 out of the Dooars Improvement Fund for the construction of three new roads. The Jalpaigori Dooars Railway has been sanctioned and is to be completed by private enterprise within two years. The construction of four large bridges on the Central Emigration Road, an important feeder to the Haldibari Railway station, was undertaken by the Jalpaigori District Board by means of a loan taken from Government. A resurvey of the line projected from the Sultanpore railway station to Bogra is in progress, and suggestions for its extension have been thrown out, but they will require much closer examination and the financial co-operation of those locally-interested before they can assume a practical shape. The steamer services between Rampore Boalia and Damookdea and Maldah and between Pubna and Kooshtea have conferred an immense boon on the inhabitants and traffic of these districts, and the Lieutenant-Governor would be very glad to see them extended wherever possible. The sum of Rs. 1,98,617 was actually spent by the District Boards and Road Cess Committee in the division as compared with Rs. 2,03,709 spent on repairs. The Collector of Rungpur reports "that he has been for months urging the authorities to extend the Rungpur line to Bhowanigunge on the Brahmaputra, a post of call for 'despatch' steamers, and only four miles from Gaibanda. Though Messrs. Macneil and Company of the Rivers Steam Navigation Company have guaranteed expenses, nothing has yet been done. There is no office on the Brahmaputra between Dhubri and Serajgunge. Messages are now ferried across the Teesta at Kownia in Rungpur, and a great waste of time results. The line should be carried across the river." The Lieutenant-Governor desires to be furnished with a fuller explanation of the proposition and the difficulties encountered.

Education.

11. Taking the Division as a whole, and having regard to the total number of schools, there was a loss of 24 schools and 1,585 pupils. The number of pupils, 92,993, is thus almost identical with the number 92,990 under tuition in 1888-89. The decrease is chiefly in Pubna and Bogra, and under the heads of lower primary and indigenous schools, attributed in the former district to the high flood and consequent distress, and in the latter to the insufficiency of the rewards given to the gurus and the want of returns. It is feared that the advantages of education are not as fully appreciated in this Division as elsewhere. The percentage of attendance of boys of school-going age has fallen from 16 to 14, and there were only 1,509 girls at 84 girls' schools, besides 1,462 at boys' schools. It is a noticeable feature that the proportion of Mahomedan boys under education is larger than that of Hindu boys, but this criticism is limited to those studying in the lower primary and indigenous schools.

Local self-government, &c.

12. The Commissioner reports that, generally speaking, the attendance of the members of the several local Committees in the division shows a slight improvement over that of the preceding year. This may be so, but it is not proved by the figures furnished, which only state the average attendance at each meeting for the year under report, without mentioning the total number of members of the Committees and Boards at each place: it would also be useful to know the number of meetings called and held. The Lieutenant-Governor has perused with attention the remarks made regarding the work done by each of the principal municipalities, and will take another opportunity of expressing his views on municipal administration generally. But he will say now that in his opinion the registration of births and deaths which is performed in the Ramporo Boalia Municipality, for instance, by four Sub-Registrars assisted by two domes and three chaukidars should receive more personal attention from the Commissioners. If they will divide the municipalities into wards, and each take charge of one, it is hardly possible that they will fail to hear of the domestic occurrences within those areas, and it is not too much to expect that they will verify that these events have been accurately entered in the registers. A system so worked is far preferable to enforcement of the penal provisions of the law. It is unsatisfactory to hear that five meetings of a District Board had to be postponed for want of a quorum.

Conduct of zemindars.

13. After what has been said above of the relations between landlords and tenants, it is an agreeable surprise to read that the zemindars in the division are, on the whole, considered to have conducted themselves well. The following are favourably mentioned—the Tagore zemindars of Pubna, Babu Dakhina Ranjan Sanyal of Salap in Serajgunge, Rajah Govindo Lal Roy of Rungpore, Rajah Janoki Ballav Sen of Dimla, and the Rajah of Kakina. Most, however, of the principal zemindars in Rungpur are absentees and the estates of others are under the management of the Civil Courts.

14. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to place on record his high sense of the services rendered to Government by Mr. E. E. Lowis through a long career. His intimate knowledge of the country and its inhabitants has rendered his advice especially valuable in connection with the settlement operations in the Dooars. The favourable mention made by the Commissioner of Mr. Marindin, Colonel Boileau, Mr. Sunder, and his Personal Assistant Babu Hari Mohan Chandra entitles them to the acknowledgments of Government.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE PRESIDENCY DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1890-91.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS No. 1113.

Darjeeling, the 21st September 1891.

READ—

The General Administration Report of the Presidency Division for the year 1890-91.

MR. A. SMITH was in charge of the Presidency Division during the year, except for two months, when he was on leave and Mr. E. V. Westmacott officiated for him. His thorough knowledge of the Division and of its wants, and his extensive experience, are apparent in his report, which deals fully with every subject. It is a matter for regret that the District Officers of the 24-Pergunnahs and Nuddea were changed several times on public grounds.

Tours.

2. The Commissioner visited the head-quarters of all the districts, and states that he inspected most of the subdivisional offices and treasuries. He ought to have inspected them all in the course of the year. This is an omission which the Lieutenant-Governor is not disposed to overlook, and he trusts that it may not occur again. The tour of the Collector of the 24-Pergunnahs again fell short of the period of 60 days prescribed for this district, though a similar failure was unfavourably noticed last year. Sir Charles Elliott cannot regard the system of flying visits, which obtains in this district, as an adequate substitute for a regular tour, and desires that it may be avoided in future. It is also important that District Officers should leave full inspection notes on record, and that every Subdivisional Officer should have an inspection book, which Commissioners should examine for themselves and see that irregularities when noticed are corrected. The preparation for the census was the chief object of all the tours, but the Collector of Moorshedabad was also engaged with the distribution of charitable relief and the issue of loans to counteract the effects of the floods. The Subdivisional Officers, without a single exception, more than fully complied with the orders of Government in respect of touring. No sufficient explanation has been offered for the failure of the several Collectors to inspect their offices at Alipore and their subdivisional offices and treasuries. The use of office inspections was amply proved by the irregularities in several departments detected by the Collector of Moorshedabad at his periodical examination of his office registers.

Weather and crops.

3. In four out of the five districts the rainfall was heavier than in the two preceding years, and it was for the most part favourably distributed, occurring in the months in which it was most required for the crops. A great portion of the districts of Nuddea, Moorshedabad, and Jessore, and small portions of the 24-Pergunnahs and Khulna, were flooded. The following table shows approximately the extent and severity of the damage done by the inundation :—

	Area affected in square miles.	Quantity of aus destroyed. Annas.	Quantity of amun destroyed. Annas.
24-Pergunnahs	129	2	16
Nuddea	835	14	12
Jessore	565	8	16
Khulna	100	2	12
Moorshedabad	351	10	3

Relief was freely given in the affected localities wherever needed, so that Rs. 79,651 were spent under various heads in the Division ; the agricultural loans advanced amounted to Rs. 64,318 of this total. The net result of the season was that in all the districts the outturn of the aus rice was 2 to 4 annas less than the previous year, and the amun rice was similarly deficient in three districts : only in Moorshedabad the harvest gave a somewhat larger produce.

Public health and material condition of the people.

4. Assuming that the registration of deaths can be trusted—and this is a very large assumption—the recorded statistics of mortality show that the Division was more unhealthy than in the two years preceding, the ratio of deaths per 1,000 of the population having increased from 23·7 and 22·9 to 25·8. The increase is entirely attributable to a larger number of deaths from fever, as the deaths from cholera and from other causes were fewer than in either of the two previous years. Jessore and Khulna fared worse and Nuddea and Moorshedabad better than in 1888-89 and 1889-90, but the health of the 24-Pergunnahs deteriorated. It is a matter for congratulation that the Ardhodoya Jog festival in February, which attracted great multitudes of pilgrims to the Ganges, gave rise to no serious outbreak of cholera. It is also satisfactory to note the general improvement in Nuddea in both the urban and rural areas, comparing favourably with the years antecedent to the unhealthy period, 1880—85. Influenza is said to have prevailed in Khulna in an epidemic form, leading to many deaths by fever and other complications among its victims: a similar epidemic attacked Moorshedabad. In other respects there was no particular outbreak, but, as the Commissioner observes, imperfect drainage and the want of good drinking water are the chief sanitary defects complained of everywhere. The material condition of the people shows no marked change from year to year: the floods already mentioned necessarily caused some suffering, but there was no rise in the prices of food-grains to accentuate the distress. In fact rice was cheaper, as compared with the previous year, in all the districts except Khulna: the stocks in hand and the movements of trade kept prices down. The price of skilled labour has risen in the 24-Pergunnahs since two years ago; otherwise there has been no change in wages.

Manufactures and trade.

5. The number (46) of mills, presses, and factories at work in the 24-Pergunnahs remained unchanged, but considerable variations took place in the outturn. For instance, the gunny bags and cloth produced fell in value from Rs. 1,69,74,814 to Rs. 1,17,48,571, and jute baling from Rs. 2,72,82,140 to Rs. 1,88,55,919, owing to a depression in the colonial and country demand. Cotton twist and yarn showed an increase of production, but the trade has since taken an unfavourable turn. Indigo in Nuddea was so much damaged by the floods that the produce fell from 6,050 maunds, valued at Rs. 11,52,806, to 2,338 maunds, valued at Rs. 4,07,478. Similarly, in Jessore and Moorshedabad the outturn fell from 2,695 to 858 maunds and 4,358 to 2,279 maunds with corresponding diminutions in the values. In the former the agrarian difficulties added to the effects of the bad season. The sugar industry is declining to some extent. In Jessore the number of factories diminished from 180 to 160, as well as the weight and value of unrefined sugar: the case was similar in Khulna, and in both districts the importation of cheap foreign sugar is ascribed as the cause. The silk filatures in Moorshedabad decreased by 12, but the quantity of silk manufactured showed an increase. The Lieutenant-Governor regards the returns of the Calcutta trade, except that which is rail-borne, as open to much doubt. But taking the figures as derived from the registration offices on the roads for what they are worth, as apart from the river traffic, they show an increase of over 7½ lakhs of maunds imported into Calcutta. The trade on the Nuddea rivers shows a large increase in the imports and decrease in the exports, attributed to the effect of the flood on the district. The returns of the Khulna trade afford some evidence that merchants and traders have not found it convenient on account of the difficulties of transhipment to avail themselves of the rail to any appreciable extent.

Administrative changes.

6. Under the heading of administrative changes the Commissioner has collected the several improvements effected in official procedure during the year, such as the system of payment of rent by money-orders, &c. Such a list is useful for reference, but its application is not limited to the Division, and the different matters will be dealt with in the departmental reports. Certain alterations of jurisdiction have been effected, as, for instance, Magisterial and Small Cause Court powers have been given to the Station Staff Officer at Barrackpore within cantonment limits; the boundaries of the Sealdah Police Court have been extended, and in Khulna new registration offices have been opened in the Bagirhat sub-division. The number of Mahomedans in superior service has increased from 201 to 322, and in inferior service from 1,611 to 1,911. The figures do not appear to have been compiled with proper care: all the percentages required have not been calculated, and it is not clear, in the case of Nuddea for instance, how the percentage of appointments held by Mahomedans can have fallen from 34·4 to 25·2, when the number of employés has risen from 61 to 254.

7. The number of cognizable crimes reported in the Division has decreased from 14,798 to 14,689. There was a marked development of rioting, from 381 to 490 cases, attributable in the main to the indigo disturbances in the Jhenida and Magurah subdivisions. At the same time non-cognizable crime diminished from 18,305 to 17,647 cases. No special explanation has been given of these general results, which are the outcome of the fluctuations in each district. The conduct of the police during the year appears from the statistics of punishments to have improved, and the percentage of convictions obtained in police cases rose from 27 to 29. The increase in the reconvictions from 182 to 212 may also be credited to the police. The following passage from the report of the Magistrate of the 24-Pergunnahs reflects credit on the village police and punchayets of that district as a body:—

Police and crime.

"There has been nothing to complain of in the conduct of the chowkidars. They have done fairly on the whole. In this district they receive good salaries, varying from Rs. 4 to Rs. 6 per mensem; the higher figure being more common. Moreover, under the excellent system devised by Mr. Forbes, they are paid with remarkable punctuality once a quarter in the presence of a gazetted officer. They have nothing to complain of in respect of remuneration, and their shortcomings are chiefly due to imperfect supervision. There is generally a good understanding between the village punchayet and the chowkidar. The sympathies of the punchayets are generally on the side of law and order, and they are on the whole valuable aids to the police."

The Benches, and Honorary Magistrates sitting singly, dealt with 7,647 cases during the year 1890, as compared with 6,027 in 1889. They have almost all been made independent, and the attendance of the Honorary Magistrates, except in a few instances, has been generally regular.

8. The percentage of collections on the land revenue demand has risen from 95·73 to 96·8. Another year the percentages should be calculated separately on the different classes of estates. No explanation is offered of the large abatement of revenue, amounting to Rs. 1,00,138, which greatly affected the arrear demand and neutralized the better results obtained in the current collections. The financial results of the management of khas mehals were, as the Commissioner admits, far from satisfactory. The percentage of collections, viz., 77·7 on the gross demand, is not creditable, and as the percentage on the current demand is given as 93, it is not clear what is the object of stating the percentage on the current demand in 1889-90 to have been 106, unless it is to draw attention to the shortcomings of 1890-91. The bad results are ascribed to floods and vicissitudes of season; but it should be remembered that the assessment is intentionally moderate to admit of its being levied in all seasons alike. The subject of Government estates is receiving His Honour's special attention, and he expects District Officers to realize the importance which Government attaches to it. The omission of all allusions to settlements in the Commissioner's report is remarkable and should not recur. Sir Charles Elliott trusts that in working the Sale law with leniency and moderation as the Commissioner reports, the Collectors are not neglecting the just rights of Government or encouraging a tendency to unpunctuality and unthrift among the payers of land revenue.

Land revenue.

Cesses.

In the table of the demands, collections, &c., of the Road and Public Works cesses an unnecessary distinction has been made between the two cesses, the figures being identical (except when there is an odd rupee in the collections), and in future they might be treated together. The percentages of collections, viz., 83 of the current and 76 of the arrear demand, are not at all up to the standard which Sir Charles Elliott desires to see attained. Similarly, in Wards' estates instances are given of unsatisfactory collections, in which great improvement must be insisted on. In the Cossimbazar estate, for instance, over 100 per cent. of the current demand was realized, but it is simultaneously admitted that only about 50 per cent. of the total demand was secured.

Wards.

9. The total increase in the excise revenue of the Division was Rs. 1,33,078, obtained from every exciseable article except rum. The increase in Calcutta was over Rs. 1,40,000, attributed to the better settlement of shops, larger consumption of licit liquors and licit ganja and opium, but there was a decrease in three out of the five districts. The licenses issued were 240 less than in the previous year. The falling off in the consumption of salt in the protected areas of the 24-Pergunnahs and Khulna recorded last year was recovered by an increase of nearly 25,000 maunds. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts to the local officers to see that the penal clauses of the Salt Act are enforced with discretion, and that petty offences are not multiplied with a view to improving the appearance of police returns. The increase in the stamp revenue was Rs. 1,57,045, against an increase of Rs. 1,27,623 in 1889-90—a satisfactory indication of the better observance of the law and of the facilities afforded for the sale of stamps. The gross demand on account of the income-tax was Rs. 37,964 less than in the previous year, but the eventual collection showed an increase of Rs. 30,276: these figures, taken together, indicate an improvement in the method of assessment

Excise, salt, stamps, income-tax.

Roads and communications.

10. Constant applications are made to the Lieutenant-Governor in addresses presented to him on his tours of inspection for the construction of branch railways, feeder lines, tramways, &c., which show that the people fully appreciate the benefits conferred on them by British enterprise in these respects. But it is generally found that such proposals are submitted in an immature, crude state, and that their promoters are more anxious to obtain the assistance of Government than ready to come forward themselves with the necessary funds. Sir Charles Elliott has had considerable experience of schemes of this character, and has invariably pointed out that the resources of Government are limited and are required for the development of arterial communications, so that projects of local importance must enlist the sympathy and support of local capitalists, or at any rate of private enterprise, if they are to be executed within a reasonable period. At the same time he has gladly intimated his willingness to afford the aid of the skilled officers of Government in making surveys and framing estimates for promising lines of railway and ancillary works. When the Commissioner wrote his report, he was apparently unaware that the Nalhati State Railway is to be made over to the East Indian Railway Company, who will doubtless effect the improvements required in its working. He is apparently not quite correct in stating that all attempts to keep the Bhagirathi navigable are unavailing, as His Honour was lately informed locally that a passage of some feet of water is maintained through the cold weather. It is satisfactory to notice that the condition of the roads has been very much improved during their three years' management by the District Board of the 24-Pergunnahs. The statement that the communications in Nuddea are gradually deteriorating requires the attention of all concerned.

Education.

11. It would have been a help to Government if the Commissioner had made some attempt to elucidate the educational statistics of his Division with some comments of general application. The schools of all grades regarded as public institutions decreased from 5,794 to 5,521, and their pupils from 191,013 to 177,404. Allowing for one new private institution, there has been a net loss of 272 schools and 13,599 pupils. It is to be regretted that this loss has occurred almost entirely in the lower primary schools and female schools. At the same time the expenditure from public sources increased, while private contributions declined. The District Boards have aided the upper rather than the lower primary schools. The unaided lower primary schools advanced, both in respect of the number of schools and of the pupils, affording evidence of the demand for this class of education, which it is specially the duty of the District Officers and District Boards to meet as far as possible. Notwithstanding the figures above quoted, the District Boards are said to have generally evinced much interest in educational matters and to have worked harmoniously with the Educational Department. The Commissioner attributes the decrease in primary schools and pupils, not so much to a change of system, as to want of care in the collection of the statistics by the departmental officers. The attention of the Director of Public Instruction will be invited to these remarks. The number of Mahomedan pupils declined by 3,570, but the percentage of them as compared with the total number of pupils varied to an infinitesimal degree.

12. The portion of the Commissioner's report which deals with Local Self-Government institutions is replete with facts, such as the constitution of the various committees, their meetings, &c.; but, for a survey of the general question, Mr. Smith contents himself with referring to the opinion he expressed last year, that the system of Local Self-Government continued to work smoothly and with fair success. One of the District Officers writes:—

District and Local Boards and Municipalities.

"I am doubtful whether Local Boards, as at present constituted, are of much real use. They have scarcely any power of initiation, and their functions are practically confined to disbursing fixed grants on certain prescribed work. They take no part in the financial administration of the district, and their efficiency as executive agents of the District Board is not great. On the other hand, they spend a certain amount of money on establishments, office buildings, and the like, which might be more usefully applied. I am disposed to think the scheme of Local Self-Government requires revision."

And the same officer writes of municipalities:—

"The elections have disclosed the circumstance that the best men, generally speaking, stand aloof from municipal administration, while seats at the Municipal Board are hotly contested by those who lead, or who have to serve, village factions, or seek to acquire or keep up influence with the people of the locality. A few men undoubtedly there are who seek or accept office from purely unselfish motives; but these are rare."

The Commissioner, however, regards Local Boards as useful agencies for controlling the local expenditure, and very properly considers that the remarks about municipalities are not applicable to such institutions in India alone.

13. In this Division there is more chance than elsewhere of an educated public opinion being developed in the towns, but it is not to be expected that there will be any special change from year to year among the masses of the people. Their interests in life are necessarily limited to their immediate concerns—in many cases to their ancestral homes and fields. There are 38 presses, chiefly engaged in publishing newspapers; some of them are to be found in each district except Khulna, and the total circulation of the daily and weekly issues amounts to a considerable number, working up to the formation of what would be regarded as public opinion in any other country, though in India it represents the views of a limited circle. The subjects discussed in the vernacular papers were the same as those which filled the columns of the English press, with the difference that more prominence was given to such local matters as the floods and losses of crops. With regard to the tone of the vernacular and Anglo vernacular press, the Commissioner writes as follows: "it shows signs of gradual, but steady improvement; more care is taken to get at real facts, and it is becoming understood that indiscriminate and unvarying censure destroys its own effects." These views are rather optimistic, and the Lieutenant-Governor doubts if it is accurate to say that there is any perceptible improvement in the tone of the vernacular press in general, but he is glad to believe it true in the case of the more respectable newspapers. Indeed the Commissioner goes on to add:—"The criticism is frequently puerile and nearly always hostile. It is difficult to believe that some of it is written in good faith."

Public feeling and the public press.

14. Absenteeism is the characteristic of the richer landlords in the 24-Pergunnahs, as elsewhere. In Nuddea no special work of public utility was carried out by any of the zemindars, but both here and in other districts they contributed for the relief of distress when required, though not always as much as they might have done. In the Satkhira subdivision some of the zemindars and talookdars were concerned in criminal cases, but on the whole the relations between landlord and tenant were amicable throughout the Division. The Maharani Surnomoyi, C.I., again exhibited the generosity which has made her name so renowned for her acts of liberality and charity. The Nawab Bahadur of Moorshedabad, whose serious illness is greatly to be lamented, and other members of the Nizamat family showed themselves worthy of their position. It is a welcome sign of the times that members of this historical family have commenced to take marked interest in local affairs, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that their good example will induce other native gentlemen of family to undertake serious and responsible public duties, in which they can do much to co-operate with Government.

Conduct of zemindars.

15. The Lieutenant-Governor, in acknowledging the fulness of the Commissioner's report, will only express a wish that his successors will, besides stating facts, devote more attention to the formation of conclusions on a review of the varying circumstances of the districts. He takes this opportunity of recording his sense of Mr. A. Smith's merits as a painstaking and experienced officer, possessed of great knowledge of Bengal administration and of ripe judgment. Sir Charles Elliott is glad to notice the favourable opinion expressed by the Commissioner of Mr. Forbes, Mr. Bolton, Mr. Ritchie, and Mr. Baker as District Officers, and of Baboo Durgagati Banerjee as Collector of Calcutta. The Commissioner's remarks on all the officers subordinate to him will be duly considered in the Appointment Department.

	Central Districts*—concld.
RAJSHAHYE DIVN.—concld. 15	Bogra Sept. 19, '91	1·51	Weather—generally fine; occasionally overcast. Late rain has improved prospects of aman rice, and there is no immediate cause for serious apprehension. Transplantation going on, but generally much behindhand. Growth of crops previously transplanted rather slow, but none have failed. It is particularly fortunate that the heaviest rain has been in the south of the district (about Sherpur and Nowkhilla), where the fall had previously been exceptionally scanty. But a good deal more rain will be needed during the next few weeks. Some land is being cultivated for mustard and other cold-weather crops. Sugarcane doing well. No lack of fodder. Price of common rice has not lately risen: it is selling at 15 seers a rupee.

PATNA DIVN.—concld. 31	Mozufferpur Sept. 19, '91	0·22	Weather—hot and occasionally cloudy. Want of rain is being much felt throughout the district. Fields are dry, but hitherto no appreciable damage has been done. A good kathiya rain can still save the rice crop. Bhadoi harvest still continues. Indigo makai almost finished. BHAGULPORE DIVN. 34	Monghyr „ 19, '91	0·75	Weather—hot. Bhadoi harvest still going on. Makai and marua coming into market. 35	Bhagulpur „ 19, '91	1·27	Weather—generally hot, but there was good rain in places on the 17th. Prospects of winter rice on the south of the Ganges are fair. On the north of the Ganges more rain is urgently wanted, but reports are awaited as to how far the recent rain extended in that direction.
36	Purneah „ 19, '91	6·12	Weather—again close and little appearance of further rain. Recent rain has been of great use, as it allows preparation for rabi to proceed where the aghani has been a failure. It has also saved much of the aghani for the present, but in parts of the head-quarters subdivision this crop is so overrun with weeds that it will come to nothing. No cattle-disease. * Mean of 6 days. † Mean of 5 days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last [illegible] years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past [illegible] stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least a tenth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Saturday, the 19th of September 1891.

Explanation.—.....indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 22nd September 1891.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, THE 19TH OF SEPTEMBER 1891.

QUITE at the close of the previous week a small barometric depression had again formed in the north-west angle of the Bay, which on the 12th, or the last day of that week, had passed inland, crossing the coast near Balasore, and on this day its centre was to the north-west of Balasore or to the south-east of Chybassa. The small storm brought up rather heavy rain to the districts through which it passed, while some stations to the south of the path of the centre received particularly heavy rain. On the 13th the depression had again advanced in a north-westerly direction, and its centre was in the extreme west of the province, probably in the west of Chutia Nagpur. It continued its advance on the following day when it reached Jubbulpore, where it apparently filled up and disappeared, for its existence was scarcely evident on the 15th. The monsoon current brought up in the rear of the small storm was however feeble, and the rainfall given by it was light though fairly general. Conditions then remained of ordinary light monsoon character up till the 16th, when the easterly element in the wind directions decidedly fell off in force, winds becoming southerly over a large part of the province, while at some of the western stations they were even westerly. This apparently was brought about by the strengthening of a westerly wind current, and this at once caused interaction and consequent heavy rainfall, and on the 16th and 17th heavy rain was reported at all the western stations and at many of the northern stations. On the 17th, also, winds showed a tendency to cyclonic circulation in the north-west angle of the Bay and of indraught to the sea area off the Orissa and Ganjam coasts, but this did not develop, and on the 18th a feeble area of low pressure drifted over Ganjam, and again rather heavy rain was received in Orissa. On the 19th conditions in the Bay began to change; a rapid rise of pressure took place in Orissa and along the mid-west coast of the Bay, and a moderate rise in Bengal, so that generally the differences of pressure over the Bay became very small. At the same time a rather rapid fall of pressure set in at Rangoon and Moulmein, and winds became north-westerly in Lower Burma, and it thus appeared possible that a barometric depression with its attendant cyclonic circulation of winds was crossing Tenasserim towards Lower Burma. Over the Bay generally at this time, however, very light monsoon conditions were generally obtaining.

Conditions therefore during the week have been fairly favourable for rainfall, and in Behar and North Bengal in particular fairly good rain has been received, the amounts being larger than those normal for the week; but in other districts the falls have been rather smaller than usual.

Pressure.—The variations of pressure during the week have been large. On the 13th it had risen rapidly at the southern and south-western stations and less rapidly elsewhere; the large changes being due to the advance of the small depression to the extreme west of the province. The increase continued on the 14th, but by smaller amounts; but on the 15th a fall set in which continued on the 16th. On the 17th pressure was again rising, the increase being rapid at the northern stations and less rapid towards the south and south-west of the province; and on the 18th again pressure had risen, the increase being largest in the east of the province, where at Silchar it equalled 0·12″, while in the south-west of the province the rise was small. On the 19th the rapid rise had extended to Orissa and to the south-western districts generally, and on this day the distribution of pressure had entirely changed, the highest pressure being reported in North-East Bengal, and the lowest in Burma and in Orissa and Ganjam. In Bengal on this date pressure was at many stations a tenth of an inch in excess of the normal. For the whole week the mean pressure has been slightly above the normal, the excess generally equalling from 0·01″ to 0·04″. In Assam the mean excess has been 0·011.″

Temperature.—The changes during the week have also been moderately large, but on the whole the temperature has been nearly normal. Thus a slight excess averaging a little over half a degree has been shown in the mean temperature of North and South Behar and South-West Bengal, and a defect, but of rather smaller amount, in the mean temperature of Chutia Nagpur, Orissa, and North Bengal. In East Bengal temperature has been absolutely normal. For the whole province the mean temperature for the week may therefore be said to have been about 0·2° above the normal. In Assam, on the other hand, a defect of 0·03° has been registered.

Rainfall—Has been in excess of the normal in Orissa, North and South Behar, and in Chutia Nagpur. It has been almost normal in North Bengal, and moderately below it in South-West and East Bengal. The districts of Orissa, North Bengal, and Chutia Nagpur have received between two and three inches of rain, those of East Bengal and North and South Behar between one and-a-half and two inches of rain, and South-West Bengal an average amount of only 1·30 inches of rain. It is noticeable that this week North and South Behar have received falls above the average for the first time for some weeks, while also for the first time for many weeks North Bengal has received a fall nearly equal to the normal. The distribution of the rainfall has, however, been rather irregular in the various divisions, and thus the following districts have received falls during the week which are very decidedly defective :—Burdwan, Beerbhoom, Nuddea, Mozufferpore Durbhunga, and Gya.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 19th of September 1891 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

HOME DEPARTMENT.

Public.

The following papers on the subject of the discontinuance of the practice of granting honorary titles ex-officio are published for general information.

No. 2012-I.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India in the Foreign Department,—under date Simla, the 12th May 1891.

Read—

Foreign Department Resolution No. 3205-I, dated 6th September 1886.

Read also—

Circular No. 25-C.I., dated 23rd November 1887, from the Foreign Department to Local Governments, Administrations, and Agencies, asking for opinions on the question of the grant of ex-officio titles to Native officials in the Public Works, Judicial, and Administrative Departments of the State.

RESOLUTION.—After perusal of the replies to the above Circular, and after reconsidering the whole question, especially with regard to the difficulty of extending the principle of ex-officio titles to other departments, the Government of India consider it desirable to cancel the order of 1886 relating to ex-officio titles in the Public Works Department.

2. Experience derived from the special recommendations made in behalf of officers of certain branches of the Public Works Department to whom the Resolution of 1886 did not apply, but who were of corresponding rank to those to whom it did apply, shows that it will suffice to leave Local Governments and Administrations to take the initiative in recommending specially deserving officers for the grant of honorific titles when they think it desirable to do so. The Governor-General in Council is therefore pleased to order the cancellation of Resolution No. 3205-I., dated 6th September 1886, so far as regards the grant of ex-officio or other titles under its terms.

3. Those officers and subordinates, however, who have already received titles under its operation will retain them while they remain in the department.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the above Resolution be forwarded to the Local Governments, Administrations, and Agencies named in the margin for information.

The Governments of Fort St. George, Bombay, Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, and the Punjab.
The Chief Commissioners of Assam, Central Provinces, Burma, and Ajmere-Merwara.
The Residents at Hyderabad, Nipal, Mysore, and Kashmir.
The Agents to the Governor-General in Central India, Rajputana, Baroda, and Baluchistan.
The Political Residents in the Persian Gulf and Turkish Arabia.

Home Department Resolution Nos. 17—747-59, dated the 18th May 1882.

From	ditto	ditto,	No. 1709, dated 21st July 1885.
From	ditto	ditto,	No. 76, dated 19th January 1887.

RESOLUTION.—The orders contained in paragraph 16 of Home Department Resolution of the 18th May 1882, directed that the courtesy title of "Rai (or Rao) Bahadur" or "Khan Bahadur" should be used in all official correspondence with Native Members of all Local Boards during their term of office. These orders were at once objected to by the Government of Bombay, who represented that it was inexpedient "that titles which have hitherto been highly valued, rarely bestowed, and only earned after years of assiduous and successful labour in the service of Government, should be scattered broadcast over the land." In reply, the Bombay Government were informed that there was no objection to the Local Government adopting for members of Local Boards any complimentary form of address which seemed to them suitable, and it was eventually decided in Home Department letter No. 53, dated the 13th January 1883, that the honorary titles to be granted in that Presidency to non-official members of District and Taluka Local Fund Committees during their term of office should be—

(1) in the case of all non-official Presidents and Chairmen of District Local Fund Committees, the title of "Rao Bahadur" or "Khan Bahadur;"

(2) in the case of all non-official Presidents and Chairmen of Taluka Local Fund Committees, and of all non-official members (not being Presidents and Chairmen) of District Local Fund Committees, the title of "Rao Saheb" or "Khan Saheb;"

(3) in the case of all non-official members (not being Presidents or Chairmen) of Taluka Local Fund Committees, the title of "Azam."

Again, in the Home Department letter of the 1st June 1885, cited in the preamble, the Government of India approved the proposal of the Bombay Government that the titles for non-official Presidents and Vice-Presidents of Municipalities with a population of 18,000 and upwards should be "Rao Bahadur" or "Khan Bahadur;" that the titles for other Municipal Commissioners of such Municipalities and non-official Presidents and Vice-Presidents of minor Municipalities should be "Rao Saheb" or "Khan Saheb;" and that the title for the Commissioners of minor Municipalities should be "Azam."

Later, in letter No. 1152, dated the 18th May 1885, the Government of Madras made the same objection as had previously been raised by the Government of Bombay to the use of courtesy titles for members of Local Boards, and asked if the Government of India would be satisfied if in that Presidency these titles were only conferred on the Vice-Presidents of Local Boards and Municipalities. A copy of the correspondence with the Government of Bombay was forwarded to the Government of Madras, who were informed that the arrangement adopted in the former Presidency, or any other similar scheme which was considered suitable, might be adopted in Madras. That Government accordingly decided that Vice-Presidents of District Boards and Chairmen of Municipalities with over 20,000 inhabitants should have the honorary title of "Khan Bahadur" or "Rao Bahadur," and that members of District Boards, Presidents and Vice-Presidents of Taluk Boards, the members of Municipalities with over 20,000 inhabitants, and Chairmen of smaller ones, that of "Khan Saheb" or "Rao Saheb" during the continuance of their term of office.

2. The Governor-General in Council has recently had under consideration the question whether the present system of granting ex-officio titles should be maintained. After consulting all Local Governments and Administrations on the subject, His Excellency in Council has come to the conclusion that it is not desirable, having regard to the identity of these courtesy titles with those which are awarded by Government as a special and highly valued mark of distinction for long and honourable service of the public, that they should any longer be used merely as a mark of official rank, and by the orders of 12th May 1891, read in the preamble, the orders contained in Foreign Department Resolution No. 3205-I., dated the 6th September 1886, under which Native members of the Public Works Department enjoyed the privilege of ex-officio titles, have been cancelled. In accordance with this decision, the orders contained in paragraph 16 of the Home Department Resolution, dated 18th May 1882, are also hereby withdrawn. The Governor-General in Council desires to suggest to the Governments of Madras and Bombay that the similar orders in force in those Presidencies, which were issued to carry out the decision arrived at by the Government of India in 1882, should also, unless His Excellency the Governor in Council sees strong objection, be recalled.

3. Members of Municipal and Local Boards who, under the operation of orders now cancelled, enjoy the privilege of being addressed by ex-officio titles, will continue to be so addressed until they quit office.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to Local Governments and Administrations for information and guidance, and that a copy be forwarded to the Foreign Department for information.

No. 2648, dated Bombay Castle, the 25th July 1891.

From—T. D. MACKENZIE, ESQ., C.S., Chief Secretary to the Government of Bombay, General Department,

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department.

I AM desired to acknowledge the receipt of the Resolution of the Government of India in the Home Department, in paragraph 2 of which it is announced that the Government of India has come to the conclusion that the honorary titles conferred ex-officio on members of District and Taluka Local Boards and Municipal Commissioners by Government of India letter No. 53, dated 13th January 1883, and Government of India letter No. 942, dated 1st June 1885, respectively, should, for the reasons assigned by this Government in 1882, now be discontinued. It is further suggested that orders to the above effect should be issued by this Government to give effect in this Presidency to the above decision of the Government of India.

2. In reply, I am to state that His Excellency the Governor in Council is not in favour of doing away with these titles now that they have been once bestowed; but if this Government is directed to discontinue the grant thereof, the orders of the Government of India will be obeyed: otherwise it would, the Governor in Council considers, be wiser to retain what has now become customary. In any case it would be desirable, if the ex-officio honorary titles are to be abolished, that this Government should retain the power of granting these distinctions for exceptional zeal, and merit on the part of Presidents and Members in municipal work. It seems almost indispensable that Government should retain and use some weapon of influence to get the Municipal Commissioners over the obstructions raised by ignorance and selfishness to any measure of improvement which involves municipal taxation in order to avert the danger of the Municipal Corporations degenerating still further.

3. I am directed to ask whether there will be any objection in publishing the Resolution of the Government of India now under reference as well as their final orders when received.

No. 1499, dated Simla, the 13th September 1891.

To—The Chief Secretary to the Government of Bombay, General Department.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 2648, dated the 25th July last, representing that His Excellency the Governor in Council is not in favour of the discontinuance of the practice of conferring honorary titles ex officio on members of District and Taluka Local Boards and Municipal Commissioners, and expressing his opinion that it would be the wiser course to maintain them now that they have become customary. If, however, these titles are discontinued, His Excellency in Council considers it desirable that the Government of Bombay should exercise the power of conferring them on Presidents and Members of Municipal Committees for exceptional zeal and merit.

2. In reply, I am to say that the objections now brought to notice by the Bombay Government were fully considered by the Government of India after consultation with Local Governments and Administrations before the issue of the Resolutions marginally noted, and the conclusion arrived at was that it was not advisable to maintain merely as a mark of official or municipal rank titles identical with those which are conferred by Government as a special and highly valued mark of distinction for long and honourable public service. The Governor-General in Council is of opinion that so extensive a use of ex-officio titles as is involved in the maintenance of the existing orders in Bombay is not desirable on the ground that it seriously detracts from the value which should attach to similar titles when conferred in recognition of special services by His Excellency the Viceroy as representative of Her Majesty the Queen-Empress of India. Members of Local and Municipal Committees who have already accepted office with ex-officio titles will retain them in accordance with paragraph 3 of the Resolution of this Department, dated the 17th June last, so long as they hold office; but, in the opinion of the Government of India, no newly appointed or elected member should have such titles conferred on him except as a personal distinction for good service rendered. His Excellency the Viceroy, while from the nature of the case is unable to delegate to the Bombay Government the power to confer titles (a power which rests only in the Governor-General as the representative of Her Majesty the Queen-Empress) for exceptional zeal and merit in municipal work, will always be prepared to give favourable consideration to any recommendation which a Local Government may see fit to make in favour of individuals for the conferment of a honorific title as a personal distinction in recognition of good work done in municipal or local administration.

Foreign Department Resolution No. 2012-I., dated 12th May 1891.

Home Department Resolution No. $\frac{16}{1070\text{-}81}$, dated 17th June 1891.

3. I am to add, however, that His Excellency the Governor-General in Council will raise no objection to Presidents and Vice-Presidents of Municipal and Local Committees continuing to enjoy titles as an official distinction, if the Government of Bombay desire so to order. These offices are not so numerous; they entail on the holder considerable trouble and responsibility; and appointment to them, whether by election or nomination, is itself a distinction.

4. The Resolution of the Foreign and Home Departments, dated respectively the 12th May 1891 and 17th June 1891, together with the present correspondence, will be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

NOTIFICATION.

The 25th September 1891.—The following draft of revised rules for the establishment and maintenance of hospitals and dispensaries by local authorities, which the Lieutenant-Governor proposes to make under section 69(b) of Bengal Act III of 1884, and section 138(k) of Bengal Act III of 1885, and in supersession of all existing rules under these sections, is published for general information under section 143 of the latter Act. These rules also include rules for the management of hospitals and dispensaries under Government supervision, which supersede those forming part of the Dispensary Manual, issued with the Government of Bengal Notification, dated the 2nd September 1886. The draft rules will be taken into consideration on or after the 1st November 1891, when any objections or suggestions which may be made by any person, and received before that date, will also be considered.

H. H. RISLEY,
Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RULES FOR THE MANAGEMENT OF HOSPITALS AND DISPENSARIES UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF THE GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

PRELIMINARY.

IN these rules—

(a) "Local authority" means any body of persons for the time being invested by law with the control and administration of any matters within a specified local area. It includes a Joint-Committee under section 30 and a Local Board under section 101 of Bengal Act III of 1885.

(b) "Local fund" means any fund under the control or management of a local authority.

CLASSIFICATION.

RULE 1.—Hospitals and dispensaries under Government supervision are divided into the following classes:—

CLASS I.—State hospitals and dispensaries maintained by Provincial Funds and under Government management. (The fact that an institution is possessed of endowments, or receives contributions from local funds or private subscriptions, does not remove it from this category so long as Provincial Funds are practically responsible for all the charges connected with it.)

CLASS II.—Local Fund hospitals and dispensaries under the control and administration of local authorities (i.e. District Boards, Local Boards, and Municipal Committees), or guaranteed or maintained by local funds. [The fact that such an institution is aided by private subscriptions, or receives assistance from Government in the shape of part of the salary of the medical officer, grants of medicine, or otherwise, does not remove it from this category so long as its existence is practically dependent upon local funds.]

CLASS III.—Private hospitals and dispensaries. This class is sub-divided into—

(A)—Institutions maintained entirely at the cost of private individuals or associations or from private endowments. [The fact that Government supplies superior inspection or registers does not remove an institution from this category.]

(B)—Institutions supported by private subscriptions or endowments, but receiving aid from Government or local funds.

CONDITIONS UNDER WHICH GOVERNMENT AID AND SUPERVISION WILL BE GIVEN.

RULE 2.—A dispensary may be opened by a local authority with the sanction, general or special, of the Commissioner, and on provision of the necessary funds in the annual budget, and it may be closed by the same authority with the same sanction. When thus opened or closed by a local authority, the fact shall be reported by the Civil Surgeon to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, in order that the dispensary may be added to or struck off from the list in Class II. No dispensary in either Class II or Class III in which a Government medical subordinate is employed shall, however, be closed without the sanction of Government. All dispensaries maintained by local authorities with public funds entrusted to them by Government are subject to all the rules hereby laid down for the management of such institutions. Whenever a dispensary under Class III is opened or closed by a private individual, the fact shall be reported by the Civil Surgeon to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals. If it is desired that such institution shall be brought under the supervision and inspection of Government officers, or if it receives aid in any way (other than grant of forms and registers free of cost) from Government or local funds, it shall be brought on to the Government list, but not otherwise. If brought on to the Government list, it shall be subject to these rules.

RULE 3.—Applications for grants from Government in respect of any dispensary shall be submitted to Government through the Magistrate and the Commissioner.

The Lieutenant-Governor reserves the right to withdraw Government supervision or aid in any case, or at any time, when it may seem desirable to do so.

No grant may be made by a local authority in aid of any hospital or dispensary which has not received the recognition of Government and been classified under these rules. Grants-in-aid shall be made only in accordance with these rules.

RULE 4.—A guarantee bond for the maintenance of a dispensary for a given period may, if thought necessary, be required from the intending supporters of an institution in Class III as a condition precedent to their obtaining assistance from Government in money or in any other way.

RULE 5.—The Managing Committee of every hospital or dispensary under these rules, whether in Class I, Class II, or Class III, shall submit to the Medical Department, through the Civil Surgeon of the district, such reports, returns, and accounts as may be prescribed by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals from time to time. Such reports, returns, and accounts shall be in such forms, and be submitted on such dates, as may be prescribed. All books, registers, and forms which may be necessary for the preparation and submission of such reports, returns, and accounts will be supplied by Government free of cost.

RULE 6.—Every institution which is recognised by Government and brought under these rules is subject to inspection and supervision by the Commissioner of the Division, by the Civil authorities of the district, by the Civil Surgeon, by the administrative officers of the Medical Department, and by any other person who may be generally or specially appointed by the Commissioner of the Division in that behalf. No charge will be made for such inspection or supervision.

RULE 7.—Government aid to a hospital or dispensary will be conditional on the observance of due economy in the management of the dispensary funds. The Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals will bring to the notice of Government any instance in which he considers that such economy is not observed, and that the Government aid should be continued or withdrawn.

RULE 8.—Every dispensary under these rules, which has accommodation for in-patients, shall admit all cases brought by the police for examination and treatment; and shall provide facilities for post mortem examinations being conducted in such cases. At head-quarters of sub-divisions, where a special provision of medicines is made for Government servants, these medicines shall be separately stored and dispensed to Government servants in the dispensary and by its establishment.

APPOINTMENT, PAY, LEAVE AND PENSION OF MEDICAL OFFICERS.

RULE 9.—The medical officer of every institution in Class I of these rules shall be a member of the Government service, and shall be appointed by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals.

The medical officer of a dispensary in Class II shall be nominated by the local authority and approved by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals. In the case of dispensaries situated at the head-quarters of districts or of sub-divisions, he shall be a member of the Government service, and shall in all cases possess such qualifications as may be declared to be necessary for such an appointment.

The medical officer for a dispensary in Class III shall ordinarily be appointed by the supporters of the institution in any manner they think fit; but if the dispensary receives pecuniary aid from Government, the grant of such aid may be coupled with any suitable conditions as to the qualifications requisite for the officer in charge.

RULE 10.—The qualifications required in the preceding rule are, in the case of a dispensary in Class II, if the medical officer nominated is not a member of the Government service,—

(a) that he be a duly qualified medical man, licensed or certified by a recognised medical college or school, his license or diploma being subject to examination and approval by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals;

(b) that he be not a dismissed servant of Government, or disqualified for his duties by age, infirmity, or character; and

(c) that in the event of misconduct, insolvency, or professional incompetence by reason of age or otherwise, being proved against him to the satisfaction of the Medical Department, he be removed from his charge on the requisition of the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals.

In the case of dispensaries in Class III assisted by Government funds—

(a) that he be not a dismissed servant of Government, or disqualified for his duties by age, infirmity, or character; and

(b) that in the event of misconduct, insolvency, or professional incompetence by reason of age or otherwise, being proved against any medical officer in a dispensary in class III assisted by Government funds or in class II, to the satisfaction of the Medical Department, he shall be removed from his charge on the requisition of the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals.

RULE 11.—In the case of a hospital or dispensary situated at the head-quarters of a sub-division, the Government medical officer in charge of the sub-division will be in charge of the hospital or dispensary in addition to his other duties, and will receive from the managers of the dispensary an additional allowance of Rs. 10 a month if he is a Civil Hospital Assistant, or Rs. 20 a month if he is an Assistant Surgeon. It will be open to the managers, however, to obtain the services of a medical subordinate of the Government establishment of such higher rank as they may desire, on the payment by them of the full amount by which the authorised pay and allowances of such officer may exceed the amount sanctioned by Government for the medical charge of the sub-division.

RULE 12.—The Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals may at any time, for departmental or other reasons, remove or transfer any Government medical subordinate whose services have been lent to an institution in Class II or III, and may appoint another medical subordinate to succeed him. In every such case, except as hereinafter provided, the transit pay and travelling allowances both of the officer transferred and of his successor shall be entirely paid by Government Provided that, if any officer is transferred at the request of the local authority or Managing Committee, the transit pay and travelling allowances both of the officer transferred and of his successor shall be entirely paid by the local authority or Managing Committee concerned.

RULE 13.—The pay to which a Government medical subordinate in medical charge of any dispensary is entitled is only the pay of his grade, and no allowance in excess of his authorized pay can be granted by a local authority without the consent of the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals.

RULE 14.—A Government medical subordinate appointed to the charge of a hospital or dispensary under these rules will retain his right to pension and leave allowances under the rules of the Civil Service Regulations.

RULE 15.—All applications for leave from Government medical subordinates must be submitted, through the Managing Committee and the Civil Surgeon, to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Bengal, who alone is authorized to grant the leave and to appoint a substitute whose transit pay and travelling allowance will be paid by Government.

RULE 16.—Medical officers in charge of hospitals or dispensaries in Class II or Class III, who are not in Government service, shall be entitled to such leave as the local authority or Managing Committee may grant; provided that in the case of an institution in Class II, if rules for the grant of leave have been framed by the local authority concerned, leave shall only be granted in accordance with such rules. The Local authority or Managing Committee shall appoint a locum tenens duly qualified under rule 9, and shall provide for any expenditure that may be incurred on account of the pay of the medical officer while on leave, and the pay and travelling allowances, if any, of his locum tenens.

RULE 17.—The salaries or part salaries of Government medical subordinates, including such enhanced pay as they may be entitled to on promotion, as well as the contributions towards their leave and pension allowances, which are due from a local authority or manager of a dispensary, must be paid each month, and the Magistrate of the district will be held responsible that such payments are duly made, and that steps are taken to recover their amount from the managers of the dispensary. In special cases, where on a full consideration of the entire income and expenditure of the local authority concerned, the Magistrate and the Commissioner are of opinion that it is really unable to meet the increased charge arising from the promotion of a medical subordinate, the Government will be prepared to help either by appointing an officer on lower pay, or by granting the amount due from Provincial funds.

MEDICAL STORES.

RULE 18.—The indents for medical stores for hospitals and dispensaries in Classes II and III must be drawn up by the medical officer of the institution and be checked and passed by the Civil Surgeon before the stores are purchased. Such institutions shall make their own arrangements for the supply of medicines and medical stores. Cinchona febrifuge and quinine can, however, at the option of the managing body, be obtained from the Government Quinologist direct on payment.

RULE 19.—Medical stores will be supplied to State hospitals and dispensaries from the Government Medical Store Department; but the indent must be checked and countersigned by the Civil Surgeon, and the supply will ordinarily be confined to the articles specified in the list given in Appendix B, Form XV. It will, however, be in the discretion of the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals to sanction or disallow any demand.

RULE 20.—Medical stores to be supplied from the Medical Store Department must be indented for annually, and the annual indent must be submitted on the date fixed by the Civil Surgeon, to enable him to submit the combined indent for his district punctually on the date fixed by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Bengal.

MANAGEMENT AND SUPERVISION.

RULE 21.—The management of hospitals and dispensaries under these rules shall be vested as follows:—

(a) Class I—in such officer, person or persons as Government may direct.

(b) Class II—in the local authority which provides the major portion of the funds from which the institution is maintained, or in a Managing Committee appointed by that authority. Such Managing Committee may include persons who are not members of the local authority. The members shall be notified by the Commissioner in the Calcutta Gazette, and the Commissioner shall exercise in respect of the hospital or dispensary for which it is appointed such powers as may be delegated to it by the local authority.

(c) Class III,—in a Manager or Managing Committee to be nominated by the Commissioner of the Division; provided that no Committee shall be appointed for any institution in this class, which receives no aid from Government or Local funds, unless the proprietors or chief supporters apply for such appointment.

No medical officer and no employé of the dispensary shall be eligible for appointment as a member of the Dispensary Committee.

RULE 22.—In cases falling under (b) and (c) of rule 21, the Local authority or the Managing Committee shall elect two of their number to be Chairman and Vice-Chairman respectively, and may also elect another of their number as Secretary.

RULE 23.—The Managing Committee shall meet at least once a quarter, and shall scrutinize the accounts and enquire into all matters affecting the welfare of the institution. They shall examine and pass the monthly accounts, and shall keep a minute-book in which their proceedings shall be recorded.

RULE 24.—The Managing Committee shall be responsible for the management of the funds of the institution. It shall be their duty to see that the guaranteed and promised subscriptions are regularly collected. After defraying the current expenses of the institution, the balance at the end of the month, if any, of the donations, subscriptions and interest realized by the Committee shall be deposited by them in the Post Office Savings Bank. When the amount at credit of the dispensary exceeds Rs. 200, the Comptroller-General should ordinarily be asked to invest the whole or a part of it in Government securities. No other mode of investment will be allowed without the previous sanction of Government.

RULE 25.—The Secretary shall keep the accounts of all funded and other property belonging to the institution. He shall receive from the medical officer in charge a monthly account of the receipts and disbursements, and shall examine and countersign all the establishment pay and contingent bills of the institution. He shall, at the end of each month, prepare a statement of the accounts, which he shall submit to the Committee at their next meeting. A copy shall also be sent to the Superintendent.

RULE 26.—In the case of institutions in Class II, all subscriptions, donations, and the interest on endowments shall be credited to the local fund, but a separate account of dispensary receipts and expenditure shall be kept. The endowments and subsequent investments, which must be made in Government securities, shall be held in the custody of the Comptroller-General apart from the assets of the local fund. Small sums available for investment should be placed in the Government Savings Bank. The securities must not be sold, and these invested funds must not be appropriated or used in any way without the sanction of Government.

RULE 27.—The Civil Surgeon shall be the Superintendent of every hospital and dispensary in his district which is classified under these rules, and shall exercise complete control, both professional and administrative, over the medical officer in immediate charge.

RULE 28.—The Superintendent shall scrutinize the expenditure and accounts of every hospital and dispensary in his district, and shall call the attention of the managing body to any irregularity or other circumstance which, in his opinion, deserves notice. The managing body shall be bound to consider any communication from the Superintendent, to afford him full information as to the conduct of the medical officer in charge and all other matters affecting the welfare of the sick and the management of the institution. In all professional matters the opinion and action of the Superintendent will be supreme; but if any difference of opinion arises between him and the managing body regarding any non-professional matter affecting the management of the institution, a reference must be made to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals or to Government for a decision.

RULE 29.—The Superintendent shall visit each dispensary in his district not less than four times annually, except by special dispensation from the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, and shall prepare and submit promptly to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals inspection reports in Form XXVI given in Appendix D.

RULE 30.—The Superintendent shall furnish an annual report of the working of the hospitals and dispensaries in his district to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, according to the scheme given in Appendix C, and annual returns in accordance with the forms annexed.

RULE 31.—The Managing Committee of every hospital or dispensary shall cause to be kept at the institution—

(a) a record of the work done, showing day by day the number of patients treated, the affections for which they were treated, and in important cases some account of the symptoms, the treatment, progress, and the result;

(b) a record of the accounts of the institution.

These shall be written up daily by the medical officer in charge, and shall be open at all times to the inspection of inspecting officers.

The medical officer shall write up all other books and records prescribed under these rules, and in any case in which this is not done, the reasons should be stated in the inspection report of the Superintendent.

RULE 32.—An extract from the proceedings of each meeting of the Managing Committee and of the local authority, so far as they relate to hospitals and dispensaries, shall be promptly forwarded to the Superintendent, who may, if he thinks fit, and shall, if the Managing Committee so desire, submit it with his remarks to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals.

RULE 33.—A Visitors' book shall be kept in every hospital and dispensary, in which will be recorded the remarks of visitors. The first five volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat of source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets; &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty should be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G. Vol. IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of "O." The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in seven volumes during the current year; but an eighth volume may also be issued consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 2 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set (exclusive of the Index for which a separate charge will be made).

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers will be Rs. 45 in India and 3 guineas in England. The period of registration of subscribers' names will expire on the 1st October.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE CHITTAGONG DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1890-91.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS No. 1159.

READ—

The Annual General Administration Report of the Chittagong Division for 1890-91.

Tours and inspections.

The post of Commissioner was held during almost the whole year by Mr. D. R. Lyall, C.S.I., but he was absent for two short periods on privilege leave and on special duty in the Lushai Hills, and on 2nd March he took furlough and made over his office to Mr. Oldham. These changes interfered somewhat with the Commissioner's tours, which occupied only 54 days in the year, a most insufficient period. The two outlying sub-divisions in the Tippera district, and that in the Chittagong Hill Tracts, were not visited at all. The Lieutenant-Governor considers it necessary that every sub-division should be visited by the Commissioner as well as by the District Officer at least once a year.

The districts of Chittagong and Tippera were thoroughly gone over by their respective Collectors, as also was that of Noakhali, thanks chiefly to the energy of Mr. D. J. Macpherson, who took over charge on the 30th December, and proceeded to visit all parts that had not been seen by his predecessors. One of the latter seems to have neglected his duties by not moving from head-quarters during the five months he held the district. The tour of the Sub-divisional Officer of Cox's Bazar only extended to 45 days. The district offices of Chittagong and Tippera were fully inspected by the Collectors, but the inspection of the Noakhali office was left incomplete. The Lieutenant-Governor desires it to be understood that he expects all officers to conform to the standing orders which require them to make half-yearly inspections of their offices.

Weather and crops.

2. The chief features of the year were the heavy rains up to the end of October, and the continued drought from that time to the third week in February, followed by excessive rain up to the end of March. The result was a poor rabi crop, and a general average of 15 annas on the autumn and winter rice crops combined. The cultivation of jute was somewhat extended owing to the previous crop having been a good one: but in the year under review the outturn, though fair on the whole, did not come up to the expectations at first formed, and the price exhibited a most remarkable fall, described by the Commissioner as "unprecedented, and telling on many branches of the Administration." The rapid decline of the price of this product may almost be said to be the key-note of the report, and appears constantly as an explaining factor of various phenomena, but no attempt is made in the Report to arrive at the causes which led to it. Broadly speaking, it would appear to have been due to over-production arising from a favourable season in the preceding year.

Public health.

3. The town of Chittagong was attacked by a severe epidemic of small-pox, which spread to the interior of the district, raising the total number of deaths from that disease as returned from 3 in the previous year to 363. Some figures have been submitted by the Civil Surgeon, which show the percentage of fatal cases on total cases to have been only 4·4 where patients were protected by vaccination, against 38·0 where there was no such protection. The data for these figures are rather doubtful, but it is very unsatisfactory to find that 34 people who were asserted to have been successfully vaccinated a short time before should have died of small-pox This must have increased the prevalent prejudice against the efficacy of vaccination, and, as a natural consequence, it is reported that inoculation was very largely resorted to. This is not the only case in which complaints have been received as to the quality of the lymph supplied by the Vaccination Department.

A more important item in the health of the division, as affecting the public generally, is the increase, especially in the last three years, in the mortality from fever. The figures are as follows:—

	1888-89.	1889-90.	1890-91.
Chittagong	17,472	20,287	22,958
Noakhali	17,487	21,368	22,816
Tippera	19,104	23,209	25,650
Total ...	54,063	64,864	71,424

The remarks of Mr. Macpherson, the District Officer of Noakhali, on this subject are worth quoting, although they do not attempt to explain the facts. They are as follows:—

"The district seems to be going from bad to worse as regards fever. The recorded mortality this year is higher than it has ever been, and it has almost doubled within the decade. No doubt part of the increase is due to increase of population and better registration, and this is sufficient to account for nearly all the increase observable up to three or four years ago; but within the last three years there is a sudden increase of 63 per cent. over the average of the preceding three years that must be almost entirely attributed to deterioration in the material condition of the district. The recent deterioration is observable in every part of the district, but in the islands more than on the mainland, and in the central part of the district more than in the Feni and Lukhipur directions. In every thana, except two, the mortality was greater this year than last."

In spite of this mortality the population goes on increasing, and has now risen to the height of 948 per square mile in some parts of the division Apart from this liability to fever, the material condition of the people throughout the division appears to betoken general prosperity.

Trade and Commerce.

4. The sea trade of the Port of Chittagong shows a slight falling off in comparison with the preceding year (the best on record), as will appear from the following table:—

	Number of vessels entered	Tonnage.	Value of trade. Rs.
1889-90	2,048	477,560	3,16 96,588
1890-91	1,977	446,922	2,87,72,255
Decrease ...	71	30,638	29,24,333

The decrease was due to the decline in jute exportation. The decrease in export of this commodity alone, the greater part of which may be assumed to be by sea, is calculated at 126,610 cwt, valued at Rs. 21,16,198.

It is reported that the Kutubdia light is not sufficiently powerful. The matter had long been under consideration in the Public Works Department of this Government, and another full-powered light has been obtained which will obviate all complaints.

The course of trade in Tippera was only remarkable, as in the case of Chittagong, for a large falling off in the transactions in jute. The Commissioner writes that the price of jute in Tippera fell from Rs. 5-8 to Re. 1-8 a maund: that in some places the cultivators are reported to have left the jute uncut in consequence, but that no actual distress was felt, though the extraordinary fall affected considerably the revenue administration of the district.

Civil and Criminal Justice.

5. Much inconvenience is said to have been felt for want of an officer exercising magisterial powers on the Island of Sundip. The matter is at present under the consideration of Government, and arrangements will shortly be made to provide an officer vested with magisterial powers. The formation of the new frontier district, the South Lushai hills, and its transfer to the frontier police, were virtually effected during the year.

From the following table, which gives the figures of suits instituted in the Civil Courts, it will be seen that there was a decline both in number and value as against the preceding year:—

	Number.	Value. Rs.
1889	55,870	39,65,508
1890	53,363	31,66,403
Decrease ...	2,507	7,99,105

The decrease was consistent throughout as regards the different classes of suits, with the exception of title and miscellaneous suits which increased slightly in number, though without a corresponding increase in the value. The prosperity of the people and the "extraordinary state of the jute market" are the alleged causes of the decrease. The slight increase in title suits is said to be due to the fact that the Civil Courts have held that transfers of occupancy rights by sale are invalid without the landlord's consent—a decision which has induced the landlords in Tippera to institute suits contesting such transfers. The Commissioner has rightly pointed out that the decrees of Civil Courts do not run in the Hill Tracts, and has stopped the custom of executing them as a matter of course. It is very important to preserve the simplicity of this frontier district, and to protect it from the invasion of technical law.

There was a slight increase in cognizable and non-cognizable crime, from 15,713 to 16,894 cases, and a considerable improvement in the percentage of convictions.

The reports on some of the Honorary Magistrates are not favourable, and it appears that the Magistrates in this division, headed by the late Commissioner, view their work with disfavour, and wish to confine it in consequence as much as possible. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with Mr. Oldham that the way to improve the character of the Benches is to extend their powers where practicable, and so make them feel their responsibility. In the one district of the division in which complaints have been made over to Honorary Magistrates for preliminary sifting, the experiment is reported to have been successful.

Census.

6. The Magistrates of each of the three regulation districts of the division speak with unmixed satisfaction of the conduct and results, as far as those results can be at present estimated, of the late census operations The desire of the voluntary agency to carry out the work successfully is spoken of with appreciation, and it appears that the opportunity to turn the operations into a means of fraud and extortion was made use of only to a very limited extent, and in the one case specifically mentioned, with very disastrous effects to the culprits, who were convicted, and the ringleader sentenced to four years' imprisonment.

Registration.

7. An increase is shown of 10,875 documents or about 7 per cent. Such small fluctuations do not require explanation, and it is unnecessary to attempt to explain them by good harvests or fall in the price of jute or rice.

Land Revenue administration.

8. The figures given with reference to the collection of land revenue are insufficient. The collections in the Chittagong district were bad, being only 89·1, presumably on the total current and arrear demand. The balances are described under three classes—I, II and III, but there is nothing to show what these classes are. In future reports the current demands and realizations, the arrear demands and realizations, and the balances of each kind should be clearly set forth together, district by district, in one statement. It is observed that the percentage of balance under class III, which is believed to mean Government estates, is as high as 16·40. The Lieutenant-Governor regards this large balance as very unsatisfactory.

Survey and Settlement.

9. The Chittagong settlement operations were in charge of Mr. Slack throughout the year. The survey of thana Ramu in the Cox's Bazar sub-division was completed, and the draft records of rights of 43 villages, and the final records of 12 villages, were published, the cost incurred being just over eight annas per acre for both survey and settlement. In the Sudder sub-division 687 square miles were traversed, and 482 cadastrally surveyed, and records prepared of 74 villages comprising 43,666 acres. The increase of revenue from the operations in the two sub-divisions has been estimated at Rs. 1,52,000.

Wards' estates.

10. Figures should be given showing the demand and collections, current and arrear, with balances, for each estate under the Court of Wards. The statistics in the report are very slight. It appears that in Chittagong the two most important Wards' estates are those of the Chakma Chief and of Latifa Khatun. In these the percentage of collections on the current demand were fair, but there are large balances outstanding. In Noakhali it is reported that the percentages of collections on the demand have decreased, but no figures are supplied from which any idea of the balances can be formed.

Excise and Stamps.

11. The Excise revenue in the district of Chittagong shows a decline of no less than Rs. 16,520, namely, from Rs. 1,49,798 in 1889-90 to Rs. 1,33,278 in the year now dealt with. The Commissioner writes—"The whole of this is due to the decrease in the opium revenue. Though the Collector gives no explanation of this continued decrease, it is clearly due to the same cause which reduced the revenue in 1888-89, i.e., the restriction of sales all over the district, so as to prevent smuggling into Arakan." The decrease referred to by the Commissioner was in 1889-90 (not in 1888-89), and amounted to Rs. 49,250, being then accounted for in almost the same words. The Lieutenant-Governor observes that in 1888-89 there was an increase in the Excise revenue of Rs. 23,102 in this district, and the report on that year stated as follows:—"The large increase in Chittagong is almost entirely due to opium, and is the result of a series of orders restricting the quantities sold. Government loses the price of the decreased quantity sold, but gains by the higher license fees." The subject is one of importance to the Chittagong Excise administration, and demands more accurate consideration than appears to have been given to it.

The Division shows also a decrease of Rs. 40,650 in the revenue from court-fee stamps; this decrease, which is only 4 per cent. on the whole receipts, does not require explanation. One District Officer ascribes it to agricultural prosperity: another to agricultural depression, i.e., to the often quoted collapse in jute.

Education.

12. In the Resolution on the report for the year 1888-89, the paragraphs under the head of Education were declared to be far from satisfactory. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets to observe that the present report shows no improvement in this respect. The figures given are disconnected, insufficient, and, as far as the several districts are concerned, quite devoid of uniformity, and fail to convey any idea either of the extent, or of the progress or retrogression of the different grades of education. The report should show clearly the number of schools of each class and the number of pupils, both in the year reviewed and in the preceding year, or even the four previous years. With this object a set of tables will be prescribed in subsequent orders.

It is gathered from the present report that on the whole education, both of boys and girls, has made fair progress. The Commissioner observes that the stipendiary pathsalas are said by the Magistrate of Tippera to be the most efficient, and that this opinion is shared by nearly all Magistrates. The Government is opposed to an extension of the system of purely stipendiary payments, and prefers the plan of giving a very small stipend, not exceeding Rs. 2, as a retaining fee, and supplementing it by a payment for the results obtained in the examination of the pupils

Hospitals and dispensaries.

13. The figures given regarding the dispensaries at Chittagong and Cox's Bazar are not those by which the working of these institutions are usually tested, and a suitable set of tables will be prescribed for next year's report. The Lieutenant-Governor sees with pleasure that the Chittagong District Board are maintaining a Lady Doctor for the hospital at the district head-quarters. The District Board of Tippera is doing excellent work in this direction; no less than ten local dispensaries having been opened during the year at their expense, aided by local subscriptions, of which a fixed amount is made a sine qua non. In Noakhali the District Board does nothing towards dispensaries. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Commissioner that the Sadar dispensary should at least receive some support from that quarter. On the other hand this Board, like that of Chittagong, has provided for medical attendance to women.

Conduct of zemindars.

14. The Lieutenant-Governor will be glad to learn the outcome of the public-spirited offer of the Nawab Faizanessa Saheba to build a female hospital in Comilla under the auspices of the Lady Dufferin Fund, and desires to express his high appreciation of the good work this lady has performed during the year in subscribing Rs. 1,000 to the above Fund, and in defraying the whole expenses of a local dispensary near her own residence.

15. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to express his thanks to Mr. Lyall and his successors in office for their careful administration of the Division. A copy of the remarks on the characters of the other officers will, as usual, be forwarded to the Appointment Department of this Government.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE BURDWAN DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1890-91.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS No. 1168.

Darjeeling, the 21st September 1891.

READ—

The General Administration Report of the Burdwan Division for the year 1890-91.

The Burdwan Division had the advantage of being in the hands of one officer, Mr. Toynbee, throughout the year. In most of the districts also the continuity of administration was greater than usual. It is well known that it is the desire of Government to avoid constant changes in divisional and district appointments, but circumstances from time to time render transfers of charge unavoidable.

Tours.

2. The Commissioner was on tour for 107 days and visited every district, and all the sub-divisions but one. The District Officers of Bankoora failed to make proper tours, but the officer chiefly responsible has left the service. In Midnapore the brief deficiency in the Collector's tour was attributable to illness. The separate report promised in regard to the touring of the Sub-divisional Officer at Raneegunge is awaited. The Lieutenant-Governor attaches great importance to well arranged touring: he looks on the periods of touring laid down as irreducible minima, and he will not overlook any failure to fill up these periods in future. Officers should understand that they are expected to tour at intervals throughout the year, and not only in the cold weather. The failure on the part of certain District Officers to inspect their offices has been noticed by His Honour, and explanations will be separately required. Constant inspections of the work of subordinates is essential, if it is to be kept up to date and irregularities are to be prevented.

Weather, crops and public health.

3. The rainfall was generally above the average and in most districts well distributed, so that the crops, and especially the rice harvest, were successfully garnered. The estimated outturn of the rice is given at nearly 16 annas for the division, a marked improvement on 9 and 13 annas of the two preceding years. The average price of rice for the division is stated to have been 16 seers 7 chittacks the rupee, an improvement by a seer from the previous year, but not so favourable as the rate of 18 seers 11 chittacks in 1888-89. The wages of labour remain stationary. The public health is said not to have deteriorated. An increase in the number of deaths in Howrah is accounted for by better registration, while an outbreak of small-pox in the Sudder station of Midnapore caused 2,486 deaths. As there was a decrease in the number of persons vaccinated in this district, these circumstances require special investigation. There was no unusual physical distress in the division, but the Commissioner regrets that even in this division, where civilization is considered to have made more progress than elsewhere, there is a low standard of personal comfort, and that the people do not possess the faculty of advancement. The Lieutenant-Governor does not share this regret. What the country requires is thrift and the widely-distributed accumulation of capital, and he considers that nothing could be more disastrous at the present stage than a general desire for a more expensive mode of living.

Trade and manufactures.

4. There were the usual fluctuations in the outturn of various articles of trade and manufacture, for which it is impossible to assign any single dominating cause. Thus in Burdwan the value of the silk produce fell from Rs. 1,67,333 to Rs. 1,47,935; it diminished also in Bankoora: in Beerbhoom, on the contrary, the quantity rose from 32,000lbs. to 35,050lbs; and in Midnapore the increase of the last two years was again sustained. Stick-lac in Bankoora fell from 26,500 maunds to 15,000. The Burrakur Iron Works, under a private company, employed 1,200 hands, and turned out pig-iron and castings valued at Rs. 6,13,066 against Rs. 5,40,000 of the previous year. The returns furnished by the proprietors of the several Iron Works at Howrah are incomplete and should have been properly filled up. Cotton cloth was produced in Burdwan to the same extent as last year, but in Hooghly the outturn was not 25 per cent. of that in 1889-90. The Burdwan coal mines have not maintained the large output achieved in that year, but they still employ about 12,600 work-people. A reduction in the rate of freight of coal is said to be the desideratum. The export of lime for this district also diminished by half—from 9,40,326 to 4,66,815 maunds. It would have been more satisfactory if the trade in food-grains had been examined for the whole division systematically, as it is impossible to draw general conclusions from the remarks recorded for the districts separately; such as "the exports of cereals show a slight increase"—"there was a further falling off in the export of rice"—"there has been a brisk trade in rice"—"more rice was imported." The Commissioner will be asked to treat this subject in a more comprehensive manner in his next report.

Administrative changes.

5. There were no important changes in the administrative arrangements of district work during the year. Two Magisterial Benches in Bishenpore and Bankoora were made independent, and certain powers were conferred upon the Bankoora and Tumlook Honorary Magistrates. The termination of the Joint-Managership of the Burdwan Raj Estate, upon Mr. Reily's transfer to the Orissa Survey and Settlement, took place during the year, leaving Lala Ban Behari Kapur sole Manager with two assistants. The number of Mahomedans in superior service in the division has decreased from 460 to 356, but this is evidently the result of a revision of the classification in the Hooghly district, where the number in superior service is said to have fallen from 195 to 60, while those in inferior service are 241 as compared to 141 in 1889-90. On the whole the Mahomedans hold 21·56 per cent. of the appointments, though they are only 15·21 of the population. It should be thoroughly understood by this time that Government are desirous that Mahomedans should receive a fair share of the appointments, but cannot insist on their being given appointments for which they are not qualified by education.

Police.

6. There was a decrease in cognizable and an increase in non cognizable crime. The Commissioner attributes this result to the prosperity of the year, which gave the people more time and more money to spend on vexatious litigation, and caused them to commit fewer offences against property. The variations in the statistics depend to some extent on the personal views of the different officers, otherwise there is no reason why, for instance, the proportion of false cases reported should be 1·8 in one district and 9·9 in the next. Some explanation might have been given of the fact that in Burdwan the Sessions trials show 81·4 per cent. as acquittals. The Police administration in Bankoora is described as unsatisfactory by the Commissioner, who has special experience of the subject and will doubtless continue to give it his special attention. The Government of India have approved the recommendations of the Police Committee for making police service more attractive in Burdwan and Hooghly, which were adopted by this Government; these recommendations were to raise the pay of the last grade of constables, to increase the clothing allowance, to give recruits a free kit, and to abolish the superannuation subscriptions. The Lieutenant-Governor does not expect as much from the rural as from the regular police, but he looks to District Officers to make the best they can of the material at their disposal. He notices with pleasure the account again furnished of the constant supervision given by Mr. Munro, District Superintendent of Police in Midnapore, to the village police, and of his system of distributing rewards for good work on their part.

Criminal Justice.

7. In this division there are 459 Honorary Magistrates who afford great help to the administration. They disposed of 9,157 out of 24,641 cases decided in the year. The majority of the cases may be petty and the orders non-appealable, but the fact that native gentlemen can be found ready and willing to give their time to such work is encouraging, and the Commissioner writes favourably of the work they perform. The irregularity of their attendance, however, requires correction, and the opening of attendance registers is a step in the right direction. The balance of outstanding fines in the division has fallen from Rs. 35,274 to Rs. 29,195. This is a matter which requires continual check by comparison of the court and thana registers. The Lieutenant-Governor presumes that Commissioners and District Officers in their inspections of subordinate courts insist on the Deputy Magistrates scrutinizing the fine balances regularly.

The Lieutenant-Governor notices the absence from the Commissioner's report of statistics of criminal justice, such as are supplied mutatis mutandis for civil justice. He desires that in each future report a statement may be furnished as an appendix to the report, showing for each sub-division the number of cases disposed of by each paid and Honorary Magistrate. When all the divisional reports for 1890-91 have been reviewed, orders will be issued regarding the form in which they are to be cast, and the tabular statements they are to contain in future.

Land Revenue.

8. The percentage of total collections of the land revenue has increased from 93·48 to 95·17, but the balance outstanding amounted to Rs. 4,07,768, which the Lieutenant-Governor considers anything but satisfactory. The arrears amounted to Rs. 3,04,520 in Midnapore, where the ryots are said to have suffered considerably from bad seasons and defective drainage; and to Rs. 79,025 in Burdwan, for which no reason but floods has been assigned. It should always be stated clearly whether these balances are due from permanently or temporarily-settled estates, or from Government estates. The Lieutenant-Governor has recently taken measures, which he trusts will have the effect of diminishing these balances, as they have led to unfavourable comments on the land revenue administration of a province for the most part permanently settled. He intends to support the Revenue authorities in requiring the proper observance of the kist day as the last day of payment. His Honour has lately had an opportunity of inspecting the drainage accounts in Hooghly, and has given the necessary orders for the exercise of proper supervision. The collection of only 69 per cent. of the canal water-rates due in Midnapore, leaving a balance of Rs. 68,624, and requiring the issue of an enormous number of certificates, is a serious matter in which improvement must be effected. The irrigation from the Eden canal fell, in consequence of a good rainfall, from 29,080 to 3,089 bighas. The landlords' fees payable on transfers of certain tenures under the Tenancy Act are to a large extent, it has been ascertained, refused by the landlords, and therefore paid into deposit. This addition to the number of petty sums dealt with in the accounts affords a new source of embezzlement, and it is important that District Officers should be warned of this and required to scrutinize the registers and subsidiary cash-books carefully from time to time. The remittances of land revenue by money-order rose from 21,000 for Rs. 1,34,044 to 24,956 for Rs 2,3 ,062; these facts afford testimony that the system may be regarded as well established and popular. A similar system for the payment of rent has made a commencement with 7,776 orders for Rs. 66,455.

Settlements and Government estates.

9. The Lieutenant-Governor was already aware that the Survey and Settlement of the Burdwan Raj khas mehals have not progressed satisfactorily. There was much friction between the ryots and the Raj people, and neither the Managers nor the Settlement Officers can be said to have handled the cases properly. He joins in the hope expressed that the Hukumapore and Sujamutha settlements will be concluded before long. The operations, owing to delay and mismanagement, have proved very expensive.

Stamps, Income-tax, and Excise.

10. The Stamp revenue increased by Rs. 11,253, mainly in judicial stamps, and the income-tax demand by Rs. 10,627. "The tax," it is said, "is coming to be regarded as an institution, and people are beginning to find out that it is better to pay and have done with it, than to pay fees and costs on vexatious objections." The excise revenue has fallen off by Rs. 69,806 in consequence of the abolition of the outstill system; but separate figures are not given to show what the fall in the revenue from country spirits was, and whether the revenue was at all recouped from other items. In one district an alarm of illicit manufacture on a large scale has been raised, but more specific information is required. It has been found necessary to allow some outstills in jungly tracts where illicit distillation cannot otherwise be prevented.

Communications.

11. No important original works have been undertaken, and the tramway between Jagatballabpur and Ampta in the Howrah district has still to be commenced. The Commissioner writes that repairs continue to swallow up the greater part of the income of District and Local Boards, leaving little to be spent on original works. But this statement is not quite borne out by his own figures, which show Rs. 1,18,055 expended on original works, and Rs. 3,93,769 on repairs. With regard to the state of the roads, the only fact mentioned is that in Burdwan they are considered to have deteriorated. The allotments for village roads were cut down, and the expenditure fell from Rs. 34,710 to Rs. 30,818. The Lieutenant-Governor is aware of the danger of money being wasted on these small paths. But an allotment from the District Fund often acts as a nucleus for public subscriptions, and it is very undesirable that expenditure on village roads should be altogether stopped.

Education.

12. The schools and scholars increased in numbers in four out of the six districts of the division. There were 2,542 more scholars in Bankoora, entirely in schools under the District Board, and there was a small increase in primary schools. The girls' schools rose in number from 269 to 291, but the girls upon the rolls were 6,696 as compared with 7,659 in 1889-90. The diminution was chiefly in Hooghly, viz., from 2,371 to 1,137. The Lieutenant-Governor would be glad next year to have a fuller review, as well as fuller statistics, of the primary education of the division for which the District Boards and District Officers are more particularly responsible. It is not satisfactory to hear of a falling off in Midnapore a second year, and no suggestions appear to have been made for the application of a remedy there or in Beerbhoom. Sonthali education in Midnapore seems also to be retrogressing; three of the four training schools for gurus have been closed there, and, as the Commissioner remarks, the performance of the Midnapore college students in the University Examinations was not particularly creditable to that institution.

Local Self-Government.

13. The Commissioner finds a difficulty in expressing any decided opinion on the present aspects of Local Self-Government in his division. He is right in his view that the controlling officer will do most good by co-operation without interference, and the Lieutenant-Governor attaches great importance to the timely exercise of tact and influence on the part of those to whom the people, even in the most advanced districts, will probably long continue to look for guidance and advice. At the same time he will insist on local bodies invested with statutory powers recognising and fulfilling their responsibilities, and he expects Commissioners and District Officers to inspect the working of municipalities closely, to examine into their assessments, collections and expenditure, and to bring to the notice of Government important cases in which powers are abused, and opportunities of doing good public work are neglected. The Lieutenant-Governor has noticed with dissatisfaction the defective report referred to by the Commissioner in his paragraph 164.

The Magistrate of Hooghly has reported the keen interest taken by the public in the municipal elections and in the selection of persons for nomination, and has favourably mentioned the following persons:—"Baboo Lalit Mohan Singh, Vice-Chairman of the District Board; Baboo Shib Narain Mookerjee, Chairman of the Utterpara Municipality; Dr. Barker, late Chairman of the Serampore Municipality; Baboo Eshan Chunder Mitter, re-elected Chairman of the Hooghly Municipality; and Baboo Nalinaksha Bose, Rai Bahadur, re-elected Chairman of the Burdwan Municipality and Vice-Chairman of the District Board—most of whom have been before commended."

The drainage works contemplated in Howrah and Serampore and approaching completion in Howrah and in Utterpara should prove very beneficial to those localities. Sir Charles Elliott will always be ready to lend such assistance as Government can properly afford to such undertakings.

Miscellaneous.

14. It is stated in the report under review that some of the Rural Sub-Registrars on the line of rail are said to be too fond of closing their offices and running down to Calcutta without leave. It is not clear whether Mr. Veasey believes this assertion to be true, and endeavours should be made to verify rumours current in such matters.

It appears that no free licenses were issued under the Arms Act for the purpose of destroying wild animals. The views of the Government of India on the subject of the loss of life from wild animals have been promulgated, and Sir Charles Elliott desires that more attention may be paid to this subject in future.

The Commissioner's observations on the subject of cattle-pounds are important and should lead to the adoption of the necessary remedies. He writes:—

"It cannot be said that the subject of pounds is at present on a satisfactory footing. With an increase in their number in every district but Bankoora, the receipts have risen nowhere, and the Local Boards, which now usually manage them, have not shown themselves successful. There is a want of care in selecting farmers, and recklessness, in Burdwan at least, in opening new pounds, which does not speak well for the supervision. With fifty more pounds open there is actually less money received, and there has probably been a good deal of speculation. This is one of the results of the system of farming, nor is it the only bad one."

Conduct of zemindars.

15. In Bankoora land is changing hands owing to the involved condition of the zemindars. The Commissioner rightly observes, with reference to Midnapore and the agrarian troubles there, that it is not always the landlord who is in the wrong. The recalcitrant character of the ryots in parts of this district has long been notorious. The Lieutenant-Governor would have been glad if the Commissioner, following the practice of his predecessors, had singled out by name the zemindars deserving of favourable notice, and desires that this practice may be adopted in future.

16. Mr. Veasey, having joined since the close of the year, has been unable to write his report from personal experience. Next year the Lieutenant-Governor will look to him to write with fuller knowledge, and to supply the statistics asked for above and a general review of the division as a whole, which will make his report more interesting. The remarks on the characters of officers will be communicated, as usual, to the Appointment Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF TH PATNA DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1890-91.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS No. 1202.

Darjeeling, the 24th September 1891.

READ—

The General Administration Report of the Patna Division for the year 1890-91.

The Patna Division was administered by Mr. C. C. Stevens and Mr. Kemble, each of whom held charge for just six months. Mr. Stevens' report deals sufficiently with every topic of any interest or importance, and would in some parts have been improved by condensation. Where he has furnished figured statements, he should also have had the totals added up for the division. Two Collectors, Mr. Bourdillon and Mr. Blyth, were almost continuously in charge of Sarun and Chumparun, respectively, but Patna had 2 changes and the other 4 districts had 3 changes each during the year; in 8 cases out of 16 the Sub-divisional Officer was not changed.

Tours.

2. The Commissioner being comparatively new to the division judiciously devoted himself to the inspection of head-quarters and sub-divisional offices, rather than to travelling through agricultural tracts, and did as much as could be expected during the time available. Mr. Currie's tour of only 50 days was altogether insufficient, and the excuses made for him are misplaced. It is surely unusual for a District Officer in Behar to allow himself to be beaten back twice in January and March by stress of weather. The Collectors of Mozufferpore should have managed between them to complete the prescribed period of touring. With these exceptions, all the District and Sub-divisional Officers conformed with the standing orders. The Lieutenant-Governor does not wish to hamper them by definite orders whether they should make constant short excursions or long slow progresses. He expects them to inspect all their offices thoroughly and to spend the required period in camp. The varying circumstances of the season and the work in hand will determine the method and order to be pursued better than any rigid rules. It may not be possible for every Collector to inspect in detail the whole of his district each year, but any portion omitted one year should be visited during the next year if possible. The Lieutenant-Governor looks to District Officers to keep themselves thoroughly informed of all that is going on, whether they can actually go to each locality or not. The office inspections were deficient in Patna and Sarun; in the latter case sufficient explanation has been given. There is ample time during the remainder of the year for all officers to comply with the rules in force, and Sir Charles Elliott expects that they will be duly observed.

Weather, crops, public health, and condition of the people.

3. The rainfall was excessive both as compared with the average and with the previous year. The Commissioner's summary of the distribution of the rainfall is useful. Speaking generally, the past year opened favourably, but the rainfall in July was excessive, and the damage done to the Indian-corn and other bhadoi crops was very great. For the rice, however, the rain was very favourable; but in Sarun there were extensive floods, and in that district alone there was a really bad crop; in other tracts it was good and in some excellent. The cold weather crops were in most districts sown under favourable circumstances, and, though late in some parts, may be said as a whole to have promised well. But there was a good deal of untimely rain in March, which especially injured the opium and those crops which ripen earliest, and (more particularly in the southern districts) heavy storms of rain and hail of unusual size did great damage.

Some interesting figures are given to show the enormous value of the poppy crop to the ryots of the Sarun district, in which three-fourths of the poppy fields were double-cropped, producing early rain-crops as well as opium. The general result of the crops was an estimated outturn, on an average per district, of 10 annas of wheat and pulses as compared with 14 and 11 annas in 1889-90, and an average of 13½ annas of rice—the same as in 1889-90. The failure of the early rain-crop (the bhadoi) was severely felt, but importations of grain were large and kept down prices. Influenza was epidemic throughout the division. Mr. Stevens apparently has little faith in vital statistics, as it is uncertain whether the fluctuations reflect the variations of diseases or the activity of the recording agency. There was a marked increase of mortality from cholera, and small-pox also was rife, but it is said to be often confounded with measles. The registered death-rate in the towns is very high, indicating the necessity of proper drainage and improved water-supply. The condition of the people is said to have been affected by the failure of the bhadoi crops, and to have improved with the better results of the other harvests. It is very satisfactory to read Mr. D'Oyly's testimony, from an experience ranging over 32 years, of the amelioration of the poorer classes in Behar, which he ascribes, notwithstanding the increased density of the population, to the movement of the labouring classes for employment, and to the effect of the railway. The unprecedented floods in Sarun in August 1890 devastated about 600 square miles of country, necessitated relief works and agricultural advances, and inflicted damage which the ryots will require time to recover.

Trade, commerce, and manufactures.

4. In the Resolution on the Commissioner's Annual Report of last year, some notice was taken of the Collector of Gya's views on the subject of Government interference with the grain trade in times of scarcity. It appears difficult to convince Mr. Grierson of the unsoundness of the policy he advocates, viz., that because, in his opinion, trade is not really free, Government should checkmate the "corners" which the grain-dealers form. Mr. Stevens very properly describes this policy as mischievous and short-sighted, and only to be justified by extraordinary circumstances, such as the want of communications.

There is no fact more established by general experience in India than the readiness of traders to use any mode of communication, but more especially the railways, in order to throw in supplies where the crops have, more or less, failed. District Officers therefore must not expect, and traders need not fear, interference on the part of Government. A useful statement is furnished of the outturn of manufactures. The yield of indigo fell again from 55,440 to 50,206 maunds. There was also much less sugar produced. In spite of the weather, however, there were larger operations in saltpetre—crude, dissolved, and refined. There is probably a mistake, due to a misprint or other cause of error, in the conflicting statements in two different passages that tobacco is manufactured in Gya to the extent of 7,45,000 maunds or 51,000 maunds, although no tobacco is grown in Gya. In the absence of registration, no great reliance can be placed on the trade returns, and it is very probable that much of the traffic is counted more than once. The statistics of the Nepal trade, which are perhaps more to be trusted than others, show some curious fluctuations. The food-grains imported from that country have risen considerably; also the piece-goods and the cash to pay for the jewellery exported from India; but the imports of timber have fallen enormously. The exports to Nepal have also generally decreased, apart from the jewellery just mentioned. The attention of the Excise Department will be invited to the large export of 25,026 maunds of mahua across the frontier.

Crime, police, and criminal justice.

5. There has again been a slight increase in the cognizable offences in the calendar year, viz., from 28,383 to 28,844; but as non-cognizable offences have fallen by 639 cases, there is a net decrease of 178 cases in the division. The incidence of cognizable crime to population varies from 1 case to 248 persons in Patna to 1 case to 699 persons in Mozufferpore. The views expressed by the Commissioner in favour of the institution of prosecutions under section 211, Indian Penal Code, for false charges do not accord with those expressed by the Lieutenant-Governor in paragraph 12 of his recent Resolution on the Police Report for 1890, where he stated his objection to such prosecutions, except in the rare cases where the charges appear to be wickedly and maliciously false. He desires to encourage and forward the attempt to reclaim the Maghya Domes by keeping colonies of them under surveillance, but the success of the experiment is doubtful if they frequently contrive to leave the colonies for the purpose of thieving. The accounts of the chowkidars in Sarun and Durbhunga show in the one case considerable delay in their payments, and in the other a reprehensible absenteeism. In both respects the irregularities should be corrected. The conduct of the regular police is favourably reported on: their work might have been noticed at greater length. The number of persons brought to trial before the Magistrates increased from 39,840 to 40,090, and resulted in a fair proportion of convictions, viz, 62·8 against 61·9. A variety of causes acting in different directions combine to produce this result. Petty conservancy cases improve the percentage of convictions, whereas the absence of complainants, the compounding of offences, or press of work operate for acquittals.

Land revenue.

6. The increase in the number of estates by 876 in one year, due almost entirely to partitions, is a serious matter. It does not immediately affect the revenue demand, but it adds largely to the work of the officers and their establishments: so also the opening of 2,040 separate accounts in the year throws a heavy burden on the offices. The question whether some limit should not be applied to the facilities afforded for the separation of estates and accounts is engaging the attention of Government. The collections of the division as a whole amounted to 93·6 on the total demand—almost the same percentage as last year (93·8). There was evidently laxity in the Patna district. Bad weather in March, the unsuitable date of the March kist, the census and the floods in Sarun are other excuses offered for shortcomings. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes to find a considerable improvement in future years. The collection of only 78 per cent. of the Road cess demand is altogether inadequate. The use of money-orders for remittances of revenue continues to develop as much as can be expected. It has been properly held by the Board that a payment into a money-order office on the latest day is not equivalent to a payment into the treasury, and therefore does not protect the estates from sale for arrears. Any other ruling would have caused immense confusion, whereas it is easy for zemindars to pay by money-orders in time to satisfy the requirements of the law. The statement that the sale laws have been worked very leniently must be read in conjunction with the figures of the arrears. A just requirement of the Government demand comes before leniency. Mr. Stevens has made some important remarks on the complaints of the inefficiency of the certificate procedure, and is right in attributing the fault to the officers rather than to the system. The Lieutenant-Governor fully concurs in his view that the registers are not sufficiently used as helps in controlling the progress of the work. The subject has attracted His Honor's attention on tour, and an improved form of Register 10 has been suggested. Full use has not yet been made of the Tenancy Act anywhere, the receipts required by the Act are by no means generally adopted, and the ryots are learning their rights but slowly. The relations between landlords and tenants are so far good that, with few exceptions, no serious manifestations of ill-will have been exhibited. The proposal for a general survey and record of rights throughout the division, which has been under consideration for the last two or three years, has assumed a more definite shape since the close of the year. The arrangement for the liquidation of the heavy debts due from the Deo Encumbered Estate to the Maharaja of Durbhunga is creditable to all concerned.

Miscellaneous revenue.

7. The excise revenue fell by Rs. 2,62,035 in the division, of which almost the whole loss, viz., Rs. 2,57,410, was under the head of country spirits. For this result various causes are assigned, of which the combination of the abkars against the present policy of Government is doubtless the chief; but the raising of the upset prices, which caused a large diminution of the number of shops from 930 to 638, must have conduced to this result. The stamp revenue shows a decrease of Rs. 63,401 compared with last year, almost entirely on account of court-fee stamps, fewer civil suits having been instituted. The final demand on account of income-tax fell from Rs. 3,97,664 to Rs. 3,96,698, but the collections were only 88 per cent. of the demand, leaving an outstanding balance of Rs. 57,858. The lateness of the assessment is attributed to the deputation of the assessing staff and Deputy Collectors to census work. This is another illustration of the way in which the census interferes, or is alleged to interfere, with the ordinary work of the administration. There was no special complaint against the working of the Income-tax Act.

Irrigation.

8. The area irrigated by the Patna, Gya and Shahabad canals was less in 1890-91 than in either of the two preceding years. The collections in Gya and Shahabad were higher than before, reaching 70 and 83 per cent., respectively, though these figures are much lower than they should have been. But the collections from the Patna Canals were only Rs. 52,629, while the balance reached Rs. 93,744. There must be something very wrong about the procedure if year after year the arrears are not diminished and the current demand is not wholly realised, and it is not surprising to hear that probably a change of system will be necessary. The Commissioner should lose no time in probing this discreditable state of things to the utmost. The whole system of canals and irrigation has been framed on much too costly a basis for the country, and it is therefore the more incumbent on all connected with the management to realise the canal revenue demands as fully as possible. The Sarun Canals, of only 19 miles in length, have never paid their way, i.e., the cost to Government has always exceeded the income guaranteed, and the guarantors have now declined to renew their engagement. An agreement, which will admit of the canals being kept partially open, has, however, been made with Mr. Reid of Maniari, who has always taken much interest in the scheme, and will soon be formally concluded

Communications.

9. Considerable progress has been made during the year in respect of communications. A branch line to Sitamarhi was opened, and its extension to Maniari is still under construction. Sufficient waterway was not originally allowed in the embankment, and has had to be provided since. Various other branches are asked for by the people who show that they fully appreciate the advantage of railway travelling and actively criticise the management of the several lines. These criticisms are repeated and enforced by some District Officers who do not appear clearly to recognise that a Railway is a commercial enterprise, and must be worked to ensure a profit on the capital involved. Better accommodation and more frequent trains imply greater expenditure, which would not always be remunerative. The complaint that "on occasions of gatherings or melas third class passengers are frequently conveyed in open trucks like cattle" is a striking instance of the unreasonable criticism to which Railway Companies are subjected in India. If the passengers do not like the trucks, they are not compelled to travel by them. If a Railway Company kept up an amount of rolling-stock equal to the maximum, not to the average, demand, a large part of that stock would be lying idle for most of the year and earning no return. The roads in Sarun were seriously damaged by the floods of August 1890, and the District Board have had to take a loan from Government for the repairs required. The floods in Durbhunga did similar damage. Several large works were under construction or in contemplation, such as the bridges on the Bukhtiarpur and Behar road (on which a steam tramway is proposed), the renewal of the old Poonpoon bridge, the Dhanarjee bridge on the Gya-Nowada road, the Lukhundya bridge at Sitamarhi, and in Durbhunga (a district which has always had large road cess funds) 138 new bridges and culverts were built at an outlay of Rs. 46,324, besides a number of new roads and the improvement of those in existence. There was a total outlay of Rs. 3,45,796 under district communications, and Rs. 84,302 on account of village roads. All the facts betoken a very proper activity in this department. Arboriculture has been specially regarded in Chumparun, where 26,960 trees were planted: most of these, however, were tar-trees which are more likely to give revenue than shade in time to come.

Education.

10. Education has made only a slight advance during the year. Of the small increase of 260 schools and 3,141 pupils, 243 schools and 2,177 pupils are under private management. Again, the census is said to have occupied the time of teachers as enumerators and inspecting officers as supervisors. The decadence of English schools from 64 to 55 is not necessarily to be regretted; for there are many who would not agree with the Commissioner that a partial and imperfect acquaintance with the English language is better than nothing. The improvement in female education recorded last year has not been maintained: the number of girls attending boys' schools should have been stated. The Mahomedans in the division showed themselves more interested in having their children taught at schools; and a beginning has been made with the aboriginal Thárus and the Maghya Dome boys. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that in future this subject will receive fuller treatment in the annual report. The Commissioner has remarked that the ministerial officers are, as a rule, in efficiency and qualifications decidedly below the average of Lower Bengal, a result which he attributes in some measure to the limitation of appointments to Beharis, though he thinks the difficulty will gradually pass away as education advances. Sir Charles Elliott is desirous of having the work of the public offices improved very considerably: the increase of business demands better workmen or additional establishments. He will not add to the public expenditure when the better material is available, so that it remains for the Beharis to prove themselves fit for the preference which Government is prepared to show them for Behar appointments.

Local Self-Government

11. Mr. Stevens' general account of the District Boards shows that they continue to give little help to the executive, but are otherwise useful. He says:—

"The testimony of the District Officers regarding the working of these bodies continues to be favourable. In some cases the number of meetings held and the attendance of members have been scarcely sufficient: generally technical work and details have been left to the Chairman and the executive staff, while the Board have acted as a consultative and confirming body. In the districts in the interior of which Europeans reside much help is given by them in repairing local roads. Upon the whole the District Boards do quite as much work, and do it quite as well as I think could reasonably have been expected at the outset. I have always thought that the system would develop itself differently in different districts, and it is well that it should have sufficient elasticity to adapt itself to local conditions. The form which it has taken in this division, viz., that of a very strong executive combined with a consultative and sanctioning body, is that which seems most suitable, though the District Officer obtains in this way much less relief than in forward tracts in which there is a larger influential and educated population ready to undertake executive duties."

The contrast between a Local Board and a Municipality is crystallised in an epigram by the Sub-divisional Officer of Sewan. "The Local Board," he writes, "delights in what may be called the demi-official mode of doing business, while the Municipality is nothing if not official." The Patna Municipality have under consideration a scheme for a regular system of drainage. This is a movement entirely in the right direction. But the Commissioners are said by the Magistrate to "divest themselves of most of their powers and duties, and delegate them to the Wards' Committees," who in their turn are afraid to enforce sanitary orders, under-assess the taxes, and then make large remissions. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Commissioner that these Ward Committees ought to be an excellent machinery for carrying out local work, but with regard to the other complaints he trusts that a new order of things will soon be introduced. With regard to some of the minor municipalities, it is said that they spend too much on management and collecting establishment. The Commissioner should use his statutory powers to check such extravagance.

Conduct of zemindars.

12. The reports of the conduct of the zemindars are generally favourable, though they systematically neglect to grant receipts for rent. The Commissioner specially alludes to the astonishment with which, on returning to the locality after many years, he sees "the immense improvements which have been made through the good sense of the Maharaja of Doomraon and the ability and enlightenment of his Dewan, Babu Jai Prokash Lal." The Collector of Mozufferpore says that "among the most public spirited and liberal zemindars who hold lands in this district may be mentioned the Maharajas of Durbhunga, Bettiah and Hatwa, the Raja of Sheohar and the Nanpur Zemindar, Chaudhri Mahadeo Prasad." The Collector of Chumparun writes that "the Maharaja of Bettiah is a good landlord, and Mr. Gibbon, C.I.E., an admirable Manager." The Collector of Sarun says that "the Maharaja of Hatwa maintains his reputation as a careful and fair landlord." On the state of the important indigo industry Mr. Stevens remarks:—

"There have been no great questions connected with indigo-planting, but there have been a good many cases in which the planters or their assistants have been opposed riotously in cultivating newly-acquired lands; in one case a planter was dragged out of a police outpost by an angry mob. Still on the whole indigo-planting is said to be done more quietly and peaceably than elsewhere."

Miscellaneous.

13. Allusion is made by the Commissioner to a number of special subjects, such as the office accommodation at Patna, the want of houses at Durbhunga, and the inadequacy of the staff for the work of the districts, which should form the subject of separate references. In last year's Resolution a hope was held out that at the settlement of the next provincial contract it might be found possible to remedy to some extent the alleged dearth of officers. This matter continues to have the attention of Government.

14. The Lieutenant-Governor's acknowledgments are due to Mr. Stevens and Mr. Kemble for their administration of the division during 1890-91. The favourable notice recorded by the former of the services rendered by Mr. Forbes, Mr. Bourdillon, Mr. Marindin, Mr. Faulder, and Mr. Bernard is appreciated by Government. The Commissioner's observations on the merits of officers will be duly considered in the Appointment Department.

LIBERALITY OF RAJA RAJENDRO NARAIN ROY OF JAYDEBPUR.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Dated Darjeeling, the 25th September 1891.

RESOLUTION No. 253T—G.

READ—

Endorsement No. 5348, dated the 6th September 1891, and its enclosures, from the Director of Public Instruction, regarding the offer of Raja Rajendro Narain Roy of Jaydebpur to found a scholarship.

RAJA RAJENDRO NARAIN ROY of Jaydebpur, in the Dacca district, has offered to found a scholarship of Rs. 10 per month in memory of the late Pundit Issur Chunder Vidyasagar, on the following conditions :—

(1) That the scholarship be called the "Issur Chunder Vidyasagar Scholarship."

(2) That the scholarship be awarded to any boy who passes the Entrance examination from the Dacca Collegiate School, stands high in Sanskrit, and is considered otherwise a deserving youth by the Principal of the College.

(3) That the scholarship be tenable by the same boy in his career up to the Master of Arts class of the College, unless he forfeits it by failure in the University examination, or becomes entitled to any other scholarship under the rules of the institution.

Raja Rajendro Narain Roy has undertaken to pay the amount of Rs. 10 monthly through the Principal of the College for the first five years. After the expiration of that period he proposes to make over to Government a sum of Rs. 3,000 to be invested in Government securities, in order that the cost of the scholarship may be met from the interest on that sum.

The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to accept the offer, and tenders his thanks to Raja Rajendro Narain Roy for his liberality. The Principal of the Dacca College should be the disburser of the money, as it is remitted to him by the Raja.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction for information and for communicatian to Raja Rajendro Narain Roy.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

EMPLOYMENT FOR STUDENTS OF THE SIBPUR ENGINEERING COLLEGE.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Darjeeling, the 25th September, 1891.

RESOLUTION No. 261T—G.

READ again—

The Resolution No. 294, dated the 21st April, 1891, recorded by this Government on the subject of the reorganization of the Sibpur Engineering College.

In paragraph 13 of the Resolution quoted in the preamble, it was stated—

"The Lieutenant-Governor is also prepared to guarantee that four appointments in the upper subordinate grade of the Public Works Department shall annually be given to qualified students of the College who have graduated in Engineering at the Calcutta University, and successfully passed the subsequent period of practical training."

The intention of that paragraph was that the ordinary number of vacancies occurring annually in appointments of the above class should be filled from candidates educated at the Sibpur Engineering College, and it was calculated that on an average four vacancies occur every year: but it was not intended that Government should bind itself to a promise that so many as four vacancies will invariably take place every year for all future time. The Lieutenant-Governor accordingly directs that, for the above passage of the Resolution quoted, the following shall be substituted :—

"The Lieutenant-Governor is also prepared to direct that all appointments in the upper subordinate grade of the Public Works Department, made by the Government of Bengal, shall be made from students of the Sibpur Engineering College who have graduated in Engineering at the Calcutta University, and successfully passed the subsequent period of practical training."

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The Report of the Board of Revenue on the Road and Public Works Cess Operations for the year 1890-91.

The Road and Public Works Cesses were levied at full rates during the year in all the districts of Bengal where Act IX (B.C.) of 1880 is in force, except in Backergunge, where for special reasons, which now seem to have spent their force, the Road Cess has all along been levied at half of the maximum rate, the full amount being collected in the case of the Public Works Cess. The following statement shows the main results of the working of the Cess Act for the last two years:—

(a) Excluding advance collections made in the current year on account of future years.

2. The arrear demand given above exceeds by Rs. 1,76,328 the figure shown as the net balance of the preceding year, the difference being due, as is explained by the Board, to revaluations of rent-free holdings with retrospective effect, revisions of assessment and adjustment of accounts. The percentage of arrear collections on arrear demand was 68·8 compared with 70·8 in the previous year, that of current collections on current demand being 81·8 against 82·2. In explanation of the increase of nearly three lakhs from Rs. 16,58,728 to Rs. 19,33,855 in the balances of the past year, the Board observe that the 28th and 29th of March were holidays, that the fifteen days' grace allowed to assessees under section 45 of the Act leads to payments being deferred until after the close of the year, and that difficulty is experienced in realising arrears under section 70 from rent-free holdings which had previously escaped valuation. But the two latter causes must have been in operation all along, and no reasons are given for thinking that they acted more powerfully in 1890-91 than in 1889-90; while it is doubtful whether the occurrence of two holidays at the end of March can have had any material effect on the collections. The great majority of assessees pay their cesses through revenue agents and mukhtars who are always on the spot, and who would have no difficulty in paying on the 30th March if the treasury happened to be closed on the 28th and 29th. It is possible, as the Board suggest, that the realisation of cesses is not in all districts pushed on with sufficient energy, and that delay occurs in issuing certificates; but the Lieutenant-Governor is inclined to think that the difficulties referred to are due in great measure to the extreme complexity of the existing arrangements for collecting not only cesses, but land revenue, and that a more thorough reform may be effected by altering the kist days, classifying estates on a more intelligible system, simplifying the land revenue roll, and possibly to some extent amalgamating with it some of the registers kept up under the Cess Act. The final settlement of these questions will, however, involve the consideration of a large mass of detail, and allowance must be made for variety of practice in different districts, and for differences in their revenue history.

3. In the twenty-one districts included in the following list the arrear collections fell short of 90 per cent.—

	Percentage of current collections on current demand.	Percentage of arrear collections on arrear demand.
Burdwan	83·6	17·8
Shahabad	88·8	37·2
Moorshedabad	89·1	45·4
Bankoora	79·5	55·4
Pooree	96·1	58·6
Furreedpore	57·5	62·1
Gya	64·2	65·4
Chumparun	73·4	73

Bhagulpore	90·1	80·2
Patna	74·4	80·9
Sarun	65·2	81
Hooghly	70·7	81·2
Monghyr	74·2	85·8
Noakhally	90·2	80·3
24-Pergunnahs	86·2	87·6
Balasore	91·3	87·8

It is stated in the Board's report that owing to the large number of rent-free holdings the arrear collections in Burdwan have been bad for some years past, and that frequent changes of the District Officer have prevented any continuous effort being made to realise these balances. In 1889-90 a sum of Rs. 65,896 was remitted in this district as irrecoverable, and it is now stated that Rs. 84,792 due from petty rent-free holdings has become barred by limitation, because coercive measures were not taken in time. The excuse put forward in explanation of these shortcomings is clearly inadequate. The process of getting in arrears of cesses is a purely mechanical one, and if any one of the District Officers referred to had organised the routine arrangements on a reasonable system it might have been trusted to work of itself under the supervision of a Deputy Collector.

4. The arrears in Shahabad are explained to have been due to the evasion of petty shareholders and to difficulties arising in connexion with the revaluation. As, however, the demand of the district has been raised from Rs. 2,89,644 to Rs. 3,67,393, the Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Board in thinking that the total collections are not unsatisfactory. In Moorshedabad floods are said to have stopped collections. Bankoora pleads the difficulty of realising cesses from ghatwals and rent-free tenures.

5. In the following districts the arrear collections exceeded 90 per cent., but the current collections fell below that standard :—

	Percentage of current collections on current demand.	Percentage of arrear collections on arrear demand.
Manbhoom	77·7	99
Hazaribagh	78·7	99·9
Rajshahye	79·4	95·7
Midnapore	82·3	94 8
Backergunge	82·4	96·4
Dacca	84·8	91·7
Purneah	85·1	97·3
Tipperah	86·8	93·1
Dinagepore	87·2	99·9
Pubna	87·5	94
Nuddea	88·1	98·4
Mymensingh	88·7	94·8
Maldah	89·3	99·9

In Manbhoom and Hazaribagh, where the number of estates is small, the default of two large proprietors accounts for the short collections, and in the former district nearly the whole arrear was realized shortly after the close of the year.

Burdwan again heads the list of districts in which arrears have become barred by limitation, and contributes Rs. 1,06,518 to the total of Rs. 1,08,535 shown under this head. It should be observed, however, that Rs. 21,726, included in the sum set down against Burdwan, represents an over-assessment reduced on objection, and cannot properly be included in the statement. The other districts show only small amounts under this head.

6. The number of districts in which both current and arrear collections exceeded 90 per cent. declined from twelve in 1889-90 to eight in the past year:—

	Percentage of arrear collections on arrear demand.	Percentage of current collections on current demand.
Singbhoom	100	100
Bogra	100	94·8
Lohardugga	100	92·6
Julpigoree	99·7	90·9
Beerbhoom	96·8	90·1
Rungpore	96·5	90·9
Chittagong	92·6	91·8

7. Darjeeling as usual had no arrears to collect, and realised 99·8 per cent. of its current demand. The results in these eight districts are satisfactory, and show that the business of collection was carefully watched by the district officers. It must be observed, however, that, with the exception of Darjeeling and Singbhoom, none of the districts which have collected over 90 per cent. of their cesses have any special advantage in this respect over other districts in Bengal. If heavy districts like Chittagong and Rungpore, both of which have a large number of estates on their registers, can collect so large a proportion of their cess demand, it is difficult to see why a similar standard should not be worked up to throughout the Province.

8. The following statement illustrates the working of the certificate procedure during the last two years:—

	1890-91.	1889-90.
Certificates pending from previous year (a) ...	33,087	35,260
Filed during the year	59,942	71,076
Total for disposal	93,029	1,06,336
Cancelled on objection	573	932
Struck off	1,550	1,740
Fully discharged	59,746	70,443
Pending at close of year	31,160	33,221
Sales effected	629	583
Sales set aside	98	54

(a) Revised figures.

As usual, the number of certificate cases instituted was smallest (577) in Chota Nagpore, where cess business is comparatively simple, and largest in the Burdwan, Patna and Presidency Divisions, which show 15,968, 12,376 and 10,948 cases respectively. Among districts Hooghly shows the largest number 89,388, Durbhunga and Jessore follow with 4,913 and 4,887, Midnapore shows 3,624, Chittagong 3,261, and Patna 3,113.

9. The information given by the Board on the important subject of valuation and revaluation of estates and tenures for cess purposes is not so full as might be desired. Only eleven districts are noticed, and among the number no mention is made of two—Purneah and Pubna—where the Lieutenant-Governor inspected during his recent tour the valuations which were actually going on. At Purneah he carefully examined the procedure and recorded a note recommending several alterations both in the procedure and the form of the register; these suggestions are still under the consideration of the Board. It appears to be the practice to notice in the report only those cases in which operations have been brought to a conclusion and a completion report submitted to the Board; but the valuations in progress are those which more especially need to be brought to the notice of Government. Cess valuation is tedious work, involving the issue of many notices and the supervision of countless details, and from its nature it is peculiarly liable to drag on indefinitely, particularly when, as is often the case, it is in charge of a special Deputy Collector who holds that position only so long as the work lasts. To future reports a statement should be added, showing separately the revaluations undertaken for entire districts and carried on by a special officer, and the revaluations of certain estates only conducted by the ordinary district staff. In this statement should be entered the increase estimated to be attained when the revaluation was sanctioned, the progress made during the year, the amount of work remaining to be done at the close of the year, and the date when it is expected to be completed.

10. In statement VI annexed to the report, the Board furnish some interesting statistics comparing the gross rental for 1890-91 as deduced from the returns under the Cess Act with the gross rental ascertained on the same basis when the Road Cess was first introduced. According to these figures the rental of Bengal has risen within the last fifteen years from Rs. 13,11,68,432 to Rs. 14,60,45,236, being a net increase of Rs. 1,48,76,804 or 11·3 per cent—an increase which corresponds pretty closely with the growth of the population during these fifteen years. This steady and persistent growth of the valuation of land, even at a period when so much has been done to check enhancements of rent, throws some light on the soundness of speculations which have been made as to the causes of the increase of the gross rental of Bengal since the time when the Permanent Settlement fixed the Land Revenue at Rs. 2,85,87,722, calculating it at eight-tenths of the gross rental. Of the recent increase the Board say in paragraph 43 of the report that it is attributable "to increase of rents, to greater care in ascertaining rentals on revaluation by insisting more generally on the submission of returns by proprietors and tenure-holders of every degree instead of valuing summarily, and to the valuation of a vast number of rent-free tenures which had previously been overlooked through want of information. It is impossible to say how far each of these general causes has operated, but it is probable that the last two have together contributed more to raise the total valuation than enhancements of rents." It may be added that, owing to the dearth of real statistical information concerning the rental existing at the time of the Permanent Settlement, it seems doubtful whether any comparison can profitably be made between the position and resources of the agricultural classes in those times and at the present day. Only eight districts in the whole of Bengal show a decrease of gross rental. In most cases the decrease is known to be due to transfers of areas from these districts to others, but in future years a brief explanation should be entered in the margin of the statement against those districts which show a decrease. Of the many cases of increased valuation which the statement contains, some are due to transfers, but most to the general causes mentioned above.

11. The names of the Deputy Collectors whose work is commended by the Board will be noted in the Appointment Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. H. RISLEY,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

c, overcast; g, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; t, thunder; ≏, dew.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number are the numerical means or averages of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least a tenth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Saturday, the 26th of September 1891.

Explanation.—..... indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 29th September 1891.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, THE 26TH OF SEPTEMBER 1891.

At the close of the previous week pressure was falling rapidly at Moulmein and Rangoon, and winds at the Burma stations appeared to form part of a cyclonic circulation, the centre of which was to the east or south-east of Moulmein It therefore appeared that a barometric depression was advancing in a westerly direction from Tenasserim or perhaps from Siam towards India. On the morning of the 20th, or the first day of the present week, the depression had advanced into the Gulf of Martaban, and its centre was to the south of Rangoon. It then advanced in a west-north-westerly direction or almost westerly direction, and at 8 P.M. on that day it was almost between Bassein and Diamond Island; but it was a feeble depression and gave only squally weather with very moderate winds. By 8 A.M of the 21st instant the centre of the depression had passed out into the Bay of Bengal, though apparently it was not very far from land, but in its rear pressure was rising very rapidly at the Burma stations. The small storm during the 21st advanced across the Bay in a north-westerly direction, its rate of movement being at least 15 miles an hour, and on the morning of the 22nd pressure was falling very rapidly at False Point and less rapidly generally in the north-west angle of the Bay, showing that the depression was advancing towards Orissa, and the centre of the small storm was to the south-east of False Point, though still at a considerable distance from the land The small storm still advanced quickly on the 22nd, and at about 5 P.M crossed the coast close to False Point, where at 4 P M the low pressure of 29 456″ was recorded. Notwithstanding the very rapid fall of pressure towards the centre, and the steep baric gradients which accompanied the storm, and that there was a very complete cyclonic circulation of winds, the wind velocities registered were never more than moderate in amount, though hard squalls were reported at False Point and general squally weather was reported from the coast stations. In the rear of the storm, however, rather strong winds were blowing, and for some days after its passage inland strong winds prevailed in the north and north-west of the Bay. On the morning of the 23rd the centre of the depression was well inland and was approaching in the direction of Raipore in the Central Provinces, and on the 24th the centre was between Sohni and Raipore. After passing inland close to False Point, therefore, the direction of the advance of the storm was no longer north-westerly as it had been across the Bay, but became almost due west, or perhaps it had reverted to the direction it had had when travelling through the Gulf of Martaban from Siam. On the 25th the storm centre was over Nagpur, on the 26th it was between Nagpur and Amraoti, and on the 27th the depression had become slighter and the centre had moved in a more northerly direction and was close to Seoni, while on the 28th it had again decreased in intensity and had advanced in a north-easterly direction and was near Jubbulpore During the whole of the existence of the storm, winds circulated cyclonically round it, and the wind circulation had a very wide influence and was rather strong even at some distance from the centre. For the whole week, therefore, in Bengal, winds have been strongly easterly. At first they were almost winds of indraught towards the storm, but as it advanced further inland a moderate monsoon current began to spread over Bengal, and rainfall became general, though light, in all districts; and thus rain commenced to fall from the 21st and 22nd in the southern districts and from about the 23rd or 24th in the northern districts, and in most cases rain has fallen on from two to four days in the week.

As there was such a strongly pronounced easterly element in the wind direction towards the storm which advanced through the Central Provinces, the main force of the monsoon current has again been confined to the south-western districts of the province, and thus Orissa has again received a rainfall very considerably in excess of the normal, South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur falls slightly in excess, while in all other districts the falls have been in defect; the deficiency being very large in North Bengal and North Behar.

Pressure.—The variations of pressure during the week have been mainly influenced by the progress of the small storm previously described. On the 20th the pressure changes were unimportant, and pressure was falling at the eastern and northern stations, while it was rising elsewhere. On the 21st a general fall had set in, the fall being largest in the north-west angle of the Bay, while on the 22nd the fall became very rapid and at False Point it equalled 0·123″, and pressure continued to fall till the storm centre passed inland on the evening of this day. On the 23rd pressure was still falling at some of the western stations, but in the rear of the storm the rise of pressure was very rapid, and this increase continued for the following two days, but by small amounts, except at the northern stations where on the 26th pressure had begun to fall. The variations of pressure during the week have therefore been large, but the mean pressure has generally been above the normal only by moderate amounts, the usual excess equalling from about 0 03″ to 0 05″. This excess, as may be expected, has been generally largest at the northern stations and smallest in Orissa, through which the storm passed, where it has been only 0·018″. In Assam, also, the excess has been small and has only equalled 0·018″.

Temperature.—The mean temperature for the week has been below the normal in Orissa, South-West Bengal, and Chutia Nagpur, the divisions where the rainfall has been in excess; but in all other divisions the mean temperature has been from about 1° to 2° in excess. The largest defect has been 1·7° in Orissa, and the largest excess 2° in North Behar. For the whole province the mean temperature has been only 0·3° above the normal. In Assam temperature has also been in excess, the amount being no less than 2·5°.

Rainfall.—In Orissa the very heavy average fall of 5·70 inches has been reported during the week, or nearly 4 inches in excess of the normal; Chutia Nagpur has received 2·10 inches, or nearly half an inch in excess; and South-West Bengal almost two inches, or a fall very slightly in excess of the normal. In East Bengal an average fall of nearly two and-a-half inches is recorded, which is slightly below the normal amount. In the other districts the falls have been very much smaller than these. South Behar has received only 0·70 inch, or considerably less than half the normal fall. In North Behar the same amount of 0·70 inch has been received; but this only represents about a fourth of the usual fall. Finally, North Bengal has received the smallest falls of any division, and only averages 0·44 inch, which is only equal to one-seventh of the normal fall for the period.

From the 1st of September up to the 26th the falls in North Behar have only averaged 3·14 inches, or about a third of the normal fall; in North Bengal the falls have equalled 3·84 inches, or decidedly less than a third of the usual amount; and in South Behar the falls have averaged 4·34 inches, or rather more than half the normal fall. In East Bengal for this period the falls have equalled about half the normal, in South-West Bengal nearly two thirds the normal, and in Chutia Nagpur the fall has been just equal to the normal. In Orissa, on the other hand, no less than sixteen inches of rain have fallen, or nearly seven inches of rain in excess of the normal.

During the past week the following districts have again been extremely deficient in rain:—Bogra, Rajshahye, Dinagepore, Rungpore, Julpigoree, Mozufferpore, Chumparun, and Bhagulpore.

In Assam during the week, Sibsagar has received 1·75 inches, Silchar 0·76 inch, and Dhubri only 0·03 inch of rain.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 26th of September 1891:—
